ASSEMBLY VOTES TO REPLACE KING ON GREEK THRONE

General Kondylis Named Regent Until Former Monarch Returns to Athens; Constitution of 1911 Is Re-established.

GEORGE AWAITS OFFICIAL NEWS

11-Year-Old Republic Is Scrapped as President
Alexander Zaimis Quits.
Royalists Get New Posts

ATHENS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Greece kicked her 11-year-old republic into the scrap heap tonight in a swift royalist coup d'etat, capped by a rousing vote of the national assembly restoring the monarchy.

Amid scenes of wild rejoicing in the national assembly building—once the royal palace—the nation's lawmakers decreed the return of dapper, monocled King George II from his exile in England.

Then, despite their approval of restoration, the assemblymen decided to go on with the nation-wide plebiscite on the question November 3 in order to give the people a chance to express their opinion.

General George Kondylis, who seized the reins of government in a swift and bloodless stroke today, was named regent until George comes back, and will perform the duties of the throne pending his return.

In approving the new government's decree abolishing the republican constitution, the assembly formally re-established the constitution of 1911.
(In London the king dined calmly at his hotel with his aide de camp, Major Leides, and awaited official news of the restoration. Leides said: "We have made no plans for the immediate future; his majesty has not yet been invited to return to Greece.")

(George always has contended his people would call him back, "sooner or later.")

Crowds in the packed assembly gallery joined in wild applause for the vote of restoration. The archbishop of Athens, who previously had blessed the proceedings, led the rejoicing.

Kondylis, the former minister of war, ended the controversy over restoration of the monarchy with dramatic suddenness today.

He forced the resignation of the government of Premier Tsaldaris, proclaimed martial law and three troops about public buildings. But not a shot was fired.

President Alexander Zaimis prepared his resignation and the 5-foot-6 Kondylis, "little corporal" to his admirers, named himself president of the council and minister of economics. To other cabinet posts, he appointed his royalist associates.

GREEK PRETENDER DEMANDS PLEBISCITE

MADRID, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Prince Eugene Lascaris, a pretender to the Greek throne along with former King George, declared tonight his followers would "convert Greece into a river of blood" unless he is placed on the throne.

Informed by telephone of the royal-ist coup in Athens, Lascaris from Saragosa termed George a "usurper."
The prince said his followers re-demanded a plebiscite to determine who would succeed to the throne and that a group of them were coming from Athens Friday to arrange details for a campaign to make him king.

He declined to reveal names of the commission, asserting "to do so would sign their death warrants."
Spain has been the home of Prince Lascaris since his father, the late King Alfonso XIII, died.

CARBON MONOXIDE KILLS YOUNG GIRL

Essie Mae Turner, 19, Is Found Dead in Decatur Home; Child's Life Saved

Nineteen-year-old Essie Mae Turner, who was found dead yesterday afternoon on the kitchen floor of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hendry, 127 First avenue, Decatur, beside the unconscious Jane Hendry, two-year-old daughter of the Hendrys, came to her death by carbon monoxide poisoning caused by an unvented water heater, a coroner's jury found yesterday afternoon at Decatur.

Prompt action on the part of two Decatur women, Mrs. O. L. Lindsey and Mrs. C. L. McCormick, neighbors who broke into the house when they saw the girl and infant lying on the floor of the kitchen, saved the life of the child. She was revived at Grady hospital, where she was taken in an
A. S. Turner ambulance.

Mrs. Lindsey and Mrs. McCormick went to the rear of the residence and looked in the kitchen window when there was no response to their knock at the front door. They broke the latch on the front door and entered the house, finding the girl and infant on the floor of the kitchen, and the open air and then summoned aid.

Miss Turner was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital. Officials of the Decatur fire department said that the water heater was not properly installed and had no vent. There had been no ventilation in the kitchen.
Robert Simpson, 229 Baker street, was overcome in the bathroom of his home yesterday morning when the light went out on the water heater. He was treated at Grady hospital and discharged.

The body of Miss Turner was removed to the mortuary of A. S. Turner and he will announce funeral arrangements.

Bootleg 'Big Shots' Plead Guilty, Get Off With 2-Year Prison Terms

Members of Otis Wood Gang Could Have Been Given 12 Years Each by Judge Underwood; One Has Plead Guilty Five Times Previously.

Five "big shots" of Atlanta bootleg-ing circles, members of the Otis
Wood gang, lined up before Judge E.
Marvin Underwood in federal district court yesterday and heard their pleas of guilty to 16 violations of the federal liquor laws bring them each a two-year sentence to the federal penitentiary.

An hour later two released on bond and three shackled together, on their way to the pen, left the old postoffice building laughing and skylarking with the abandon of schoolboys on their way to a football game. Under the law, each could have been given 12 years; according to their sentences, each with good behavior will be free in 20 months and each, with influence, will be eligible for parole in eight months.

"Whenever they get out they'll be right back in business right here in Atlanta," said Robert E. Tuttle, district supervisor of the federal alcohol tax unit. "That's just one gang. Atlanta has five. All we can do is to bring them into court, one after the other, in an endless procession. By the time we have rounded up the fifth the first and the second are out of jail, back in business at their old stand, each of them hauling an average of 2,000 gallons of bootleg liquor into Atlanta every week. It takes practically every revenue agent on our pay roll in Atlanta six months to build up what we consider an airtight case against each of the five gangs. So, we get around to each one about every two years."

Liquor Trial Deluge.
Sentences for the five were a brief interruption yesterday to the continuous procession of liquor trials that have monopolized the full time of Judge Underwood's court since the fall term opened Monday. In the four days, 85 cases have been called, each case averaging three defendants. Ninety cases are still on the docket for trial and United States Attorney I. K. Hay estimated yesterday that it would be next Wednesday before the calendar is cleared of liquor cases.
By that time, more than 500 persons will have faced trial for distilling, transporting or selling liquor.

Camp and his full staff are working

813 DRIVERS JOIN SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Emory University and Many P-T. Groups Enlist in War on Accidents.

Hundred and thirteen additional safe drivers are doing their part today to increase the safety of Atlanta's streets and Georgia's highways.
That many Safe Driving pledges were received yesterday, signed by the Safety Council of The Constitution.

Such a response in a single day to the appeal for proper driving indicates beyond question that the campaign is bringing splendid results.
There should be drastic shrinkage, before long, in the list of dead and injured in the traffic wars.

To date this year 37 people have been killed by automobiles in Atlanta and the worst time of the year is coming, with the cold and rain and difficult street conditions of fall and winter. Only by unremitting care on the part of every motorist, can the list of deaths be reduced.

Sign the Safety Pledge.
As indication of that determination to drive properly, The Safety Council of The Constitution asks every motorist to sign the Safe Driving pledge which is printed elsewhere in this edition, to send it in this paper with stamped, addressed envelope and to affix the little red stickers which will be mailed in return, to the windshield and rear window of the car.

"We join with you 100 per cent and tender you the full co-operation of our organization and its facilities," writes George T. Dickson, president of the Dixie Motor Club, of The Constitution safety campaign.

Signatures of 11 from the office of Dunlap & Co., prominent Atlanta insurance agency, with request for stickers for 15 cars, was received yesterday.

Emory Backs Campaign.
The Emory University student, who signed yesterday, in its issue for the week highly praises The Constitution's campaign and launches a campaign of its own against reckless driving on the Emory campus.

Declaring that driving conditions on the campus are "unfair," the student body has elected a committee to investigate the matter.

Cobb Considers Case of Mr. Ujich

By IRVIN S. COBB.
(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Oct. 10.—
With reverence let us approach the case of Mr. John Ujich. (Spelling not guaranteed and when pronouncing him let your conscience be your guide.)
This alien gentleman inserted himself into our midst with intent to follow in the illustrious footprints of other red-complexed agitators, both domestic and imported.
He had no visible means of self-support, except his under-lav, so promptly he got on federal relief, all the while complaining bitterly that the amount was insufficient to support him in the style to which he heretofore was accustomed.
Nevertheless, he did supply fuel for the luncheon with which violently he demanded the overthrow of this government.

Arrested for alleged anarchistic utterances, he fought against being deported to that happy dreamland of political perfections—Russia. For a whole year he appealed and he appealed. He hired lawyers. He pleaded tearfully to stay on. It seemed he could have us no much better at close range than long distance.

He no longer is with us. He is gone from these shores. He is not expected back. May he rest in Lenin-glad. If, during the long winter evenings, which shortly will be upon us, I must give up somebody, I feel that I could spare Mr. John Ujich about as easily as anybody I can think of, off-hand.

HARAR WALLS CUT IN FEAR OF DRIVE

Italian Plane Reported To Have Fallen in North;
Two Airmen Killed and Another Near Death.

By JAMES A. MILLS.
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press.)
ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 10.—Hordes of savage warriors marched out of the mountains and deserts of Ethiopia tonight to throw a vast wall of fighting men about this proud capital.

They marched by tens of thousands, under the command of Emperor Haile Selassie's most trusted generals, as their government announced a new rain of Italian bombs in the south had killed many of their co-trainees.

The Italian minister was given his walking papers.
(Exchange Telegraph reports said a fierce battle was in progress on the Ogaden front, in the vicinity of Go-rahe. Italians, said this source, were advancing with fixed bayonets under cover of an artillery barrage.)

Nine Italian planes, said a government communique, bombed Go-rahe, near Geroligi, on the southern front, and rained lethal projectiles on the Ethiopian posts of Taffarikatama and Jialmo, killing many. (The latter two towns are not shown on maps.)

(A delayed dispatch from Harar, timed at 9:15 p. m., Wednesday, said the governor of that key city in the southeast had ordered wide breaches cut in the walls to facilitate evacuation, in the belief that Italian drive from the north is imminent.)

(The dispatch said 10,000 Harari troops, mostly women, already had fled to the hills. The Ethiopians there believed a fierce Italian drive, employing tanks, airplanes and heavy bombs, would come from the north when sufficient enemy forces had been concentrated in the vicinity of Jijiga.)

Italian Plane Crashes.
The Ethiopian communique also said an Italian plane had crashed at Ghabala, in the north, with two fliers killed and two dying.

Italian infantrymen were reported advancing in the Webbe and Shibeli general, in Kaffa province. Twenty thousand more were on their way under the command of Dejazmach Apte Marian, another provincial chief who lived a month earlier in a proclamation his prowess as a soldier and elephant hunter.

Forty thousand soldiers under one of Haile Selassie's lieutenants, Makdis, governor of W. Wollo, province, likewise were moving on the capital.
Dejazmach Mecha, of Kambata province, already had arrived and was encamped with his 15,000 troops.

Other armies, from various sectors,
also were coming.

Will Honor Treaty.
Selassie, who pledged his entire fortune in foreign banks to the defense of his land, today informed the United States that Ethiopia will adhere to the Washington treaty of 1922 outlawing poison gas.
This treaty was signed by Great Britain, Italy, Japan and the United States.

At the same time the government denied reports the Negus' son-in-law, Dejazmach Haile Selassie, had been killed. It was said he is in station at Makale, 80 miles from Eritrea.

American missionaries, considering their call supreme, remained at their posts throughout Ethiopia. At Addis Ababa the American charge d'affaires, Cornelius Van H. Engert, ordered a bomb-proof shelter built beneath the legation.

Similar shelters were being built by the French legation, and the emperor himself ordered the utmost precautions taken against air raids.
Vinci-Giulucci, the Italian minister, was "war zone" on while the League talks.

Italian war correspondents, like officials here, emphasize the "civilized" stand of the army. They picture the Ethiopians as happy, rather than sad, to get under the Italian flag, which to them means an easy way to modern produce at war prices and eventual low taxes.

The War Situation at a Glance

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA—Great Britain began applying sanctions against Italy on radio front early today after action by the League assembly yesterday in ratifying war guilt verdict against Italy; Italian spokesman says naval blockade means war.

ADDIS ABABA—Ethiopian armies march to defense of capital;
Italian minister, given walking papers, announces fall of Aksum;
government says many killed in southern air bombings; Exchange Telegraph reports fierce battle near Go-rahe.

ROME—Italian spokesman says Geneva action "has changed nothing"—no let-up in Ethiopian conquest.

LONDON—Minister warns failure of sanctions would force Great Britain to revise its attitude on international obligations.

DIREDAWA, ETHIOPIA—Italian advance into southern Ethiopia seen as fight for water, rather than territory.

The lineup of nations of the world toward sanctions against Italy because of the war raging in East Africa follows:

Powers outside the League: UNITED STATES—Has declared arms and munitions embargo to belligerents; remains neutral.

JAPAN—Neutral but may co-operate in sanctions.

GERMANY—(Which officially does not leave the League until October 21)—Remains neutral but may increase markets abroad because of sanctions.

BAZIL—Attitude unrevealed.

Nations inside the League:
ETHIOPIA—Favors full application of sanctions, including military ones, against her enemy.

ITALY—Bitterly opposes sanctions. Premier Mussolini has announced economic and financial sanctions will be met passively but that military sanctions mean war. The nation stands to lose several billion lire yearly in exports if sanctions are applied.

AGAINST SANCTIONS—Italy, Austria, Hungary.

RESERVATIONS—Switzerland (against military sanctions.)

ABSENT AT VOTE—Paraguay, Salvador, Guatemala, Dominican Republic, Germany.

FOR SANCTIONS—Afghanistan, Albania, Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Bolivia, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Ecuador, Estonia, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Haiti, Honduras, India, Iraq, Irish Free State, Latvia, Liberia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Mexico, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Iran (Persia), Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Russia, Siam, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland (which made military reservations), Turkey, Uruguay, Venezuela, Yugoslavia.

MISSOLINI'S ARMY
PRESSES FORWARD

Rome Declares Casualties
On Its Side So Small
They Set New Mark.

By JOHN EVANS.
ROME, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini's army moved slowly but relentlessly ahead in northern Ethiopia today while the League of Nations decided upon sanctions.

The conquest of Ethiopia, officials here said, is the general Italian program. There was no slackening in the advance because of League deliberations, but merely a pause to consolidate territory already occupied and to prepare for future movements.

Casualties on the Italian side have been so small, said officials, that they set a mark in military history. Ethiopian losses, which were described as "very serious," have not yet been announced here.

(An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Italian general headquarters said 2,500 Ethiopians have been killed in the past eight days. Italian losses were set at two officers killed and 100 officers and men wounded. Six hundred Ethiopians have been taken prisoner. It was reported that in the first four days of fighting, a number of small towns have been captured in a slow but steady advance along a wide front. It was reported here.)

On the right the army was said by Asmara war correspondents to be aiming at the holy city of Aksum, a center of the Christian Coptic church.
(The Italian minister in Addis Ababa announced that Aksum has fallen.)

The army seeks to occupy Aksum, the correspondents said, and occupy it without an aerial bombardment or shellings, thus the process requires a slow and careful movement.

Shakeup Hinted.
Emperor Haile Selassie, the dispatches related, has ordered a shakeup among his chiefs because of "the collapse of their morale." Several sorties of Ethiopians across the border into the Italian zone of Eritrea have been repulsed, it was said.

Italian officials appeared hurt but not surprised by the overt advance stand of the League against the Ethiopian war. Italy's "acquired rights" have never been properly considered, they said.

Mussolini with, without or against the League, is still the Italian watchword. Officials do not use the word "war" for their "colonial operations," but the sense of their comment is "war goes on while the League talks."

NAVAL BLOCKADE MEANS WAR—DUCE

Italy Loses 70 Per Cent of Trade by Assembly Action; General Action Expected Next Week.

GENEVA, Oct. 11.—(Friday)—(AP) Great Britain, supported by the verdict of half a hundred nations in placing the war guilt in Italy-Ethiopian hostilities against Italy, began applying sanctions against Mussolini's government today, commencing on the radio front.

The British government acted swiftly after an historic assembly meeting, to cede off a broadcast to the United States by Baron Pompeo Aloisi, II
Duce's chief representative at Geneva.

The United Kingdom postoffice, at the last minute, refused to relay his words from Geneva via an English station to the United States.

50 Vote Sanctions.
Preparations for the enforcement of sanctions were launched immediately after the League meeting when 50 nations, with a deliberate silence, indicated the war guilt must be placed squarely on Italy's shoulders.

An American radio hookup had been arranged for Aloisi's broadcast, and he was ready to present Italy's case to the American public in the form of a chatty dialogue.

They had finished their rehearsal and were on the verge of beginning the broadcast, when a telephone message came from England with the information that the United Kingdom postoffice had refused to handle any broadcast by Aloisi or any other Italian spokesman. The broadcast was abandoned.

Shortly after the historic meeting an Italian spokesman told the Associated Press the nations try a naval blockade to back up sanctions
"it means war."

Italy, he disclosed, plans upon getting necessary from Germany through Austria and does not fear economic sanctions. Oil, he added, can be secured "from some other nation" which could send it to Italy through the red sea.

Fifty of the 50 members of the assembly went definitely on record in favor of economic and financial sanctions against Italy. A general staff was formed for the enforcement of the pressure against Premier Mussolini's nation and will hold its first meeting tomorrow.

League economists estimate the five nations who Thursday arrayed themselves against Italy on the trade front in the past have supplied the Italians with nearly 70 per cent of their imports.

Austria, Hungary, Silent.
Five nations were absent, Germany (which officially leaves the League October 21), Paraguay, Salvador, Guatemala and the Dominican Republic. Austria and Hungary, friends of Italy, which has protected them, opposed sanctions, and a vote of Italy and Ethiopia was not recorded. Although on record in support of economic sanctions, Switzerland made reservations concerning military ones.

At furious protest against the latest sanctions move was made by Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation, still awaiting orders, would probably leave for home tomorrow.

This informant said Italians are enraged and depressed over the assembly's stand against their nation.

"Why will the world not recognize Italy is still fighting under death and needs aid?" he asked.

NAVAL ACADEMY MARKS 90TH YEAR

Sham Battle, Football, Dance and Banquet Draw Alumni.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 10.—(P)—Dancers in period costume circled about the floor of the huge armory at the Naval Academy tonight, closing a day of festivity which marked the ninetyeth anniversary of the academy and brought together alumni from all parts of the country.

A group of about 500 were present when the observance began at exercises in front of Mahan hall increased to 6,000 for a sham battle between groups of midshipmen and reached 15,200 as the Navy football team won a 26-to-7 victory over the University of Virginia.

Captain William H. Stayton, United States navy, president of the alumni association, was toastmaster at the alumni banquet tonight. Rear Admiral David Foote Sellers, superintendent of the academy, and Mrs. Sellers, received at the costume ball.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Henry Roosevelt paid tribute to George Bancroft, who as secretary of the navy founded the academy at Fort Severn. Dr. Wilder Dwight Bancroft, son of George Bancroft, responded on behalf of all the descendants present.

War Games Ended.
NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 10.—(P)—The "war games" were brought to a close at Langley field this afternoon, and the scheduled aerial review for tomorrow was called off on account of unfavorable weather reports.

15-YEAR-OLD BOY SLAIN BY LOUISIANA BANDITS
THIBODAUX, La., Oct. 10.—(P)—A 15-year-old boy was slugged to death here today by an unidentified man who robbed the gasoline filling station of Joseph Greco and escaped. The boy, whose name was Totup, was struck on the head with a heavy wrench, dragged into a wash room and the door was locked. The cash drawer then was robbed of $8.

U. S. SPENDING SOARS, BUT RFC MAKES PROFIT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(P)—With federal expenditures soaring into the billions, one governmental activity was shown today to be yielding a modest, but steady, profit.

The Reconstruction Corporation received bids today on $3,000,000 block of county and municipal bonds which the government bought originally to provide such political subdivisions with funds for their local public works projects.

As with similar blocks in the past, officials expected to sell the securities at a price somewhat higher than that paid for them.

The RFC previously has bought 642 issues from PWA at a total purchase price of $218,153,888. It had sold 245 issues for $113,204,488, at a profit of $2,790,471.

BRUNO'S LAWYERS LAY COURT BATTLE PLANS

Hauptmann's Life Story Is Released on His 10th Wedding Anniversary.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann and his wife, Anna, marked the tenth anniversary of their wedding today in the death house while his lawyers mapped the preliminary strategy for the supreme court fight they will wage in an attempt to save him from the electric chair.

Unless he wins this fight or the court of pardons commences his sentence to life imprisonment, the latter a question of grave doubt, he probably will go to his death, one of his lawyers, Egbert Rosecrans, said. No application for clemency will be made, Rosecrans said, until all legal moves are exhausted.

Coincidental with the visit of Mrs. Hauptmann, the warden of the prison, Colonel Mark O. Kimberling, released Hauptmann's autobiography to his attorneys, Rosecrans and C. Lloyd Fisher. They had striven for months to get the manuscript released in order to sell it to help finance Hauptmann's appeal.

The story of the German ex-machine gunner's life, written in long hand in German, was completed May 4, and Hauptmann requested at that time he be allowed to give it to his wife and lawyers.

"The autobiography," Colonel Kimberling said today in a statement, "was translated into English, carefully read by the principal keeper, who discussed the possibilities of release with Governor Hoffman, Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies, Ellis and the prison board of governors."

"It was felt no permission should be granted for the release... while Hauptmann's case was on appeal to the court of errors and appeals. There appears to be little or no basis for objections to its release following the decision of the court."

Rosecrans, Fisher and Frederick A. Pope, third of Hauptmann's lawyers, will meet tomorrow, perhaps at Blairtown, to discuss the new appeal.

The state will probably file tomorrow with the clerk of the court of errors an order directing that the case be remitted to the court of oyer and terminer in Hunterdon county. Ten days must elapse before the record can be sent to Flemington, and during that period, Rosecrans said, he will apply to the chancellor for an order staying all proceedings pending disposition of the appeal to the supreme court.

PRISON BOARD TO PASS ON RILEY FATE SOON

The state prison commission yesterday took under advisement an application for executive clemency in behalf of Robert Riley, condemned Atlanta holdup slayer. The commission is expected to send its recommendation to Governor Talmadge today or tomorrow.

Clemency plea of George P. McKee, sentenced to die in the electric chair October 18 for the slaying of Virgil Turner in Canton September 18, 1934, were taken under advisement yesterday by the commission after hearing Solicitor-General C. H. Vandivier, of the Blue Ridge circuit, and Attorney Frank A. Bowers, who defended McKee. Nine of 12 jurors recommended clemency.

Riley, with Hoyt Summers, also of Atlanta, shot and killed Max Sjöblom, Rockford, Ill., traveling salesman, here last September when he resisted their attempts to rob him. Summers already is serving life imprisonment for his part in the crime.

Arthur Powell, Atlanta lawyer, appeared before the commission in Riley's behalf. He told the board Mr. Sjöblom had agreed to a life sentence for Riley, asserting he was no more guilty of the crime than Summers, whose life term was fixed by the jury which tried his case.

A letter from Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, vigorously opposing clemency for Riley, was read into the prison commission record of the case.

SHIP CANAL WORK PROGRESSES FAST

Plans Are Made for Branch Waterway to Central Florida Point.

OCALA, Fla., Oct. 10.—(AP)—As work of removing surface soil from the first stretch of the Florida ship canal near here proceeded today, an organization was formed at Mount Dora for the purpose of obtaining a branch waterway to connect with the main canal at Ocala and extend to some central Florida point.

S. S. Sadler, of Mount Dora, announced formation of the organization, which is called the Central Florida Waterways Association. He was elected president of the association, whose members are central Florida residents.

Meanwhile dirt was being excavated from the first part of the huge waterway by 58 mule teams and wheel scrapers and nine snail teams being handled by negro laborers under the supervision of United States engineers.

Work also was started on the water system at Camp Roosevelt, administrative headquarters for the canal project. Foundations for a pumping station and a 50,000-gallon water tank, as well as water mains are being laid.

Alabama W.C.T.U. Hits 'Cocktail Apron' Sales

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 10.—(AP)—A "cocktail apron" purchased in a Birmingham store was declared in violation of the state laws by the Alabama Women's Christian Temperance Union today in resolutions protesting against its sale.

Mrs. Mabel C. Divilbiss, of Birmingham, exhibited the apron, a gaily-colored garment, on which 50 cocktail recipes were printed.

In a resolution offered by Mrs. W. W. Scott, sale of the apron was protested as a violation of the state law against liquor advertisements.

120 AMERICANS EMBARK

GENOA, Oct. 10.—(UP)—The giant steamer Rex sailed today with 1,500 passengers, including 120 Americans.

Most of the Americans laughed when asked if they were afraid to travel on Italian ships in view of President Roosevelt's proclamation warning them that such would be at their own risk.

Rosa Ponselle, opera star, was among them.

TO BE SECOND LARGEST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The Department of Agriculture said today the second largest pecan crop on record was in sight for this year.

A production of about 88,450,000 pounds of pecans was indicated October 1. The largest total on the records is 94,011,000 produced in 1926.

JOHN D. TO ARRIVE IN FLORIDA TODAY

Many Improvements Made in the Casements at Ormond Beach.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Oct. 10.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller Sr. returns tomorrow to a snug winter retreat fitted in every detail for his comfort.

As the years have passed, the unpretentious estate, the Casements, has been altered occasionally to permit its owner to sink deeper into the seclusion he chooses. High walls guard his faltering strolls about the grounds.

Inside the home an elevator has replaced the stairs he once climbed to his bedroom. A central heating system was installed this year to drive out the chill of a chance frosty morning.

Land recently purchased to make the estate more private has been landscaped since Mr. Rockefeller departed for the north last spring.

A few townspeople are expected to be on hand tomorrow morning when the Rockefeller party arrives.

The train pulling the Rockefeller car will arrive at Ormond station. The car likely will be switched to a point on a street crossing where the former oil magnate may alight within a few feet of his automobile.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES

BY Sally Silver

If you are a believer in the old adage, "an apple a day keeps the doctor away," you will welcome the recipe for apple cordial. While the average housewife has her own special way of preparing apple pie or apple dumplings, nevertheless the recipe for apple cordial is one she will wish to paste in her book of favorite recipes.

The addition of a half cup domestic wine will impart a deliciously fine flavor to the apple cordial. Take one taste and be prepared for a glorious surprise.

The recipe and method of preparation for apple cordial is as follows:

Apple Cordial.

4 red eating apples, juice and grated rind of one-half lemon, 1-2 cup domestic muscatel wine, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup water, 1 tablespoon butter.

Wash and core the apples, slash skin four or five times from top of apple down half way. Place apples in a baking dish. Combine other ingredients in a sauce pan and heat to the boiling point. Pour this syrup over the apples, cover baking dish and bake at 350 degrees until apples are tender. Baste the apples often with the juice in the dish.

Orange Cream Custard.

(Serves 6)

Orange cream custard is one of those fluffy dessert combinations that's decorative and every one likes. It's a dessert that mother may serve frequently, for it's good for the children and the grown ups like it, too. It's a good inclusion in the school lunch box, but also save out servings to be packed in jelly glasses for the children's next day's lunch.

2 egg yolks, beaten, 1-3 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup orange juice, 1 cup cream (or evaporated milk).

Mix together thoroughly and cook in double boiler until thickened. Add 1 teaspoon grated orange rind; cool and turn into serving dish over 1-2 cup orange slices. Chill. Cover with meringue made of: 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten with 4 tablespoons sugar. Decorate with additional orange slices.

Chocolate Marlow.

16 marshmallows, 1-2 squares bitter chocolate, 1-2 cup milk, 1 egg yolk, 1 teaspoon flour, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon almond extract, 1-2 pint cream, few grains of salt.

Make a custard in the usual way by stirring in the slightly beaten egg yolk into the hot milk and add flour and sugar sifted together. Cook in the top of a double boiler until the mixture coats the spoon. Then add the chocolate, grated, and stir until the chocolate is melted. Next add the marshmallows and heat until they are melted but still fluffy. When cold and slightly stiffened, add the extract and salt and fold in the stiffly beaten whipped cream. Freeze without stirring. Serves six.

Cherry Cream Pudding.

1-2 tablespoons granulated gelatin, 1-4 cup cold water, 3-4 cup superfine powdered sugar, 1-2 cup scalding hot milk, 1-2 cup butter, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon almond flavoring, 1 cup cream whipped, 1 cup pitted cherries.

Soak gelatin in cold water and add to hot milk. Stir until dissolved. Add sugar. Set dish in pan of ice water and stir until the mixture begins to thicken. Add flour, in which the pitted cherries are coated. Pour into a mold and chill. Serve with a garnish of whipped cream and cherries.

Western Pie.

Cut 1-2 cups of cooked prunes into small pieces and place in a previously baked shell. Over the prunes place about 1-2 cups of sliced bananas. Mix 1-2 cup granulated sugar with 2 tablespoons cornstarch and moisten with prune juice, then add 2-3 cup of prune juice (the liquid in which the prunes were cooked). If there is not 2-3 cup, make up the amount with water. Add 1-2 cup orange juice and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Cook until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Add about 1-8 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon butter. Pour over the bananas and prunes. Bake cold.

Apple Pudding.

2 cups sliced apples, 2-3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup water, 1-2 cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter.

Mix apples with sugar, flour and cinnamon. Add rest of ingredients and place about 1-2 cups of sliced apples in a shallow baking dish. Cover with crust and bake 30 minutes in moderate oven.

Crust.

1-2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons fat, 1 egg yolk, 1-4 cup milk.

Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in fat with knife. Add rest of ingredients and mix until soft dough forms. Pat out until thin and place over apple mixture.

Lemon Meringue Pie.

1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cups boiling water, 3 eggs, separated, 1-4 cup lemon juice, grated rind of 1 lemon.

Mix dry ingredients. Add the boiling water and cook in a double boiler until thick. Add the beaten egg yolks and cook two minutes longer. Add lemon juice and rind. Cool and pour into a baked pie shell. This will fill an 8-inch pie pan. For 10-inch pie pan as shown in illustration on front cover, use 1-2 times the recipe.

Delicious Dessert.

Beat 4 eggs light, add 8 tablespoons sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cups evaporated milk, 1-2 cups boiling water and 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Stir and pour into custard cups. Set cups in pan of hot water and bake till done. When well set top with marshmallows and finish baking.

Date Nut Bread.

1-2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup dark brown sugar, 2-3 cup chopped dates, 2-3 cup chopped nuts, 2 cups sour milk, 1 egg.

Mix ingredients and bake in greased loaf pan 1 hour in moderate oven. Cool and spread with cream cheese.

Graham Cracker Cake.

1-3 cup fat, 1 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 cups Graham cracker crumbs, 1-3 cup flour, 2-2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-1-3 cups milk, 2 egg whites, beaten, 1-2 cup nuts.

Cream fat and sugar. Add yolks and beat 2 minutes. Add salt, crumbs, flour, baking powder and milk. Beat well. Fold in rest of ingredients. Pour into 2 layer cake pans lined with waxed paper and bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Cool and frost.

White Boiled Frosting.

2 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons vinegar, 2-3 cup water, 2 egg whites, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Boil gently and without stirring, sugar, vinegar and water. When fine thread forms, a portion of hot syrup, pour into beaten egg whites. Beat steadily until frosting is thick and cool. Add vanilla and frost cake.

Old-Fashioned Rocks.

(Spicy, Fruity Cookies.)

1 cup butter, 2 cups dark brown sugar, 3 eggs, 2 tablespoons cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped dates, 1-2 cup chopped raisins, 2-2 cup chopped nuts, 4-1-2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda.

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs and cream. Beat 2 minutes. Add rest of ingredients and mix thoroughly. Take up portions of stiff dough in hands and shape into 2-3 inch balls. Flatten down 3 inches apart on greased baking sheets and bake 12 minutes in moderate oven.

MISSIONARY GROUP HEARS MRS. DASHER

Need for Drawing Young People Into Church Is Outlined.

Members of the Georgia-Alabama Synod Women's Missionary Society, meeting in 21st annual convention at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, yesterday heard an address by Mrs. L. F. Dasher to open the second session.

The convention began Wednesday night with communion and a sermon by Dr. J. L. Yost, pastor.

Delegates were welcomed to the convention, theme for which is "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" by Mrs. D. C. Wilson, of Atlanta.

An appreciation of the office she has held three years was delivered by Mrs. W. Reiser, of Augusta, retiring president. Financial, statistical and secretarial reports followed.

The need for drawing young people into the church was expressed by Mrs. C. E. Gardner, national president. Supplementary remarks were made by the Rev. G. F. Hart, pastor of the Kirkwood Church of the Methodist.

The session closed with a talk by Dr. Yost and memorial services for Mrs. Albert Fry, late member of the national executive board, and Mrs. H. C. Bell, late field secretary. Mrs. E. Heller presided.

MACON LEADER RESTS FROM OPERATION HERE

Robert J. Taylor Sr., of Macon, underwent an operation at a private hospital here yesterday morning and last night was reported resting comfortably.

Mr. Taylor, one of Macon's most prominent citizens, is chairman of the board of the Lamar Rankin Wholesale Drug Company, of which his son, Robert J. Taylor Jr., of 1985 Ponce de Leon, Atlanta, is president. He is a director of the Citizens and Southern National Bank and of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, and is a trustee of Wesleyan College. He was formerly president of the old American National Bank, of Macon, which was taken over by the Citizens and Southern and also was formerly president of the Continental Trust Company of Macon.

MRS. SALLIE NIBLETT, 70, IS FOUND DEAD IN BED

Mrs. Sallie Niblett, 70, was found dead yesterday morning in her bed at 42 1-2 Fair street, according to police reports, by J. M. Cooksey, a tenant. She had died of a heart attack, officers were informed. Following an investigation, Coroner Paul Donohoe announced that he would not hold an inquest.

Detectives reported that they found in the residence a number of empty morphine boxes, hypodermic needles and melting spoons. Cooksey was charged late yesterday afternoon with being a vagrant and was being held under arrest.

Special Mail Cachet For Flight on Monday

A special cachet for mail to be carried on the last official scheduled flight of an exclusive air mail plane was announced yesterday by Captain E. Y. Rickbacher, general manager of Eastern Air Lines, through the offices here.

Stamped and addressed envelopes for the flight must be received by Eastern Air Lines, 131 West Monroe street, Chicago, before 6 o'clock next Monday night. The last flight leaves Chicago at 1 o'clock Monday night.

This flight will precede the first Lockheed Electra overnight passenger service from Chicago to Miami, via Indianapolis, Louisville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Daytona Beach and Vero Beach, starting the next day. Giant Douglas liners of the "Great Silver Fleet" will continue on the 2 o'clock daily run, Chicago to Miami, stopping only at Louisville, Atlanta and Jacksonville en route.

Second Revision Places Crop

68 Million Pounds Over Original Figure.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Another upward revision in the crop reporting board's forecast of 1935 production of blue-cured tobacco—this time an increase of 16,000,000 pounds—was reported today by the agriculture department.

The forecast, based upon the condition of the crop as of October 1, was for production of 730,000,000 pounds compared to a prediction of 714,000,000 a month ago based upon the September 1 condition.

As of August 1, the 1935 production of blue-cured was estimated at only 707,745,000 pounds, today's figure being more than 22,255,000 pounds greater.

Dissatisfaction has been expressed in North Carolina over this year's prices, which are considerably lower than those of 1934.

Blue-cured grown in 1934 totaled only 556,930,000.

SPEAKER IS SILENT ON EXTRA SESSION

Rivers Declines To Comment on Appropriations Bill Situation.

Speaker E. D. Rivers, of the house of representatives, was in the city yesterday but declined comment on the widespread demands over the state for an extra session of the general assembly to pass an appropriations bill.

The general assembly at its regular session failed to pass the appropriations bill and Governor Talmadge has said he will not call an extra session. It has been reported the Governor plans to invoke martial law and collect taxes under the proclamation, disbursement as he sees fit.

"Since the session of the legislature I have been devoting my time to practicing law and am not ready to say anything about a special session or any other matter," the speaker said.

Speaker Rivers has taken a leading part in plans for the Roosevelt homecoming reception and is expected to lead a motorcade of several thousand south Georgia residents here for that celebration.

ATLANTA GROCER WINS PRIZES IN BIG CONTEST

J. Hurwitz, of 876 Greenwood avenue, and E. F. Bearden, of 397 Moreland avenue, are among 277 grocers winning prizes in a sales promotion contest conducted by General Foods, Frank Smith, Post Toasties and Post's 40 per cent Bran Flakes associate advertising manager, announced.

The contest, restricted to grocers and their clerks, offered $1,000 as first prize, a second prize of $500 and 275 other awards for the best letter telling how to increase sales of the two cereals.

Mr. Hurwitz's letter won an $80.50 radio and Mr. Bearden's letter won a 26-piece set of tools and a car. The announcement states, Sam. Glasco, Evansville, Ind., wins the $1,000 first prize, while the $500 second award goes to Miss Eula Bray, of Lynville, Tennessee.

'SULTAN' IS NOT TO DIE FOR MAULING TRAINERS

Anybody who has worries about Captain Walter B. Kemp killing Sultan, the lion, just because Sultan chewed his trainers at the Southeastern Fair last Friday, need worry no longer.

Kemp was released from St. Joseph's hospital yesterday and as soon as his doctor says so, probably tomorrow, he will rejoin the show at Jackson, Miss.

"There's no need killing Sultan," he said. "All that's wrong is he needs a little work and to know who's boss. It won't take me long to get him."

Miles Riley, another trainer who was mauled by Sultan, is still in Piedmont hospital and probably will be released tomorrow.

NEGRO BURGLARS FLEE WHEN CAUGHT IN HOME

M. G. Couch, of 1009 Oxford road, foiled two negro burglars last night as they attempted to ransack his home while the family was in the front room listening to a radio program.

Mr. Couch told DeKalb county police the negroes entered his home through a rear window, but he did not hear them until they had made their way to the second story. Hearing sounds overhead, Couch went to investigate and was confronted by the two. One dived through a second-story window, carrying the screen with him. The other climbed onto the ledge and made his way to a lower ledge, from which he dropped to the ground. Nothing was found missing from the home.

Feast of Tabernacles Will Open Here Today

Feast of Tabernacles services, known as "Succos," will open at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon in Shearith Israel synagogue under the direction of Cantor Samuel Spivak, who is coming to Atlanta from Mobile especially for these services.

The second day of the services is scheduled to open at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Cantor Spivak also will lead services beginning at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Feast of Tabernacles originated in the Temple of Jerusalem centuries ago. Branches of palm trees and citron are used by the worshippers.

Rabbi Tobias Gefen will deliver sermons appropriate to the festival and has invited the entire Jewish community of Atlanta to attend to hear the chanting of Cantor Spivak. The latter is a graduate of the Breslau Rabbinical Seminary and has just completed leading the high holidays in Mobile.

TWO RECEIVE MEDALS FOR ESSAYS ON FIRE

Students of Fairburn and Milton High Schools Win Fire Prevention Honors.

Lillian Belle Drake, of Fairburn High school, and Frank Teasley, of Milton High school, today will be awarded gold medals by Chief O. J. Parker, of the Atlanta fire department, for submitting the best essays on fire prevention.

The presentation will take place at the regular luncheon meeting of Atlanta Post No. 1, American Legion, at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Ansley hotel.

Yesterday civic leaders and fire administration officials continued the educational drive as a major feature of the national fire prevention week, which Atlanta is observing with other cities of the United States.

The Legion luncheon will be sponsored by the fire prevention committee of the post, of which Harry Phillips, assistant fire marshal of the Atlanta department, is chairman. Other committee members are Luke Arnold, Eugene Oberdorfer and James Smith. Judges for the fire prevention essays were appointed by the Southeastern Underwriters' Association.

Jere A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, and Councilman Walter M. Sutton, chairman of the Atlanta board of firemasters, will be among other guests at the luncheon. Julius A. Setze is chairman of the luncheon committee.

All building and maintenance employees of the Atlanta school system will attend a fire prevention lecture to be delivered Saturday morning at Commercial High school auditorium. The fire school for building superintendents, janitors and watchmen, in which 288 persons matriculated at the opening session Wednesday, will be continued at the auditorium armory at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

FORGET-ME-NOTS TO BE SOLD TODAY

Group of Disabled Veterans To Hold Ceremonies at Five Points.

Hereafter the sale of forget-me-nots which opens in Atlanta this morning, a group of disabled veterans from Base Hospital No. 45 will ride to Five Points in a bus, accompanied by a drum and bugle unit from Betty Harrison Jones Chapter No. 1 of the D. A. V.

They will pause for a brief ceremony at Five Points, including a couple of songs. The veterans will wear uniforms loaned for the purpose by the local unit of the national guard.

Mrs. Dan Clarke and Mrs. Joel Cloud Jr., will accompany the group as nurses.

More than 1,000 women, representing all clubs of the Atlanta federation, Parent-Teacher organizations, social and civic groups, will take part in the sale. They will be stationed throughout the city and in the suburban cities of East Point, College Park, Hapeville, Decatur and Buckhead.

Headquarters have been opened at the Henry Grady hotel, with Mrs. Henry M. Nicholas, general chairman, and Mrs. Katherine Connerat, co-chairman, in charge, assisted by Mrs. F. H. Brady and Mrs. W. L. Balenger.

A counting committee was appointed yesterday to take charge of the funds as they are turned in at the counting booth in the basement of the First National Bank. The committee includes Mrs. Stanley C. Davis, chairman; Mrs. W. D. Williamson, Mrs. E. L. Myers, Mrs. Raymond Wolf and Mrs. Ed Almand.

All funds from the sale are distributed through the Betty Harrison Jones Chapter No. 1 by volunteer, bonded officers, for the benefit of those veterans of the World War who actually were injured in service overseas.

FEVER-CARRYING TICKS FOUND ON GA. CATTLE

Manning Yeomans, state entomologist, said yesterday that cattle ticks found near Oconee, Ga., have been identified as a variety capable of carrying splenic fever.

A report made by the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the United States Department of Agriculture indicated the ticks differed slightly from the "common cattle fever tick" but is similar as a disease carrier. Yeomans said, Georgia has been free of fever-carrying ticks for years.

PWA PROJECTS GET GOOD CO-OPERATION

J. Houston Johnston, acting state PWA director, said yesterday he is receiving "a magnificent response" from project sponsors who have received approval from Washington.

He recently asked all such sponsors to get in their plans and specifications and contemplated wage scales "immediately."

MILD TEMPERATURES, CLOUDY SKIES TODAY

Mild temperatures and slightly cloudy skies with possible showers are scheduled for Atlanta today, according to the weather bureau.

The mercury, which climbed to 78 degrees yesterday, will go no higher than 70 degrees today. Meteorologist Mindling forecast, this morning's coolest, he said, was to be 56 degrees. Mild temperatures have been recorded from the Atlantic west to Texas.

FIREMAN IS KILLED IN CORDELE ACCIDENT

Four Georgians Meet Violent Deaths in Series of Mishaps.

CORDELE, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—His fireman dead and the engine unconscious at his post, a runaway locomotive roared over the rails for five miles today before it stopped of its own accord.

The engine was backing in the yard here when a loose box car jumped a check and crashed into the cab, knocking it out of line and pinning fireman J. A. Bearden, 50, against the boiler. Scalded and crushed, he was found dead in his shattered cab.

The engineer, W. M. Butler, received a broken leg and possible internal injuries.

The crash opened the throttle of the locomotive and it backed out of the yard under full steam and stopping five miles away.

Torches were used to cut the cab away before Bearden's body could be removed.

The fireman, a minister in the Church of God, is survived by his wife and four children.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT
KILLS WATCHMAN

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Oct. 10.—

Thomas R. Herring, 39, resident of this city, is dead as the result of being accidentally shot by his own pistol while attending his duties as night watchman at the Rountree Grocery Company, wholesale depot for the Savannah Stores in this section.

The accident occurred Tuesday night while Mr. Herring was about his duties. He was checking a truck loaded with merchandise leaving the warehouse. He had climbed into the truck when his pistol fell from his coat pocket, and was discharged when it struck the floor of the truck body. The bullet struck his body just above the heart and he slumped over unconscious, dying within 15 minutes.

A negro truckman was present at the time, and no inquest was held, following an investigation by Sheriff G. E. Davis.

Funeral services were held here this afternoon with interment immediately afterward.

CAR INJURIES FATAL TO WORKER AT AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—John Whitney Dowling, 33, died today of injuries received four days ago when his automobile turned over.

He was working on the lock and dam project near Augusta.

Survivors include a sister, Miss Mary Dowling, Albany, Ga.

MATTOK MAN KILLED
IN FALL OFF AUTO

WAYCROSS, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—Laney Partridge, a resident of Mattox, Ga., was killed near here last night as he fell from the running board of an automobile.

CONFEDERATES END REUNION AT ADEL

Matron of Honor and Chap- eron Elected To Life- Membership.

ADEL, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—Seventy years after the end of the War Between the States, Georgia veterans of the Confederacy stood today and sang "God Be With You 'Til We Meet Again," as their reunion here came to an end.

Thirty-seven veterans attended the reunion. Years ago, such gatherings attracted hundreds of veterans.

The next meeting will be in Augusta, at a date yet to be fixed.

Mrs. C. T. Tillman, of Quitman, was named a matron of honor for life, and Mrs. Ernest B. Williams, of Atlanta, was elected chaperone for life at the final session today.

After adjournment the veterans, whose parades once were an impressive sight, rode in a motor car parade through Adel and the nearby city of Sparks, which helped to entertain them.

General J. M. Nash, of Atlanta, is new commander of the division, succeeding General J. P. Hardy, of Barnesville.

Sons and daughters of the Confederates attending the reunion in speeches to the closing session praised citizens of this community for their hospitality. Mayor J. J. Parrish and Rev. W. H. Ketchum, of Adel, responded.

WILLIAM P. FRAZIER,
MACON BUILDER DIES

MACON, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—William Penn Frazier, 52-year-old contractor, died in a hospital here last night after being hurried there from his home.

Frazier, who members of the family said had been in ill health for several years, moved here about 12 years ago from Milledgeville. He handled work on finishing the Macon auditorium, the Bibb county courthouse, and several dormitories at the Georgia State College for Women.

He was awarded the contract for building 10 of the first homes in a development here.

His wife, five daughters and a brother, Robert L. Frazier, of Sparks, survive.

DEMOCRATIC GROUP TO HEAR COX, PAGE

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—Congressman E. E. Cox, of Camilla, and W. E. Page, of Atlanta, collector of internal revenue for Georgia, have been invited to address the state convention of Affiliated Women's Democratic Clubs, to be held here November 12.

Mrs. Herbert Fay Gaffney announced issuance of the invitation at a meeting of the Muscogee County Women's Democratic Club, held yesterday. The congressman has definitely accepted, Mrs. Gaffney said, while Mr. Page accepted provided the time for his address can be arranged not to conflict with previous engagements.

MARIETTA LEADER, R. M. WADE, PASSES

Was Manager of Telephone Firm and Head of Rotary Club.

MARIETTA, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—R. M. Wade, 59, district manager for the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company here, died in a hospital today after a sudden illness.

Born in Athens, he had lived here since 1915 and was prominent in social, business and civic circles of the city. He was president of the Marietta Rotary Club, was a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and had served in the Philippines.

Besides his wife, he leaves two brothers, P. H. Wade, of Macon, and E. I. Wade, of Cleveland, Ohio, and two sisters, Miss Roscoe Wade, of Savannah, and Mrs. C. C. Shouse, of Milledgeville.

Funeral services will be held here Saturday at 10 a. m. at the Presbyterian church with Rev. J. H. Patton officiating. Burial will be in the family cemetery at Athens Saturday afternoon.

Palbearers will be Charles Brown, Lewis Turner, W. P. Stephens, Marion Dobbs, E. B. Emery and Bob Fowler.

SLAYER OF WOMEN IS ELECTROCUTED

Semie Gaines Denies He Killed Mother and Daugh- ter at Lexington.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—Denying to the end that he struck the blows that ended the lives of a Lexington (Ga.) white woman and her daughter, Semie Gaines, 24, a negro, was electrocuted at the state prison today.

Superintendent R. H. Lawrence said Gaines told him he was at the scene when Mrs. C. G. Goolbsy and her daughter, Miss Nellie Goolbsy, were clubbed to death, but that the blows were administered by another negro.

Lawrence said Gaines was calm as he walked unassisted into the death chamber.

The negro was convicted September 16 of the slaying of Mrs. Goolbsy. The mother and daughter were slain near Lexington June 26.

SPENCER IS TO REACH
72-HOUR CRISIS TODAY

MACON, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—John D. Spencer, known by his signature, "J. D. S.," to thousands of readers of his daily column of witticisms in the Macon Telegraph, will pass the 72-hour crisis tomorrow after undergoing an emergency appendectomy Tuesday morning.

His condition at the Oglethorpe infirmary was reported as satisfactory tonight when Mrs. Spencer was joined by her sister, Mrs. R. B. Hickson, of Decatur, at his bedside.

Attending doctors have said visitors may be allowed to see the noted paragrapher Saturday if his condition continues to show improvement.

Diversity of Farm Products Shown at Jonesboro Fair

RAIDS AT DALTON NET MUCH LIQUOR

Various Kinds of Containers Used To Scoop Up Whisky.

DALTON, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—Judge Claude C. Pittman's charge against illegal liquor traffic worked with somewhat reverse English for a time today.

The grand jury ordered officers to "crack down" on liquor dealers and they made two raids netting 29 cases of tax-paid liquor and ten one-gallon kegs of "corn whisky" which were emptied in the streets.

A negro seized a can and began to scoop up the liquor from the gutter where it flowed. Others followed suit, damming the stream with leaves and rags while they hunted containers.

The matter was reported to the judge.

"The liquor is being destroyed legally," he said. "If they want to sop it up, let them do it and if they get drunk we'll lock them up."

The judge in his charge to the grand jury scored the state's new wine and beer act as "inadequate in its provisions" for enforcement against liquor dealers and said the state laws prohibited sales of whisky and of wine or beer to minors on Sunday.

HIGHER TAX LEVIES PREDICTED BY LESTER

Augusta Senator Says State Income Is Not Sufficient for Needs.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—Declaring that revenues of the state at present are not ample to operate the "state government as it should be run," State Senator William M. Lester today predicted proposals at the next general assembly session for higher levies on incomes and intangible property regardless of the adoption or repulsion of the proposed 15-cent limit.

Senator Lester is chairman of the commission appointed by Governor Talmadge to make a survey of the state, county and municipal taxes and the probable effects of the limitation proposal on all taxing units of government. He said he will call a meeting of the commission within a short time.

Speaking for himself and not for the commission, the senator said tax changes are needed at the present time, and that they must be along two definite channels: Economy in administration of "certain unnecessary functions, and additions to present state tax levies to supplement annual income and to relieve the burden being carried by real estate.

He proposes to recommend to the commission consolidation of several state departments, and said he does not believe state eleemosynary institutions receive ample appropriations for operation on an efficient basis.

TAX PLAN CHANGE URGED BY REDWINE

MACON, Ga., Oct. 10.—(P)—Charles D. Redwine, of Fayetteville, president of the state senate and mentioned in Georgia political circles as a possible candidate for Governor next year, today advocated a tax reform program for this state.

"Georgia is in a good state financially to enter into tax reforms," Redwine, today advocated a tax reform program for this state.

He declared "real estate pays more than its share of the state's taxes and for 80 years we have been operating under the same tax laws which have badly needed revision."

President Redwine said "there are those who advocate a sales tax but I don't know if this would be possible or advisable."

He said real estate owners especially were in need of some tax relief since they pay 80 per cent of the state's revenue.

'GATOR BATTLES SON HURT FOLLOWING DAD

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 10.—(P)—Inspired by applause given his father, an alligator wrestler, Little Osceola, 6-year-old Seminole, today tackled a four-foot saurian in a pen apart from where the older Osceola was exhibiting his prowess.

The 'gator promptly nipped Little's left leg.

STATE DEATHS

CHARLES O. STEPHENS.

THOMASTON, Ga., Oct. 10.—Charles Oscar Stephens, 75, prominent citizen of The Rock, Ga., near here, died this evening at his winter home at Coronado Beach, Fla.

Funeral services will be held at The Rock Methodist church at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

He is survived by three sons, W. P. and Rob Stephens of Thomaston; Roy Stephens, of The Rock; one daughter, Miss Madeline Stephens, of The Rock; grandson, Preston Stephens, son of Mrs. Louise Stephens, and the late Preston Stephens, of Atlanta; one brother, Hillard Stephens, of Yatusville; three half-sisters, Mrs. T. J. Middlebrooks, of Thomaston; Mrs. C. A. Black, and Mrs. Alice Henry, of Atlanta.

HUGH F. PATRICK.

COLEMAN, Ga., Oct. 10.—Hugh F. Patrick, about 40 years old, local lumber dealer and World War veteran, died at his home here today after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at Coleman Saturday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock and interment will be at Fort Gaines.

He is survived by his wife and four children; his mother, Mrs. B. F. Patrick, of Coleman; five sisters, Miss Amanda Patrick, of Coleman; Mrs. W. R. Bridges and Miss Mary Patrick, of Atlanta; Mrs. Harry Hubbard, of Bufton; Mrs. Carl Crozier, of Gainsville, Toocoon, Clayton, and Shellman; three brothers, D. C. and Thomas Patrick, of Fort Gaines, and Gilbert Patrick, of Cumbe.

THAT'S WHY MORE WOMEN PREFER MERITA BREAD THAN ANY OTHER KIND

Remember the old adage—the finer the texture the finer the bread? Nothing was ever truer. That's why the satin-smooth texture of a slice of Merita is the surest indication of the quality ingredients we use. Flour is made from the soft creamy heart of the wheat grain, rich milk solids high in proteins and minerals, light fluffy shortening, especially selected yeast. But Merita is able to give you bread with a fine texture for another reason. You see, Merita Bread is the one bread that is always oven-fresh. It's baked just a few hours before you buy it. For that reason we can bake Merita thoroughly, through and through, so that the texture is even, firm, close knit. We don't have to leave the texture under-baked and doughy as it is in some breads that are baked to stay on your grocer's shelf for several days.

Merita
baked-in flavor BREAD

HOW MERITA GUARANTEES YOU FRESH BREAD

Merita Bread is baked every morning. As it leaves the oven it is sealed in heavily waxed paper. Its fragrant oven-freshness is held captive until you yourself unseal it in your own kitchen a few hours later.

Fast delivery trucks rush Merita Bread to your grocers' twice daily. Because of this frequent delivery method your grocer is never overstocked.

You can be sure that when you buy a loaf of Merita Bread it's as fresh as if you had baked it yourself today. Merita Bakers guarantee it.

CONFESSION CLAIMED TO MARIETTA KILLINGS

Negro Taken to Unknown Jail Following Admission of Brutal Murders.

After reportedly confessing two brutal murders in Marietta, Will White, a negro believed to have escaped the Lowndes county chain gang, was whisked out of Atlanta yesterday to some unannounced destination by Marietta officers.

The confession was reported to have named another negro in one of the killings. The document was typed and notarized by Captain W. B. Seabrook, head of the Atlanta Police Bureau of Identification, and was signed with the negro's mark.

White was arrested by Officers P. L. Jolly and H. P. Griggs in Marietta and brought to Atlanta for questioning. He admitted, they announced, that he killed W. P. Smith, Marietta chair factory watchman, the night of September 27 and fatally slugged Orel C. Swanson, filling station operator, last Saturday.

He was found in the home of a negro woman not far from the filling station holding the officers said. Horace Parker, a negro whom White is said to have implicated in the factory slaying, was also found there.

Smith was killed with a heavy timber in a robbery attempt. Swanson was struck with an ax which, the officers said, came from the negro woman's home and has been identified by her.

Police expressed doubt Parker or the woman had anything to do with the two killings.

Church To Honor Woman On Her 98th Birthday

Special services in observance of the 98th birthday Wednesday of Mrs. Fanny Cosby, of 812 Kirkwood avenue, will be held at 11 o'clock Sunday morning in Inman Park Baptist church, where she has been a member for more years than she can remember—at least 30.

Mrs. Cosby came to Atlanta from Washington, Ga., about 35 years ago. She has five living children, 37 grandchildren and 30 great-grandchildren. The pet of them all, she said yesterday, is Conrad, 15-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bailey.

Despite her years, Mrs. Cosby is quite active, spending her time playing with her great-grandson or in making piece quilts for the family and occasionally going alone to market.

"The Lord has been good to me," was her birthday message to the hundreds of friends who called to felicitate her.

CUBA TO SELL STAMPS TO AID WAR VETERANS

HAVANA, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The Cuban government plans to resort to postage stamp sales to provide for its veterans of the Spanish-American war.

This was revealed with the announcement of the forthcoming sale of an issue of stamps printed in 1908 and another in 1905. The stamps have been in the postoffice all these years, and the government believes collectors will pay well for them.

Face value of the two issues is $11,564. Funds raised in the sale will be used for maintenance of veterans' wards in hospitals.

Date for the sale has not been set.

Named Officers of Tech's Student Council

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS

Monroe Youth Heads Important Group at Tech for This Year.

Mason Williams, of Monroe, has been elected president of the Student Council at Georgia Tech, it was announced yesterday. Culver Kidd, of Milledgeville, was elected vice president; George Harrison, of Thomas, secretary, and Allen Morris, of Atlanta, treasurer. Mason held the position of secretary of the council last year. He succeeds Billy Glenn as president.

The Student Council was put into operation in 1922 and has functioned regularly since. The chief purpose of the group is to control all matters of general student interest. It acts on all cases of violation of student conduct rules, controls student elections and mass meetings and, in general, represents the student body in all affairs except the Y. M. C. A. and athletics. Regular meetings are held every other Tuesday. Student publications are controlled by the council and all student organizations are responsible to it.

The membership of the council includes the president of the senior class, president of the interfraternity council, president of the Y. M. C. A., editor of the Technique, five members from the senior class, four members from the junior class, two members from the sophomore class and two members from the co-operative department.

HAUPTMANN'S MOTHER IN TEARS OVER RULING

KAMENZ, Germany, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The worn and aged mother of Bruno Richard Hauptmann burst into tears tonight when she talked of "American justice."

"No words can express my feelings about American law," Frau Pauline Hauptmann said when she met a correspondent on her doorstep. She had just returned from a forest with a heavy load of wood and a basketful of mushrooms.

"I read confirmation of the death verdict in a local newspaper and know what you are going to tell me," she said. After inviting the correspondent in, she suddenly lost control of herself. Throwing her hands up in despair, she burst into tears and sobbed: "A man who has no money has no right to live."

ZENGE MURDER TRIAL IS BEGUN IN CHICAGO

State Speeds Case Toward Promised Admission From Defendant.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Speeding its case toward a promised admission by Manderville W. Zenge to a cab driver that he had caused the death of Dr. Walter J. Bauer, the state called its first witnesses today in the mutilation murder trial.

Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty's outline of the state's case called the crime "a cold-blooded murder, inspired by Zenge's jealousy of Dr. Bauer."

"And because of the nature of this crime," Dougherty said, "I shall expect the jury to do its duty."

Dougherty asserted that William Leinert, the cab driver—who will probably be the first state witness tomorrow—would say that Zenge told him "I didn't mean to kill him" and that Dr. Bauer "wouldn't have died if they handled him right at the hospital."

Leinert, the prosecutor said, aided police in trapping Zenge after the cabman allegedly had driven the Missourian back to the place where Dr. Bauer was found bleeding to death in search of a revolver.

The defense waived an opening statement and the state began an effort to prove that several persons had seen Zenge near the site of the crime. After the first witness, Joseph Bauer, of Cleveland, Ohio, had testified that the victim of the slaying death to shock and hemorrhage result, said he doubted that Dr. Bauer might was his brother, Dr. George F. Ing from the pen knife emasculation, have died from a blood clot on the O'Brien, coroner's physician, ascribed to a defense question, Dr. O'Brien brain.

CANON TURNER SPEAKS FOR CHURCH OFFICERS

Presbyterian Organization Holds Fall Meeting at Covenant Church

Christianity's battle should be waged offensively, the Rev. W. S. Turner, canon of the pro-Cathedral of St. Philip, asserted before 150 members of the Presbyterian Officers' Association of Atlanta at its quarterly meeting in the Covenant Presbyterian church on Peachtree road, last night.

"In the parlance of the street, and even among colleagues, we should not only be able to 'take it' but to 'dish it out,'" the canon said. "I believe there's no act, word or suggestion in the Bible that tells us to fight a defensive battle."

Speaking informally to officers and deacons of 21 Presbyterian churches the young canon urged his hearers to "keep the church out of politics but to do all you can to get Christianity in them."

Tom C. Dickson, president of the association, presided at the meeting which followed a dinner, prepared by the ladies of the church, Dr. Herman Turner, beginning his sixth year as pastor of Covenant church, introduced the speaker. Central Presbyterian church, with 23 representatives, had more than any other church present.

Second place was won by Covenant church, with Druid Hills and Oakhurst trying for third place with 12 members each.

Organized five years ago, the association now has 500 members. Officers are Mr. Dickson, president; H. W. Ridgely, vice president; A. B. Estes Jr., secretary; H. A. Brockman, J. Harry Wilson, Carl R. Cunningham and W. G. Marks, regional vice presidents. Members of a committee, named by the president to nominate officers for the new year at the January meeting in the Central Presbyterian church, are W. R. Heston, C. R. Cunningham, R. F. Head, W. W. Ford, George B. Hoyt, Sam Davidson and Frank Wheeler.

A song, the "Divine Redeemer," was sung by Mrs. J. C. Richardson, accompanied on the piano by Lawrence Wilson. The Kiwanis "jug band," led by Arthur Frankenburg, also played several numbers of hill-billy music.

HURD J. CRAIN NAMED CHEST DRIVE DIRECTOR

Prominent Insurance Executive To Head Central Division for Campaign.

Hurd J. Crain, past president of the Atlanta Life Underwriters' Association and widely known Atlanta leader, yesterday became the director of the central division of the Community Chest campaign.

Mr. Crain began immediately the organization of his division and will have a group of several hundred volunteer workers in the field when the thirteenth annual campaign is launched on November 18.

W. A. Dobson, Atlanta Scout executive, accepted the post of assistant to the division director.

Mr. Crain is the second division leader to be announced by Julian V. Boehm, general chairman. Sherrard Kennedy, vice president of the First National Bank, already is at work as director of the advance gifts division.

"Our job is to contact the men and women in the offices and shops of the downtown area," Mr. Crain said, "the people who are essential to the success of the Community Chest campaign."

Big Story to Tell.
"We've got a big story to tell them about a big job that is being done right here among our own people. It is a job that we've got to carry on, because nobody can do it for us."

"The Community Chest, which has been serving Atlanta all these years, has built up a service exactly suited to our own needs. This is a service that does far more than minister to material demands. It does not try to cure with money alone. It works through understanding, sympathy and a gentle guidance to lasting benefits. The Community Chest aids people to live, not merely to exist."

"That is the thing needed so terribly in these days when we are emerging from the clouds of depression. We must express our own thankfulness in helping others who see no sunshine through the clouds, who have nobody to look to except us, who are their neighbors."

Got to Say "Yes."
"All of us who are able must set the example in giving this year as never before. If we fail, the suffering will not be an intangible thing that we can feel sorry about and forget. It will fall on people who are our friends and neighbors, whose welfare is our welfare."

"We can't say no to these people who are part of ourselves. We've got to say yes."

Mr. Crain is general agent of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company and is one of Atlanta's best known younger executives. He is a member of the Capital City Club and has wide business and civic interests.

Mr. Dobson, in long years of service with the Boy Scouts, is intimately acquainted with the welfare needs of his Scout work.

Trail Club Opens Session Saturday

William H. Carr To Be Principal Speaker at Cloudland Convention.

Hiking and nature clubs from all the southeastern states will convene with the Georgia Appalachian Trail Club at its sixth annual convention tomorrow and Sunday at the Cloudland Park Club hotel, Cloudland, Ga.

The principal speaker on the evening program will be William H. Carr, naturalist and nationally known author. Mr. Carr is curator and assistant director of education of the American Museum of Natural History. He was the originator of the Trailside Museum in the Palisades park in New York state. He is an outstanding author on nature subjects, having written eight books.

The following organizations have been invited to attend the meeting: Smoky Mountains Hiking Club of Knoxville, Carolina Mountain Club, Asheville, Nantahala Appalachian Trail Club of Almond, N. C., Denton Trail Blazers of Benton, Tenn., Cumberland Hiking Club of Chattanooga, Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Georgia Society of Naturalists, Atlanta Bird Club, Georgia Society of Archaeology, Georgia Society of Mineralogy, Academy of Natural Science.

Warner W. Hall, president of the Georgia Appalachian Trail Club, with headquarters in Decatur, announces he expects the largest attendance in the history of the organization.

CHAMBERS WILL VOTE ON NEW DEAL THEORY

Business Asked To Bare Attitude to Policies as a Whole.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Seeking a general "yes" or "no" stand by business on New Deal legislation, the chamber of commerce of the United States today mailed ballots to its 1,500 member organizations across the nation.

Its carefully prepared questionnaire, posing four questions to the membership, was based on a sharply critical report by a committee which recently surveyed federal legislative trends.

Directors of the chamber neither approved nor disapproved the anti-New Deal report when it was presented at a recent meeting by John W. O'Leary, of Chicago, chairman of the committee.

Not Particular Laws.
A statement by the board of directors accompanying the referendum said the purpose of the survey "was to have consideration of all the (administrative) legislation, rather than concentration upon particular measures, respecting many of which the chamber had given specific positions."

Thus, while the chamber previously has taken a stand on specific laws, this will be its first opportunity to go on record for or against theories which the report contents are embodied generally in legislation enacted at the last session of congress.

In an effort toward impartiality, the questionnaire not only contains the full committee report, but prints it on alternate pages with what are termed "arguments in the negative" prepared by the chamber's legal staff. The report takes up 13 1/2 pages; the "arguments in the negative" 14 pages of finer print.

Four Questions.
The questions, based on the report: 1. Should there be extension of federal jurisdiction into matters of state and local concern? 2. Should the federal government at the present time exercise federal spending power without relation to revenue? 3. Should there be government competition with private enterprise for regulatory or other purposes? 4. Should all grants of authority by congress to the executive department of the federal government be within clearly defined limits?

The balloting will close November 25. The chamber explained trade associations hold 32.17 per cent of the voting strength, and local Chambers of Commerce and boards of trade the remainder.

Report on Trends.
The O'Leary report listed the following trends: "Exercise of the spending power without regard for revenues, for purposes within the powers of neither federal nor state governments, and on a scale that brings to every business and to every individual the dangers flowing from an unbalanced budget."

"Extension of competition by government enterprise into the fields of private endeavor, for the purpose of regulating private enterprise, or otherwise."

"Regulation by the federal government of production, industrial and agricultural, and local marketing and retailing—with the federal government impinging upon the individual in his everyday affairs in making a living—in planting crops, in working at a trade for himself, or in working as an employee of another."

"Delegation of powers to the executive department of the federal government and constantly enlarging and for detailed application of measures, with all decisions for the whole country at a central point and consequent delays and expense for citizens even as to matters in themselves of small importance."

Negative Arguments.
The "arguments in the negative" asserted that much of the legislation reviewed "had its origin in conditions of emergency or was enacted against a background of an emergency." It also declared there is "nothing new" in federal encroachment on "matters widely considered as belonging to the jurisdiction of the states." The legal staff also stated that arguments have been advanced that modern conditions required federal regulation of industrial production; and quote from supreme court opinions on these questions.

CHARLES O. STEPHENS

WITH ADVENTURERS

President, in Shade of Palms, Swaps Yarns With Treasure Hunters.

COCOS ISLAND, Oct. 10.—(AP)—In the shade of a palm tree on a narrow strip of rocky shore, President Roosevelt ate lunch today with a band of Pacific adventurers.

The President landed, for the first time on his Pacific voyage, in a picturesque setting for a meal of beans and sandwiches brought ashore from the cruisers Houston and Portland, whose officers also participated in the presidential outing.

A group of British treasure hunters and the commanders of a detachment of Costa Rican soldiers who are guarding the search joined the presidential luncheon and the company exchanged ideas on the hunt. Then the guests enjoyed two hours of chatting and throwing rocks at sharks swimming about in the water through which they had been forced to wade and swim to reach land.

President Roosevelt, deeply tanned from his fishing expeditions, sat beneath a khaki canopy under the tree, with the cliffs and heavy vegetation in the background, and related his experiences. He spoke particularly of catching a 110-pound sail fish. Secretary Lyles and Harry Hopkins, work relief administrator, sat on either side of the President, who wore old clothes and a sun helmet.

Schlitz Offers Beer in New 'Metal Bottle'

Famous Brew in New Container Goes on Sale Here Tomorrow.

Schlitz beer in its new "metal bottle" will make its appearance in Atlanta tomorrow morning at which time Donald McGrath, sales manager for the Schlitz Brewing Company, J. C. Heenan, district sales manager, and the entire Schlitz southern division sales force will be in Atlanta to aid the Schlitz distributor, McCullough Bros., Inc., in gaining distribution through the retail beer outlets.

Atlanta is the first city in the south in which Schlitz beer in the new "metal bottle" is to be distributed.

Atlanta was selected for the introduction of this new package because it is one of the best beer markets in the country.

According to Mr. Heenan, Schlitz

beer has been placed in this new "metal bottle" to meet the growing demand for beer in this type of container. This new container is one of the most modern developments in scientific packaging and has been especially designed and engineered to protect the bouquet and flavor of Schlitz beer. It seals the goodness in as it flows from the vats and protects the flavor with a scientific coating like that used in Schlitz barrels. Also the new container protects Schlitz beer, even better than the bottles, from light.

Once used these containers are thrown away, in this way no deposits are needed and no bottle returns have to be made. The "metal bottle" is easier to handle because of its compactness and also takes up less space in the refrigerator, cools more quickly and is just as easy to open, pour and drink out of as the regular bottle. Mr. Heenan also stated the company wished to assure the beer drinking public that the same quality Schlitz beer as heretofore sold in the brown bottles will be placed in the new "metal bottles" and the same distinctive taste and color will readily convince them they are drinking Schlitz beer. "The Beer That Made Milwaukee Famous."

Schlitz Beer Is Now in "Metal Bottles"

J. C. Heenan, district sales manager of the Schlitz Brewing Company; M. F. Rosenberg, representative of the company, and J. M. McCullough Jr., of McCullough Brothers, Inc., distributors in this territory for Schlitz beer, inspecting an advance express shipment of Schlitz beer in its new "metal bottle."

COURT COSTS HIGH; PUBLIC MUST PAY

The public always pays. Liquor prices have been boosted a dollar a gallon in Atlanta this week, federal agents reported yesterday.

The federal court docket is jammed with 175 cases, involving more than 500 bootleggers, and all this involves a tremendous outlay in bail bonds, lawyers' fees, fines, loss of time and other costly increases in the bootlegging overhead.

So, the cost has been passed on to the consumer in Atlanta at the rate of $1 a gallon.

Atlanta drinks more than 25,000 gallons a week, the agents compute, so it won't take long at that rate. Before the increase, most corn whisky retailed here for about $4 a gallon.

BOOTLEGGERS PLEAD, GIVEN 2-YEAR TERMS

night and day to speed the liquor trials and clear the calendar so that the decks may be cleared for other types of offenses.

Shortly before the Otis Wood gang was sentenced, another confessed bootlegger, described by federal agents as one of Atlanta's biggest shots, was maneuvered up to Judge Underwood's bench to receive a 15-month sentence for a crime that could have earned him five years in jail. He was F. C. Pritchard, who pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to violate the liquor laws.

Judge Demanded Arrests.

The "big shots" are the ones whose arrest Judge Underwood demands in his charge to the grand jury Monday when he called it a reproach to the administration of federal, city and state laws that they should go unpunished.

"Such neglect," he told the jury, "leads to underworld strife, which imperils the safety and peace of the community."

The Wood gang faced court, frankly admitting their guilt through their attorney, Paul Carpenter, to the 15 cases that had been accumulated against them in the six-month drive that federal agents directed against them.

Charges Detailed.

The war against them, directed by Alcohol Unit Supervisor Tuttle, produced these charges:

August 12, 1934—Otis Wood and C. R. Chandler, arrested at their driving coupe conveying a truck from New Orleans to Atlanta, with 600 gallons of alcohol, sufficient for the manufacture of 1,200 gallons of liquor.

September 19, 1934—Otis W. B. Frank Bearden, C. G. Chandler, and Harry W. Stovall, arrested in Gwinnett county, en route to Atlanta, with two automobiles, one with 215 gallons of moonshine whisky, the other with 205 gallons.

September 20, 1934—Harry W. Stovall, arrested after a 30-mile chase in Atlanta, driving a Packard automobile with 195 gallons of moonshine whisky.

October 11, 1934—Minney Wood, brother of Otis Wood, now serving an 18-month sentence, arrested with E. B. Frank Bearden at 1428 Lanier place, Atlanta, where they operated a cutting plant, 130 gallons seized.

October 14, 1934—Otis Wood and Harry W. Stovall arrested at Eatonton, Ga., in an automobile with 180 gallons of whisky.

Car Out on Bond.

November 21, 1934—Harry W. Stovall, arrested in the same Packard, which, like Stovall, was out on bond in Banks county with 200 gallons of whisky.

December 2, 1934—Dow Whitaker, arrested after a 35-mile chase from Windsor to Decatur, Ga., with 210 gallons of whisky.

January 4, 1935—Dow Whitaker arrested in DeKalb county with 235 gallons of whisky in a truck.

No arrests have been recorded against the Otis Wood gang since.

"We figured we had enough evidence to convict that gang," said Mr. Tuttle yesterday, "when we have collected this much evidence we move on to another gang. The Otis Wood gang broke up in January and two gangs grew where only one existed before. We started after this second gang."

These cases were scheduled for trial in the March term of court, but Otis Wood was sick and a delay was granted. You must not judge that because we have not made any arrests of Otis Wood and his crowd since January that they have not been in business since then. We merely have been too busy with other gangs and we thought we had all the evidence needed."

Whitaker's Record.

"Dow Whitaker should be sent to jail for 50 years. He will never reform. Here's his record alone, all of them liquor cases:

"Pleaded guilty in 1925. Fined $125."

"Pleaded guilty in 1926 to two charges. Six months in jail."

"Pleaded guilty in 1928. Fined $500 and a year and a day in jail."

"Pleaded guilty in 1930. Fifteen months in jail."

"Pleaded guilty in 1933. Eighteen months in jail."

"And here he pleads guilty today and gets two years in jail. We will be arresting Dow Whitaker regularly every year or two for the rest of his life."

"Only a Baumes law will settle men like Dow Whitaker. In New York state, after the third offense, a man stays in jail for life. That's the only way bootlegging can be broken up down here."

In the sentence of the Wood gang yesterday, all five—Chandler, Stovall, Bearden, Whitaker and Wood—were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, with no fine, on the charge of conspiracy to violate the internal revenue laws. The sentences against Wood and Chandler were deferred and they were released on $5,000 bonds each for 30 days so that they could go to Louisiana to face trials there for violating the liquor laws.

Each received sentences of two years on two other counts, these sentences to run concurrently with the first.

Each was also fined $200, with the privilege of serving 30 additional days in jail if they do not pay the fines.

GEORGIA WPA STRIKE IS THREATENED IN ROW

changing anything that has been done."

The strike threat came from Harper yesterday as WPA officials announced they faced the task of providing jobs for 2,000 persons a day between now and November 1 to meet the government's orders to have all of Georgia's 40,986 FERA recipients at work by that date.

The FERA officially dies on November 1 and by that time jobs under the WPA must be provided for everyone on the rolls. Thus far, 23,555 persons in Georgia have been transferred from FERA to WPA. Approximately 2,000 were transferred in the last week, but Miss Shepperson and her staff must accomplish a transfer of the many a day to meet government orders.

Demands Sent Hopkins.

The demands from Harper, which went forward yesterday to Harry Hopkins at the WPA Labor Board, will mean that instead of the 96-hour month at $88 which Miss Shepperson says will start October 15, the WPA must pay various types of labor according to scales they receive from private contractors, these ranging from 85 cents to $1.25 an hour.

"I am speaking for non-union as well as union labor," said Harper. "And for unskilled as well as skilled. The independent laborer needs our protection as well as the union laborer."

Miss Shepperson said, when she announced the scale that we had reached an agreement. No agreement has been reached.

"She said that we had filed no protest. Our committees have met with R. L. McDougall, her assistant, and he understands fully our position. He knows that we did not agree to accept this rate. To keep the record clear, however, we are formally filing our protest with Miss Shepperson tomorrow morning, but meanwhile, we are not stopping with her. We will continue to state our case fully to the authorities in Washington and, if nothing comes from either source, we will strike."

"We have struggled for years to build up a scale of wages and hours which the WPA is attempting to destroy in one swoop in Georgia. The northern republicans state are paying the prevailing rate or higher on WPA projects and we want that in Georgia, too."

BARCLAY WARBURTON IS FACING OPERATION

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Barclay H. Warburton, son-in-law of the late John Wanamaker, will undergo a major operation tomorrow in the Lankenau hospital.

Warburton, who was admitted to the hospital yesterday, is 69 and lives in nearby Jenkintown.

He is a former mayor of Palm Beach, Fla., and a former director of public safety here. He was a republican candidate for the United States senate from Florida.

MRS. K. J. TOBIN, OF BEVERLY HILLS, ILL., WELCOMES

Calumet Baking Powder...in a big, new 10¢ can!

"WHAT'S THE SENSE in taking chances with second-best when you can get a good, big can of Calumet for a dime?" asks Mrs. Tobin. Now everybody can afford "the baking powder that millions of good cooks swear by!"

"I've never had a baking failure with Calumet," Mrs. Tobin said. And judging by the expectant looks on the faces of her three youngsters—Richard, Patricia and Peggy—Mrs. Tobin is not the only member of her family who knows how delicious Calumet cakes always are!

NEIGHBORHOOD PARTIES appreciate Mrs. Tobin's cakes, too. She's fond of surprising her callers with "accrumbious"—if simple—refreshments. As soon as the croquet game is over, the Tobins and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Allison, are going to revel in

CALUMET CARAMEL CAKE

2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour 1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder 3 eggs, well beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt 6 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup butter or other shortening 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together 3 times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat 9 inch layer pan in moderate oven (175° F.) 25 minutes, or until done. Spread caramel frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake. Double recipe to make three 10-inch layers. Sprinkle chopped nuts on sides, if desired.

(All measurements are level.)

WHY DOES CALUMET give such astonishing "baking luck" to Mrs. Tobin—and to all the rest of the Calumet enthusiasts? Why do you have to use only one level teaspoonful of Calumet to a cup of sifted flour in most recipes? Why is Calumet different from other baking powders?

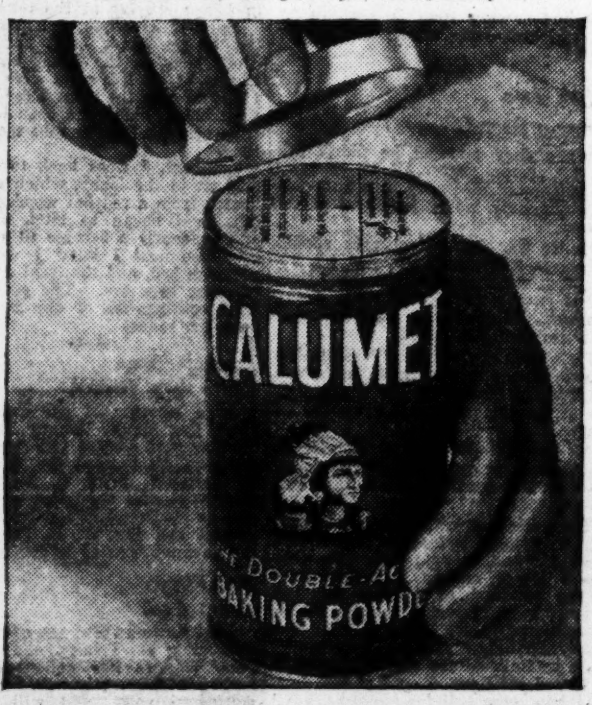

It's because of the way Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat.

Calumet is double action in so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening. And it is perfection that you can always count on. For Calumet is sent to you by General Foods—the same company that sends you many other fine foods noted for undeviating high quality...Jell-O, Swans Down Cake Flour, Maxwell House Coffee, etc.

"EASY TO PAY FOR—and easy to open!" That's how Mr. Tobin described the familiar red can of Calumet. He likes the new Easy-Off Top—"It's pretty swell," said he, "not to have to struggle with the kind of baking powder can that practically calls for a monkey wrench and a few swear words before it'll open."

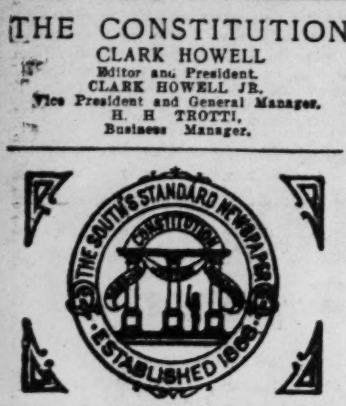

And here's Mrs. Tobin showing her husband the convenient self-leveler that's inside every can of Calumet.

AND LOOK AT THE NEW CAN! A simple twist...and the Easy-Off Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken fingernails! And inside there's a special, convenient self-leveler!

All Calumet prices are lower! Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history... The regular price of the Full-Pound Can is now only 25¢! And see the new, big 10¢ can—a lot of good baking for a dime—with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder.

A WARNING TO TERRORISTS

The heavy sentences imposed in Fulton superior court on the three men charged with responsibility for the recent dynamitings in and around Atlanta will serve as a warning to other would-be terrorists that this city will not permit efforts at intimidation through such acts of violence.

In Chicago and other large cities in various parts of the country the resort of the underworld to dynamitings to terrorize those who, for one reason or another, it was sought to intimidate, brought about an era in which no law-abiding citizen could feel that his place of business, home or person was safe if he attempted to defy the demands of the criminal element.

In the nation-wide campaign to reduce crime there was no more difficult task faced by federal and local officers than the stamping out of this particularly vicious activity of the underworld. For many months the drive against crime was largely centered on the elimination of dynamiting as the most effective weapon of gangland in quelling opposition by law-abiding citizens.

It was inevitable with the development of bootlegging and racketeering gangs in Atlanta that sooner or later some elements in the newly created underworld would be tempted to resort to dynamiting outrages.

Whether or not the outrages to which the three men sentenced in Fulton county pleaded guilty were inspired from the underworld or from other sources, if they had been successfully "gotten away with" the criminal element in the city would have been quick to have seized upon this method of strengthening their hold in the community.

As it is, the efficient work of the law-enforcement forces in running down these offenders and the quick and effective manner in which the cases were handled in the courts will serve as a deterrent to others, whether individuals or groups, who would resort to acts of terrorism for any purpose.

A NOTABLE ANNIVERSARY

The completion of a half-century of service to the public, whatever the nature of it may have been, is a memorable event, and this is especially true in the instance of a newspaper that has during 50 years kept uppermost the thought of its obligation to the community in which it is published, and to the nation.

Such a newspaper is the Dallas Morning News, which has just celebrated its fiftieth anniversary with the publication of a splendid Golden Jubilee Anniversary edition.

The News was founded in 1885 by the A. H. Belo Corporation, publishers of the Galveston News, which was launched in 1842 while Texas was still a republic. The corporation is the oldest business institution in Texas.

The Galveston News was an outstanding leader of thought in the crucial times incident to the closing years of the republic, the entry of Texas into the Union, the War Between the States and the reconstruction era.

In keeping with the record of its forerunner, the Dallas News has proved a constructive and helpful factor in the development of Texas during the past half-century from an area with but a small population into what is now one of the greatest states of the Union.

The spirit that has guided outstanding newspapermen whose leadership has made the News a ranking American journal is reflected in the editorial comment in the Jubilee edition that "the News is the sum of the labors and the sacrifices of a great company of individuals, living and dead . . . and not to acknowledge the heritage handed down by such as these, from the highest to the humblest, would be gross ingratitude."

No finer heritage is possessed by any American newspaper, and the continued leadership of the News richly entitles it to the respect and friendship evidenced, not only in Texas, but throughout the country.

THE EVIDENCE PILES UP

Scarcely a day passes without new evidence that those who charge the farmer "is being ruined" by the agricultural policies of the Roosevelt administration are either sadly misinformed or else, to bolster their unsupported position, are deliberately misinterpreting the facts of the farmer's condition.

Among the latest reports to reveal the falsity of these charges are statements from official sources of the new prosperity that has come within two years' time to the farmers of Whitfield and Putnam counties, one in northwest Georgia and the other in central Georgia and both representative of the best agricultural sections of the state.

Whitfield county's farmers received a much larger income from cotton in 1934 than in either of the two previous years. H. H. Crawford, chairman of the county committee, reported that statistics show a total valuation of the 1934 cotton crop of $505,360, as compared with $227,771 in 1932 and $448,747 in 1933.

Mr. Crawford further states: "We have seen the return of better times, and farmers have been able to pay bills due for years. They also have been able to pay back taxes. Generally speaking, the economic situation shows vast improvement."

In Putnam county, V. R. Ledbetter, county cotton chairman, announces that the income from cotton has tripled since 1932, when it was $96,298; that of 1934, $317,846. As in Whitfield, Putnam farmers are able to pay past-due taxes and debts overdue for years.

Then there is Upson county, where County Agent S. B. Adair reveals statistics showing that cotton income for 1934 was $265,604, compared with $99,623 in 1932 and $189,959 in 1933. And again we are told that "we have seen a return of better times and farmers have been able to pay bills past due for years."

The evidence exists for those who desire to see the bright side, instead of hunting for isolated instances of injustice resulting from the application of the control law. Thousands of farmers are now "living at home" who prior to 1930 produced only a small part of their food and feed. Thus the money they now receive for cotton is a real cash surplus. Formerly it has gone largely to farmers of the north and west for the purchase of food and feed. Now it is being used to purchase clothing, farm implements, household necessities, pay taxes and reduce debts.

The farmers know that the Roosevelt administration is the first to give attention to their necessities and supply the machinery that has put them on the road to prosperity. It will be a difficult matter for those willfully blind to the facts of the agricultural situation to convince any intelligent farmer that he should desert the man who has brought him prosperity and turn to the republican party of 5-cent cotton, 6-cent pork and 40-cent wheat.

Green mascara around the eyes is described as "in keeping with the trend to fantasy"—the first tie-up of cosmetics with the new economy.

The magazine that caricatured the emperor of Japan now calls Joe Louis a vegetable. It must keep the editor busy catching trains.

The Van Sweringens are once more in possession of their old collection of railroads—one of the few instances of winning the same bridge prize twice.

Britain isn't sore over the aspersions cast on her devious and underhand intriguing for peace; she is just terribly hurt.

The Morgan boys seem cheerful enough about taking a $45,000,000 loss on the Van Sweringens roads. As an income tax deduction it has all the earmarks of a honey.

Poses, sent out to locate the old-fashioned "fine Italian hand," want to know whether it is any use to continue.

This cotton surfacing, being tried on southern highways, fills a long-felt want. So often, after the collision, no one has a bandage.

A snake, escaped from a western zoo, was cornered in a tavern. Evidently a reptile of the homing species.

In Montana a surgeon operated on a man who swallowed a silver dollar. It is becoming tougher every day, it seems, to conceal an asset.

Insulting An Elephant.

ADDIS ABABA.—When an elephant-hunting expedition spots a herd of pachyderms, two men who are absolutely naked, ride up to the gigantic beasts on horseback and begin shouting at them. This is to make the herd nervous and stampede. But the hunters do not just shout anything. They call out: "My name is Thwat Schekol. I killed your father in such and such a place and your grandfather there and there. I have come to kill you now. You are not an elephant. You are only a damned donkey." Then they follow this up with a string of insulting and obscene names.

Since the days of Menelik the Great, when armed expeditions with modern rifles were sent into the brush to exterminate the ivory-bearing giants, it has been forbidden to insult elephants on the grounds that such a practice is the natives are concerned. A European may still get a hunting license and is allowed to proceed with a high-bore gun against the mammoths, but this privilege is now seldom granted by the emperor, who has the ivory monopoly.

As in Days Of Yore.

On my way to the frontier, I ran into a camp of Chankalla tribesmen, who were all excited because a vast herd of elephants had been sighted and they were stalking the animals through the undergrowth. They used no other weapon but their spears and shields. They handle these razor-sharp weapons with an inconceivable dexterity.

The game lasted all morning and better part of the afternoon. I have never heard such a close and life. It was the bull of the herd who was after because of his huge set of tusks, which sell for 500 thalers apiece in the government offices. But the bull was a shrewd old chancer and managed to avoid the traps the tribesmen were laying for him for several days. The hunters could have wounded him several times, but this was not the object, for a wounded bull elephant will either run away as fast as he can or he will charge and trample every creature in his path. The trick was to make him fall into one of the many holes which the Chankallas were digging frantically all over the neighborhood.

When they thought they had enough holes, the horsemen drove up and began their tantalizing shouts. The Chankallas actually believe that the mammoth understands their language. They dashed right up to the bull, who raised his trunk to smash the horse, but always just too late. The riders wheeled around and fired a few feet of the bull's trunk. Had the bull turned and fled the game would have been over, but that is exactly what the hunters sought to prevent. They kept his attention on the horse.

The Fans In The Bleachers.

About a hundred men were watching the procedure, howling encouragement and directions to the horsemen. Each time the cavaliers came a little closer to the infuriated animal, they stood there, trunk raised, his small eyes shifting menacingly from one side to the other, swaying his huge body and flapping his ears. While the elephant lurched toward the side of the horses, another rider slipped down with lightning speed and tried to take a slash at the elephant's feet with his assegai. The maneuver missed, and the bull noticed the whirling black figure right under his nose and flung him up in the air with a flip of his trunk. The man hit the ground with a smack and a snarl, and the elephant advanced to finish him to applause. But now the tribesmen were too quick for the bull. One of them had slipped under a lasso and was hanging by his arms. He was dragged to safety in a flash. The bull slowly retreated, walking backward.

As this was going on, I should say, the elephant-owners stood right behind their leader, trunks raised, but forming a sort of semi-circle so that nobody could approach the animal without getting a whack. Of course, the whole herd could have been laid low in a few minutes' time with rifles, but, as I pointed out, the prohibition in elephant hunting in Ethiopia and the natives observe certain sportsmanlike rules.

On Oct. 11, 1915, the Bulgarian army's invasion of Serbia at Kniashevatz, to the northeast of Nish. A little later another army of them crossed the frontier near Leskovatz. Exactly two years before the Balkan-Turkish war had begun—with Bulgaria and Serbia as allies.

The new Greek premier, Zaimis, announced a policy of "armed neutrality," and replied to a Serbian appeal for assistance (which English supported with an offer to "cede Cyprus") with the arguments that the Greco-Serbian mutual protective treaty had a "purely Balkan character" and applied only to a "war between one of the allied states and a single other power."

Zaimis had been forcibly installed as premier by the Germanophile king, Constantine. When the Venizelos ministry indicated its intention of respecting the Greco-Serbian treaty and using the Greek army to protect the Serbian flank from Bulgaria.

Constantine was playing fast and loose with Greece as Ferdinand was with Bulgaria, but he couldn't sell out his country as completely.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS FAIR WEIGH

By PAUL MALLON.

TRIMMING NEW ORLEANS.

It was not the kind of disintegration everyone has been looking for, but the absorption of a rough-tough dictatorship by quieter and different minds.

For instance, Huey forced the seven sessions of the legislature in the year before his death to enact a flock of laws. These were highly complicated. No Long leader knew the meaning of all of them, or the use to which Huey intended to put most of them. But everyone knew the purpose was to whip the agencies of democracy into use for the Long regime.

One law, simpler than the others, was typical. It provided that only a board of election commissioners could count election ballots. No one else could see them. The report of the commissioners was to be made only to Huey's governor. It would lock up all elections in Long's safe for some time to come.

But that is a little too raw for nearly all the politicians who are clenching at the Long scepter. They have given private assurances to persons of authority here that this particular law will be repealed.

SOFTENING This softening trend may also be discerned in the type of candidate who will run for governor on the Long ticket next time. He is Richard A. Leche, a judge who was formerly secretary to Governor O. K. Allen, the Long right arm. Mr. Leche never cared for the blackjack phase of the Long program. Those in a position to speak for him here say he has let all the Long leaders know that the rough stuff is out as far as he is concerned.

WEALTH-SHARING A similar development was noted by the boys at the political switches here when Huey's national wealth-sharing organizer, the Rev. G. L. K. Smith, entrusted for another state after Long died. It is hardly a disclosure to say that the other Long leaders do not care much for Mr. Smith. They have made no secret of it.

What is less obvious but equally true is that few of the Long leaders are at all extreme wealth-sharers at heart. Apparently they intend also to ditch that phase of the movement as quietly as possible.

There is one exception, the short-term candidate for Long's senatorial toga, Wade Martin. He will not be able to do much, however, because even his colleague, Senator Overton, has been known to cross his fingers frequently while hearing Long's extreme views on that subject.

BIG-HEARTED? You may naturally wonder why the .32-caliber big shots remaining in the Long crowd are so willing to share their inheritance.

The answer, as given by sound political authorities here, is that the Long regime was crumbling from within at the time he died. Otherwise there would have been no need for him to pass such measures as the stringent election law. If he was as strong as formerly, he could have won without such dangerous steps.

Furthermore, there was a real possibility of a musket revolution against the Long government, and there still is, unless the worst features of it are abolished, and democracy restored.

QUARRELING All this means it makes little material difference how soon the Long organization quarrels itself apart. The quarreling is only a post-mortem symptom and not the real dictatorial disease of which the patient has already died.

It is true they started arguing among themselves on the steps of the hospital within 15 minutes after Long was shot. They had a fairly good fight started before his body was cold. Later it has been patched up, and they may keep it patched for a while.

But the opposition draws few praises here for political acumen or efficiency. Some of its friends doubt its ability to do much more than make a few inroads at the coming January election.

The best guess is that the Long outfit will stay together for probably a year or longer in his name, but not in his spirit.

PROVISIONS

One of Huey's closest associates came to him on his deathbed and said substantially this: "You have often told me that you have made ample arrangements to care for your family. But no one knows how. I suggest you tell me how in case anything happens to you."

Huey did not answer, but turned to his doctor then or later, asked whether death was imminent. The physician was apparently unwilling to disclose Huey's real condition to the patient and replied in the negative. Huey asked how long before he would be up. The physician guessed it would be two weeks in bed and probably two weeks more in the hospital.

"Then I can make a speech within a month," Huey observed somewhat mysteriously. He died without answering the question.

WEALTH

There is a popular suspicion that Long was wealthy, that he had money hidden away, probably in New York. His intimates doubt that he had very much. His idea of money was that of any poor hillbilly who suddenly finds limitless avenues of more money opened to him. He liked to spend on clothes, and neckties, but he never carried any money in his pocket. When he needed some, he telephoned his good friend, a local businessman, and said: "Send over five hundred." He never paid a check himself.

Once, during a campaign trip, he was handed a contribution of $1,000 in small bills. He tossed these into his straw hat and handed the hat to a henchman. The befuddled henchman wrapped the stack in a used brown paper, but carried them around the rest of the trip in the hat. When the time came to pay a small luncheon bill, he unwrapped the paper and paid out $4.25, but continued to use the hat as a cash register.

That was Huey's casual appreciation of money. What he wanted was power. Money was only an incidental but powerful implement to that end.

THREAT

The straw hat bookkeeping system is what has confused the government agents trying to break up the Long dictatorship by income tax indictments. Nevertheless, those on the inside have been tipped that a half dozen more indictments have been ready for a week to be handed down by federal authorities. The highest in the Long camp are expected to be named in these charges. They have been delayed apparently to permit federal agents to see if they can get any additional information out of the current trial of the Long lieutenant, Abe Shushan.

The federales have been hinting for two years that they were going to indict Long, but never did. The inside reason is supposed to be that they dug up a $5,000 or $6,000 case against him and were afraid to prosecute because the amount was not sufficiently damaging. They are sponsoring a rumor now that they had a real case against Long in this latest batch of expected indictments.

When Two Know a Secret.

When they married he didn't tell her his secret. After all, he thought, the chance of discovery is remote and it would only worry her, too, if she knew.

Under the circumstances he should not have married at all, but his desire was stronger than his resolution. For twenty years they were happy together. Children were born and success crowned his work.

He was happy. Yet always his life was shadowed by the cloud, the haunting fear of discovery, the dread that his secret might remain a secret no longer.

As for her—she prided herself he had added to her content by withholding his confidence on this one thing.

The day came when he knew he was dying. Before his lips closed forever, he told her. He confessed the crime he had committed in the hot days of youth. Told her he was a murderer, a fugitive under an assumed name. Told her his true name and begged her forgiveness.

As he finished she stooped and softly kissed his lips.

"I have known it for twenty years," she said. "You know you sometimes

Back-Country Is American.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Back-Country Is American.

OCT. 10.—It is a good thing to get away from the New York-New England region now and again to rediscover that other sections of the country are inhabited by a distinctly different breed of cats. This is suggested by recent experience at the World Series in Detroit and Chicago. The crowds were largely local in both cities, but in each case the show sucked in considerable numbers of Americans from a large area around and about. As to whether they were merchants, employees, farmers or just what, there was no way of knowing without taking a census.

At any rate they seemed to be in funds and their mood was happy. They are a noisier lot when helling-around at night in the eastern part of the country than they are in the west. They were few dinner jackets in sight and fewer sales and minks.

A marked outward difference which cannot fail to be noticed by anyone who lives in the east and who has been comparatively few who have the "foreign" appearance. I would rather not describe the "foreign" appearance because it would be a generally too sweeping and make too many people sore. Nevertheless these people, on the streets and in all crowds, give an impression of being homogeneous, whereas a crowd in a New York way or a big, popular theater, for example, retains very distinct European or, anyway, alien characteristics.

I have seen many of the "foreign" types in a serious, not to say grim, way many of our heavy-duty thinkers during time without desire results. This is merely a report of an impression.

Little Thought For Europe. Eastern people do a lot of over-coming over foreign affairs. They are interested in matters of much less interest to their fellow countrymen elsewhere. The back countrymen seem to give very little thought to the plight of the Jews in Germany or the Catholics in Mexico. And the outbreak of the war in Ethiopia, after all those months of name-calling, and you're-another, left them cold. The papers were full of World Series and the first move of the Italian army had a hard time obtaining space next to pure reading matter.

Probably the extraordinary interest of the eastern people in foreign affairs is due to the fact that when immigration comes from Europe it tends to pile up at the point where it comes ashore or thereabouts. In that sense we are geographically closer to Europe and Europe's wars, racial hatreds, persecutions and other interests.

No Interest In Nazi Acts. I tried to draw people into discussion of the Olympic games and the Nazi mistreatment of the Jews. They were not interested one way or another. As reasonable people, they were not interested in the pretty rotten that one man should be voted the power of life, death and destiny over a big nation which has many sound, energetic citizens. And they didn't think the Jews should be abused. But, to them, Germany was a foreign country a long way off and anything that happened there was Germany's own business. But, more interesting than that, they were just uninterested. They didn't give the matter any thought.

They were not steamed up. They were not interested in the matter. They were just uninterested. They didn't give the matter any thought.

On the Mississippi river, the hitch-hike to which the steamboats tie up at the shore are the first born of the ground by great concrete blocks weighing tons and buried six feet deep. These blocks are called deep men. This country is the first born of the ground by great concrete blocks weighing tons and buried six feet deep. These blocks are called deep men.

It is called passover because the Angel of Death "passed over" the home of the Israelites and spared them from death when all the first born of Egypt were smitten, as the tenth plague was inflicted upon the Egyptians before they would release the Israelites from bondage. It celebrates Israel's deliverance from Egyptian bondage and is characterized by the joyous ceremony of the Seder, accompanied with song and great joy and thanksgiving.

Lag Bomer is observed on the 18th day of the month which falls on May 10 during the year of 1936. Because of the sad memories of cruel treatment of the Jews by the Romans, various activities and festive celebrations are prohibited from passover until this day, which is the 34th day of the counting of the Omer. On this day, however, the prohibitions are removed and it is made a joyous occasion.

Another reason for this happy celebration is to commemorate the miraculous cessation of a plague that raged among the pupils of the school of Rabbi Akiba. Hence it is also known as "The Scholar's Festival" and on that day the importance of study and education is stressed.

Arctic Pigs. The Soviet government has recently opened a new port and cooling station on Dixon Island, in the Kara sea, for the Russians are still preserving with an all-Arctic route from the White sea through the Behring straits to Vladivostok. In addition to a broadcasting station, a complete power and engineering plant and a number of kennels for breeding Arctic dogs, there will be a pig farm. In the past the few experiments that have been carried out in the direction of raising pigs bred in cold regions give fine bacon and are altogether free from disease. If the farm is a success, pig raising will be continued on a gigantic scale, and the meat exported to all parts of the Soviet empire.

MANY MORE AUTOISTS JOIN SAFE CAMPAIGN

The campus are growing steadily worse, Remington McConnell, editor of the Wheel, proposes that for the first violation of safe driving rules the perpetrator should be warned. On the second offense a letter should be sent the student's parents and, on third offense, the student should be forbidden to drive on the campus at all.

The Wheel will distribute Safe Driving pledges, furnished by The Constitution, among all students and will provide stickers for the cars of all pledge signers.

Sixty-nine drivers for the city sanitary department, H. J. Cates, superintendent, have signed the pledge and their guarantee for safe operation of all motor vehicles, whether belonging to the department or privately owned, reached the Safety Council yesterday.

P. T. A. Groups Active. Various Parent-Teacher Associations came through in magnificent manner yesterday. Fifty signed pledges were received from the Dallas Association, Mrs. Joe Mathers, president. The Louisville L. Kingsberry P. T. A., Mrs. C. R. Powell, president, sent in 55 pledges.

The Connelly School P. T. A. sent in 200 signed pledges through the safety chairman, Mrs. Ralph P. Henderson. From the Glenwood School P. T. A. in Decatur, Mrs. W. R. Williamson, president, came 50 signed pledges, with Mrs. A. J. Kroger, the safety chairman, continuing her drive for signers among all Decatur motorists.

Two More 100 Per Centers. A great boost for the campaign was received from the Southern Bell Telephone Company, which sent in 200 pledges and through J. M. Reeves agreed to be put on record among the 100 per cent organizations.

Another 100 per center of yesterday was the Atlanta Paper Company, with more than 100 signed pledges, while several dozen individual pledge signers sent in their agreements to observe the safe driving rules.

Lamar Ferguson, superintendent of the city schools of Decatur, in signing his pledge, wrote: "I feel that The Constitution is to be complimented for the effort it is putting forward in regard to 'Safety' in driving."

"It is our intention, in Decatur, to co-operate in every possible way to make our community a safe community in which to walk or drive and its streets safe for our children."

Faulty Headlights. R. H. Boykin, of Atlanta, points to the danger of cars driven at night with faulty headlights and states that on one trip from Athens to Atlanta, this week, he counted 32 cars with only one headlight burning and six with none at all.

Also, says Mr. Boykin, 12 cars passed him illegally while mounting a hill and six broke the driving laws by passing him on curves.

"It is a pleasure to sign this Safe Driving pledge," writes Dr. J. R. McDaniel, dentist of Decatur. "I congratulate and commend you for the future, as I have done in the past, abide by these rules for safe driving."

"I am heartily in favor of this wonderful campaign you have inaugurated and must join you on until you get the signatures of every auto driver in the state," says a letter from the Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben, pastor of the Capitol View Methodist church.

King asserted his committee is ready to report, with the exception of studying evidence, and he declared that unless someone wishes to testify before his group, he will not hear other witnesses.

Chairman Barrow said the investigation of the police department was progressing. His committee has questioned more than 30 witnesses so far.

Two women clerks in the courthouse were also called yesterday in connection with the case. It was understood, with a charge by Longino that Dr. Adams had ordered them to strike off the name of R. H. Turnipseed from the pay roll.

It was believed the grand jury spent some time investigating this angle. Turnipseed was secretary of a grand jury which was, like the present one, required by law to probe county affairs.

Another witness yesterday was Fred C. Woodall, insurance agent, whom Johnson charged was required to split his county insurance commission with A. P. Smith, brother-in-law of Longino.

No. 3—MIST AND FOG

SO LOW as there is light we may skip around at a lively rate over this old globe of ours. We may span oceans in surprising time. We may cross the continent from sun-up to sun-down.

But every now and then Mother Nature decides to put us in our place, and of all her devices to make us slow down, none is more effective than mist and fog.

Now we may not have to contend with fog and mist very frequently, but we're bound to now and then, and when we do, it can cause us a lot of annoyance and trouble.

When a good heavy fog comes on land, at sea or in the air—everything that moves, moves with caution. The ocean liner slows down several knots an hour. Lightships signal, buoys sound and foghorns boom. Airlines ground their planes and cancel trips.

Even trains on tracks reduce their speed—and we drivers on the highways, too, must make our way cautiously through that baffling screen. For one thing is true. In spite of all our progress, transportation still depends on pairs of eyes in human heads.

Scientists who have studied fog, say that it is composed of tiny drops of water. These drops are so small and light that they hang in the air, and so close together that light can hardly get through them. Instead, these little mist-drops reflect the rays back in our eyes. But if they're pointing downward, the rays are deflected toward the road.

Then they say it's a good idea to guide by the road edge at our right, and if we have a spotlight on our car, to focus it right on that road edge, close to the front of the car, so the edge will be clearly lighted. But we have to keep a good weather eye ahead, too, because fog veils more than the road. It hides not only things on the road but such things as roadside warnings of curves and hills and intersections. Even the traffic light's red and green signal rays have the same hard time that our headlights do getting through that strange haze. In fact, in a good heavy fog, the best we can do for our vision is none too good. And so the main thing to do is to slow down. The ships have to do it. The trains have to do it. And we have to do it too. If we won't make up our minds to that, they tell us the best thing we can do is to pull off the road, or if we have not yet started out, we had better just stay home.

But seeing in fog and mist is only half the story. We not only have to see, but we also have to be seen. Headlights properly adjusted are strong enough to do their duty in pointing us out to people coming from the opposite direction. And, in addition, some drivers use their horns like foghorns by giving them a toot every now and then. But another thing we have to think of is to be sure drivers behind us see us. That's why it's so important to have our stop-light and tail-light working when we're driving in fog. And so it's a good thing to make sure that these lights are working and to wipe off those little red glasses if they happen to be covered with mud. If the weather's clear and our tail-light has gone out, the other fellow's lights may point us out fairly well. But if his headlights are fighting fog, they can't do much to protect us.

So, when all is said and done, driving in fog is just a matter of having our headlights and tail-lights right and being a little more careful. If we do that, we can drive our cars safely, even through Nature's stubborn obstacles of mist and fog.

derful campaign you have inaugurated and must join you on until you get the signatures of every auto driver in the state," says a letter from the Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben, pastor of the Capitol View Methodist church.

Noted Surgeon To Speak

DR. GEORGE W. CRILE.

FAMOUS SURGEON TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Dr. George Crile, of Cleveland, Will Address Fulton Medical Society.

Dr. George W. Crile, of Cleveland, chairman of the board of regents of the American College of Surgeons and internationally recognized authority on goiter and its treatment, will speak at 8 o'clock tonight at the Academy of Medicine under the auspices of the Fulton County Medical Society.

The address will be the first given under the Floyd Wilcox McRae Memorial lectureship, the subject being "The Genesis and Surgical Treatment of Malignant Hypertension." Hypertension is what is commonly known as "high blood pressure."

Dr. Crile is regarded as one of America's leading surgeons. He was one of the organizers and served as the second president of the American College of Surgeons, Atlanta and Georgia fellows of the organization will honor him at a dinner to be held at 6 o'clock at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel. All Georgians who are fellows in the college are urged to be present.

Discovery of a system of blood transfusion and perfection of the "nerve block" system in the treatment of anesthesia are among his outstanding original contributions to surgical knowledge.

He was graduated from Ohio Northern and Western Reserve universities, studied in Vienna, Paris and holds honorary degrees from the University of Glasgow, the University of Dublin and several leading universities of the United States. He was decorated during the World War by Great Britain, France and the United States.

MONARCHY IN GREECE IS ORDERED RESTORED

Imperial Prince Manuel of Greece, came here in exile. He has become a naturalized Spaniard.

Then he took his cabinet before the assembly to get the approval he needed to bring George II back to the throne he abandoned on December 18, 1926, to make way for establishment of the republic.

The little man of the hour entered the assembly hall at 6:35 p. m., to the accompaniment of wild applause. The legislators acted to junk the republic with enthusiasm and dispatch.

Before the assembly met, Kondylis told newspapermen his government would be purely temporary pending the return of the king while Premier Tsaldaris announced: "We did not resign. We were turned out."

As for the president, Kondylis said the new government would "ignore" it. The assembly, it was believed, would adjourn shortly until the king reconvenes it.

Military forces in garrisons throughout the country welcomed the news of the coup d'état jubilantly.

Yet it was one of the most peaceful in the history of Greece, the country passing into complete control of the armed forces at noon without so much as a bugle being blown.

Strike Against War.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10.—(UP)—A general strike, called for 11 a. m. Saturday in protest against Italian aggression in Ethiopia, was announced tonight by the national committee for proletarian defense. Some unions declared they would stop work for 20 minutes only, while others ordered a 24-hour halt.

ROOSEVELT DAY GROUP APPOINTED BY MAYOR

Mrs. George Ripley Named Co-Chairman With Major Trammell Scott.

Appointing Mrs. George Ripley, well-known leader of women's activities, as co-chairman with Major Trammell Scott, whose appointment was previously announced, Mayor Key yesterday named his full local committee which will handle the Roosevelt home-coming celebration in conjunction with state committees to be appointed later by Erle Coker, general chairman of arrangements.

Mr. Coker said he was in the process of forming his committees and they would be ready for announcement shortly.

Major General George Van Horn Moseley, the army fourth corps area commander, whose offer of assistance has been accepted by the congressional delegation which will be the President's official host, was named on the mayor's committee as was Brigadier General Robert O. Van Horn, commanding officer of Fort McPherson. Roosevelt Clubs Meet.

The steering committee of the Georgia Roosevelt Clubs met here last night and completed plans for statewide co-operation in extending a welcome to President Roosevelt when he speaks here.

Major G. P. O'Keefe, secretary, said a committee would confer today with Erle Coker, general chairman of arrangements for the occasion, to have each county allotted a space so the Georgia Roosevelt Clubs might be present in a body.

A committee also was appointed to get out buttons and badges for identification purposes.

Major O'Keefe said letters were received from 25 or 30 counties which already were organizing and added that plans for financing the clubs were completed. Major Trammell Scott, chairman of the Atlanta committee on arrangements for the welcome celebration, met with the committee group.

Valdosta municipal officials have declared a city-wide holiday on the day the President speaks in Atlanta. A motorcade is being planned.

Governor Talmadge, who was out of the city Tuesday when the congressional delegation led him out the celebration program, returned to Atlanta yesterday and said that when the President comes to Georgia he would welcome him officially.

The full committee appointed by the mayor follows: Major Trammell Scott, chairman; Mrs. George Ripley, co-chairman; Major Moseley, Brigadier General Robert O. Van Horn, Colonel Fonville McWhorter, W. A. Simon, Charles H. Cox, Herbert R. Jackson, Robert Garner, Alex. Conner, John M. Stinson Jr., Colonel J. C. Woodward, Scott Candler, Wiley L. Moore.

George Ripley, associate chairman; Major General George Van Horn Moseley, Brigadier General Robert O. Van Horn, Colonel Fonville McWhorter, W. A. Simon, Charles H. Cox, Herbert R. Jackson, Robert Garner, Alex. Conner, John M. Stinson Jr., Colonel J. C. Woodward, Scott Candler, Wiley L. Moore.

Joan Crawford Star
In New Film at Grand
Richly caparisoned, vivid and gay, "I Live My Life" brings Joan Crawford to Loew's Grand theater today in the company of a distinguished group of players, including Brian Aherne, her new leading man; Frank Morgan, Aline MacMahon, Eric Blore, Fred Koenig and Jessie Ralph. W. S. Van Dyke, who directed "The Thin Man" and "Forsaking All Others," produced this film, with all the wit, sparkle and characteristic of his work. "I Live My Life" promises to rank with the most impressive films of Joan Crawford's career.

Mrs. Crawford is seen as Kay Bentley, bored during a yacht cruise on the Mediterranean, she leaves her father's ship to explore the romantic shore. Here she encounters Terry O'Neill (Brian Aherne), a serious-minded young man, already distinguished as an archaeologist. Kay tells him she is his father's secretary and for the few days they are together both are very happy. Terry falls in love with the girl, never guessing that she is reputedly one of the world's richest heiresses.

Against backgrounds of great beauty and variety, "I Live My Life" tells the story of Kay's dilemma. Affection and loyalty for her father and her love for Terry, who is a well-to-do, if often casual and dissipated friend, incline her to marry her wealthy suitor. But she is very deeply in love with Terry, despite her previous unwise and sparkie characteristic of his work. "I Live My Life" promises to rank with the most impressive films of Joan Crawford's career.

Fourth Week Begins
For Colbert Picture
Claudette Colbert's great triumph, "She Married Her Boss," goes into the fourth week of its run at the Rialto today. So consistent has been the attendance ever since this production made its bow to Atlanta in the specially redecorated and renovated theater, that Manager W. R. Murray has had no choice but to continue its run in order that all who want to see it—some several times—may have the opportunity.

The picture has more than lived up to the advance claims which classed it as a splendid successor to "It Happened One Night," that other Columbia production in which Claudette Colbert scored such an outstanding success. In fact, many who have seen the new picture assert that "She Married Her Boss" is the better and more entertaining screen offering of the two.

Melvyn Douglas and Michael Bartlett, the picture's leading male roles, opposite Miss Colbert, while others in the cast who contribute much to its success include Edith Fellows, a "spoiled rich" who is so mean you delight in her hatefulness, Jean Dixon as the wise-cracking friend of the secretary-wife and Clara Kimball Young, who brings back her acting wizardry of old in the role of a man.

Manager Murray has not neglected the "added attractions" portions of his program and the short subjects to be seen are all fully worthy of the exceptional feature. If you are one of those who have procrastinated to do it no longer, this is the fourth week and your final chance to enjoy one of the most delicious bits of screen entertainment of the year.

New Shirley Temple
Picture at Paramount
The happiest picture of Shirley Temple's career, "Curly Top," comes to the Paramount theater today. It is a charming story of a little girl who captures the heart of a lonely bachelor and makes both their dreams come true. Shirley has two new songs to sing and several new and intricate dance routines.

In this Fox film comedy-drama, John Boles cast as a bachelor who adopts Shirley and her big sister, Rochelle Hudson. His generosity takes them from the drab and dreary atmosphere of an orphanage to the sunny summer surroundings of a palatial home in Southampton. There the romance of Boles and Rochelle Hudson flourishes under the childish guidance of little Shirley.

Shirley is really happy in this picture, for she has the opportunity of displaying her full talents when she sings "Animal Crackers in My Soup" and "When I Grow Up."

Shirley is not the only one to sing. John Boles sings "It's All So New to Me" and "Curly Top," while Rochelle Hudson sings "The Simple Things in Life."

Ray Henderson, America's ace song writer, wrote the melodies for the song numbers for "Curly Top," which was produced by Winfield Sheehan and directed by Irving Cummings.

'Men Without Names'
Featured at Georgia
"Men Without Names," the Paramount picture of the exploits of the Department of Justice men, which starts today at the Georgia theater, presents the heroic crime fighters as men who take romance and thrills in their stride with equal calm and efficiency.

Featuring Fred MacMurray, the handsome star of "The Gilded Lily," and Madge Evans, the picture shows how the famous "D. J." men use science, skill and bravery in America's war on gangster.

Catching the gang guilty of a brutal armored truck robbery is the task assigned to MacMurray, as the department agent in this film. When he meets Madge Evans his task is made more difficult. He falls in love with the girl and doesn't dare divulge his real identity.

Lynne Overman, another agent, comes to his aid. Between them they trace the mobsters to their hiding place, but Overman becomes overzealous and is killed.

How MacMurray exacts revenge for his friend's murder, rounds up the gang and wins the girl is revealed in the rapid-fire events that close the picture.

Capitol Has Contest
Of Colored Amateurs
In compliance with numerous requests from patrons the Capitol theater tonight at 9 o'clock, will present a contest of colored amateurs. The contest will provide plenty of entertainment as Auburn avenue's greatest tap dancers, singers, imitators and quartet will each offer for the prizes offered by the management.

There will be three prizes. The first is a second week of the Capitol and the second a one month pass to the Capitol.

This added attraction on the stage augments the regular program. "Storm Over the Andes," the screen attraction offers Jack Holt in one of the most thrilling and beautifully photographed features of the season, "Stepping Stars," the current stage show presents one of vaudeville's most novel acts, "The Musical Stairway."

Starting Sunday the Capitol will present "Charlie Chan in Shanghai" on the screen and "Cavalcade of Stars" on the stage.

SLAYER OF 2 CHILDREN
MAY ENTER PEN TODAY
Stepfather Says Wife Believed Youngsters Were Drowned Accidentally.

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Ferdinand Rowland, 36-year-old farmer-woodman, may go to the prison today within the next 24 hours, officers said today, for the confessed slaying of his two small stepdaughters who "died" in his way.

Rowland calmly repeated for officers here his account of taking the girls, Katherine Woodin, 6, and Virginia Woodin, 4, to Long Beach, where the night of September 17, twisting a wire weighted with a plow point around their necks, and "tipping" them into 25 feet of water. The bodies were recovered Wednesday night.

Theodore G. Bowler, Clark county prosecutor, said the prisoner had repudiated his assertion to officers who arrested him in St. Louis yesterday that his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Rowland, did not do the deed. The girls were dead, but believed they had been given to a family in Flint, Mich., for adoption.

"She knew they were in the lake, but thought they drowned accidentally," Bowler said Rowland told him during the ride from St. Louis where Rowland was traced through letters written to relatives in Michigan.

Mrs. Rowland, held at Harrison, Mich., without charge, was to be confronted with her husband's statement. She has insisted she knew nothing of his plan to drown the children.

WARNING TO LEAGUE SOUNDED BY BRITON

Minister of Agriculture Says Failure at Geneva Would Change British Attitude.

By CHARLES P. NUTTER.
LONDON, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Failure of the League of Nations to restrain Italy from war would force Great Britain to revise its attitude toward its international obligations. Walter Elliott, minister of agriculture, warned today.

The warning that Britain would have to "reconsider" its obligations to the League has already been reiterated in high government circles and is generally regarded as no idle threat, especially in view of the apparent certainty that international affairs will play a vital part in the November elections.

The British press, while violently debating the wisdom, expediency and necessity of holding the general elections in November, nevertheless, is unanimous in predicting that they will be determined by the public approval of the government's recent conduct in international affairs.

The Manchester Guardian was one of the newspapers which joined in the vigorous condemnation of the possibility of immediate elections, calling it "a piece of sharp practice and political expediency wholly unnecessary at this time."

Elliott, addressing the Conservative Club in Glasgow, declared that if Britain's strong line of action did not lead to a successful conclusion at Geneva, "it is clear we in this country will need to revise our attitude toward our international obligations and to take the necessary steps to preserve our own security."

That assertion was accepted in informed circles to presage the development of a British isolationist policy coupled with a strong rearmament program should the League fail to back up Britain's lead or should that lead fail to result in Italy in further invasion of Ethiopia.

POLITICAL TRIO.

Arkansas Negro Triplets Named for Democrats.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Oct. 10.—(AP) A negro couple of near Lamartine, Columbia county, Arkansas, displayed a distinct political-mindedness in the naming of their triplets, two boys and a girl, born today, as Franklin D. Huey P. and Hattie C. falling back on the given names of the President, the late Louisiana senator, and Arkansas' woman member of the United States senate.

DO YOU SUFFER
CATARRHAL Congestion?

A trial will convince you of quick relief that comes as warm medical smoke from Dr. Klosser's Medical Cigarettes penetrates treating passages, loosening phlegm and relieving congestion. Highly effective for easing spasms of Asthma and Hay Fever.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

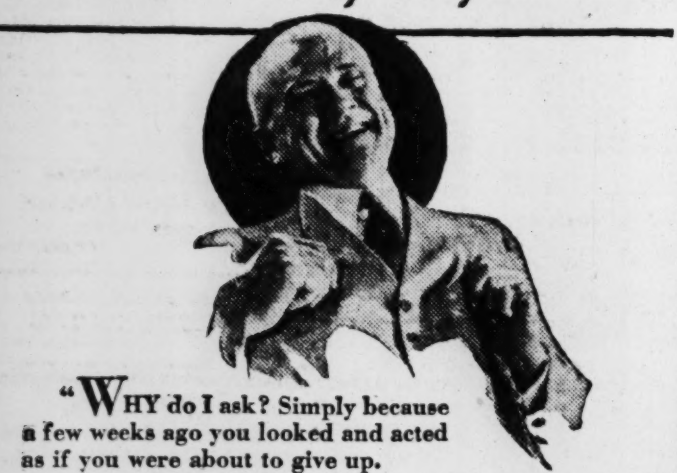

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS.

5 P.M. is a test of how you FEEL

"How do I feel....
Swell!—why do you ask?"

"What happened?"

This man reasoned that his body needed toning-up... and he put his faith in S.S.S. Blood Tonic because he knew and believed in it by reputation. He took a course of S.S.S., with happy results, of course.

There are scientific findings back of S.S.S. effectiveness. If you have a lagging appetite... a general let-down feeling... a don't-care, tired attitude toward people and things... look to your blood cells. Why? Because they carry the very oxygen you breathe to the tissues... making use of food factors for the production of energy... tissue repair... body tone... muscular and mental freshness.

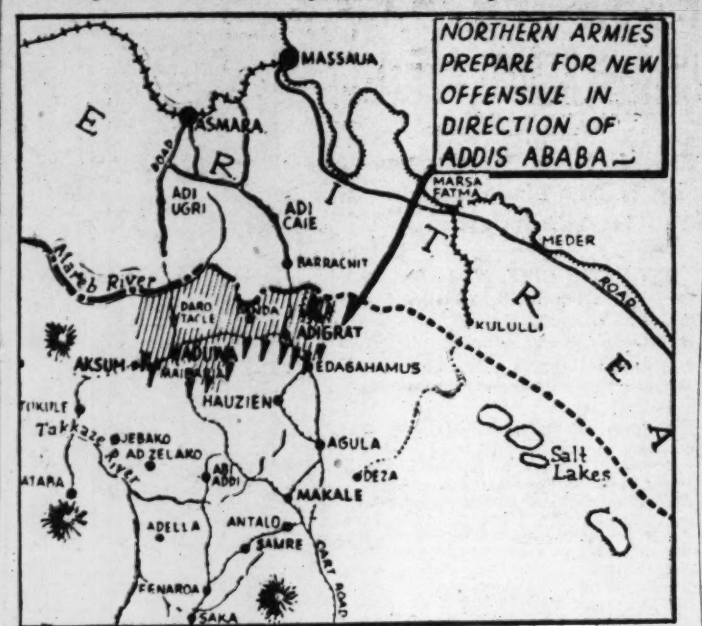

S.S.S. starts the gastric juices in the stomach and provides, too, the minerals the body requires in rebuilding those red cells... that work, worry, and the way we live, have broken down.

It is interesting to know that the blood makes a complete circuit of the body about 200 times daily. The strength of the blood depends upon its tiny cells and their hemoglobin content. If you suspect a lowered blood count, which is a common cause of paleness, loss of strength and vitality, do give S.S.S. a trial. At all drug stores.

You are invited to listen in every Friday night to the S.S.S. Music Box Hour—over Mutual Broadcasting Network (WFLW-FOR-WGN-CKLW)—Good old-fashioned music. 50 artists. 9:30 p.m., E.S.T.

The shaded area in the above map of northern Ethiopia indicates the territory seized by the invading Italians. The armies are now preparing for an advance on Makale, on the route to Addis Ababa. Heavy fighting is also reported in southern Ethiopia. Associated Press.

Ogaden Defenders Lurk Like Quail, Waiting, Invisible for Foes' Attack

By LAURENCE STALLINGS.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

HARAR, Ethiopia, Oct. 10.—The Ogaden roads lack soldiers now where, last week, every red hut through this green paradise bristled with arms. It is necessary to use a sharp eye to find troops now. They lurk like quail, invisible beneath the underbrush.

The entire countryside lies exposed to air raids that are expected soon. Hence, troop concentrations are concealed.

Departure of the Belgian military instructors leaves the modern infantry guarding the Harar-Jijiga road free from European supervision.

The first time the tranquility of Ogaden is striking after the propaganda of the excitement of Addis Ababa, where the rulers of the plateau know the tricks of swaying public opinion. On a two-day journey from Addis Ababa to Dire Dawa with 130 departing Italians, this correspondent discovered little of the feeling that war strikes into a country.

The villages still are living their idle life, with the concerns of the market place directed only toward problems of food, mules, fruits and flour. However, the able-bodied fighting men are missing from these villages, and it is mainly the women, children and elders who carry on business as usual.

How much the Ethiopians believed England was capable of preventing the war is evident in the slight defense preparations along the railway line. A few guards were seen at the bridges over the Awash region. Occasionally there were Danakils building stone platforms or guns, notably in the vicinity of Awash. But relatively little military activity disturbs the peace of the high, fertile plateau.

Ogaden expects to be in the midst of battle soon, and every citizen awaits the coming struggle. Tremendous red crosses have been painted on the hospital roofs. The Ethiopians have taken advantage of the World War lesson to locate such signs strategically near natural targets. For example, a huge red cross appears on a building adjacent to the palace of the Duke of Harar.

The absence of priests and nuns and the former Italian residents makes a noticeable change in the aspect of the groups in the streets. The British here, taking their cue from the superb coolness of Consul Andrews, appear unruffled despite the fact they are remaining in the probable strategic center of an approaching invasion.

The roads where photographs of military operations were permitted last week are resolutely blocked now. The soldiers guarding the Jijiga gate smile pleasantly, but it is impossible to pass that deadline, regardless of cajolery.

from Addis Ababa to Dire Dawa with 130 departing Italians, this correspondent discovered little of the feeling that war strikes into a country.

The villages still are living their idle life, with the concerns of the market place directed only toward problems of food, mules, fruits and flour. However, the able-bodied fighting men are missing from these villages, and it is mainly the women, children and elders who carry on business as usual.

How much the Ethiopians believed England was capable of preventing the war is evident in the slight defense preparations along the railway line. A few guards were seen at the bridges over the Awash region. Occasionally there were Danakils building stone platforms or guns, notably in the vicinity of Awash. But relatively little military activity disturbs the peace of the high, fertile plateau.

Ogaden expects to be in the midst of battle soon, and every citizen awaits the coming struggle. Tremendous red crosses have been painted on the hospital roofs. The Ethiopians have taken advantage of the World War lesson to locate such signs strategically near natural targets. For example, a huge red cross appears on a building adjacent to the palace of the Duke of Harar.

The absence of priests and nuns and the former Italian residents makes a noticeable change in the aspect of the groups in the streets. The British here, taking their cue from the superb coolness of Consul Andrews, appear unruffled despite the fact they are remaining in the probable strategic center of an approaching invasion.

The roads where photographs of military operations were permitted last week are resolutely blocked now. The soldiers guarding the Jijiga gate smile pleasantly, but it is impossible to pass that deadline, regardless of cajolery.

was asked by Selassie to depart immediately. The ruler's charge d'affaires in Rome, Negrasda Yesu, also has been recalled. This severing diplomatic relations between Italy and Ethiopia. "Victory" for Il Duce.

Many thought the emperor's action in asking Vinciguerra to quit the country was a tacit victory for Premier Mussolini, who thus avoided recalling the envoy himself.

Vinci told the government he would like to remain here until his two consular agents from Magalo arrive, probably Sunday, but that his dozen aids could leave immediately.

He protested against the Ethiopian charge that he had used his legation radio after being requested not to.

Indications were he would be permitted to remain a few days, if he insists, but the emperor ordered he wait at Bishofton, Modjo, or some other resort near the capital from which he may be expelled at any time.

Italian interests will be taken over temporarily by the Belgian minister until Rome makes definite arrangements. Italian property in Ethiopia, both private and official, is worth hundreds of millions of lire, Vinci said.

Much concern was felt here for the 30 Italian Catholic missionaries in the interior who have refused to leave except on orders from the pope.

to find an outlet?" he asked. "Why doesn't it realize it must remove the causes of war and give Italy some great open spaces where Italians may breathe?"

An icy stillness prevailed after Aloisi's impassioned plea. In contrast, most delegates warmly applauded a speech by Teale Hawariate, the Ethiopian delegate, who said: "The Ethiopian government is ready to conclude an honorable peace... but however long this war may last, it will not give way to force."

There was silence again when Dr. Eduard Benes, of Czechoslovakia, president of the assembly, announced if no more nations desired to join Italy, Austria and Hungary in expressing "a contrary view," he would record their silence as approval of the council's indictment of Italy. No one raised a voice.

An unofficial estimate of those in closest touch with the "general staff," or co-ordination committee, is that sanctions are likely to begin to be applied by the end of next week.

Representatives of every member of the League except Italy and Ethiopia, the assembly's steering committee decided, will serve on a committee to institute sanctions.

ALOISI TO DEMAND
BRITISH EXPLANATION

ROME, Oct. 11.—(Friday)—(AP)—News Britain's postoffice had choked off the intended American broadcast by Baron Aloisi arrived too late for official comment this morning, but press reports from Italian correspondents at Geneva indicated Aloisi would seek an official explanation from the British delegation.

Morning newspapers splurged the story in big type, and there was a tendency in press circles to consider the action a preventive and arbitrary application of sanctions.

HUNGARY'S BREAK
HELD NECESSITY

BY GUSTAV KADAR.
(Managing director of the Hungarian Discount Exchange Bank written for the Associated Press.)

BUDAPEST, Oct. 10.—In my opinion it would be impossible for a business viewpoint for Hungary to participate in economic sanctions against Italy.

The present Hungarian economic system is based on an Italo-Austrian-Hungarian trade agreement which assures for wheat and other agricultural products prices which could not be obtained under any other arrangement.

To repeal this pact would upset the economic life of Hungary because without the agreement the government would have to pay subsidies to agriculture as it did before the triangular understanding. The nation would be unable to bear this burden because the taxpayers are exhausted.

which that body proposes to levy against Italy. There could be no doubt, however, that he had such sanctions in mind when he issued his statement.

The League proposes in its sanctions to proscriber all trade, "financial, commercial and social, relationship between Italy and the rest of the world."

Hull in his statement said: "The language of the President's statement has a thoroughly well-defined meaning and every person would be able to grasp its meaning and its implications. Technically of course, there is no legal prohibition—apart from the proclamation governing the export of arms—against our people entering into transactions with the belligerents."

"The warning given by the President in his proclamation concerning travel on belligerent ships and his-general warning that during the war any of our people who voluntarily engage in transactions of any character with either of the belligerents do so at their own risk, were based on the policy and purpose of keeping this country out of war—keeping it from being drawn into war. It certainly was not intended to encourage transactions with the belligerents."

5 ARE ARRESTED IN YOUTH'S DEATH

Blood-Stained Negro Held
After Louisiana Robbery-Slaying.

THIBODAUX, La., Oct. 10.—(AP) Sheriff Thomas Stark said tonight five suspects had been taken into custody in connection with the holdup of a filling station here during which Raymond Toups, 14, attendant, was killed with an iron pipe.

The sheriff said Clarence Davis, negro worker on a plantation near here, was arrested when blood was discovered on his clothing.

Percy Toups, owner of the station and brother of the victim, said he discovered the body in a wash-room when he returned from lunch. Eight dollars was taken from the cash till. Four men were taken into custody near Morgan City, La., as they were driving over a bridge there in an automobile bearing a Pennsylvania license.

13-YEAR-OLD BOY HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 10.—(AP) The case of a 13-year-old boy indicted for an alleged revenge murder today was transferred from circuit court to juvenile court for disposition.

The boy, Eugene (Dick) Simpson, was indicted yesterday by a Tuscaloosa county grand jury on first-degree murder charges in the slaying of Patrolman Oscar Applin, 28, in Northport, two weeks ago.

Judge Henry B. Foster this afternoon ordered the case transferred from circuit court to the juvenile court presided over by Judge Herbert Findley, as the boy's age was established at 13 years.

WOMEN DESCRIBE NEW MEXICO RIOT

Two Witnesses Heard in Trial of 10 Mine Strike
Slayers.

AZTEC, N. M., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Two women who viewed the bloodshed from a rooftop gave a district court jury today their accounts of the bloody April 4 riots at Gallup, N. M., in which a sheriff and two rioters were slain.

Testifying in the murder trial of 10 men accused of the riot slayings, Mrs. Edna Arcus told the jury she saw the crowd scatter apparently at a signal from an unidentified woman.

Her testimony was offered to substantiate the state's contention the slayings resulted from an organized movement to free three defendants in an eviction suit which arose as the climax of a Gallup mine strike.

Mrs. Arcus and Mrs. B. B. Weiler said they watched the crowd from a rooftop and saw 100 persons surge from the front of a justice of the peace office, where the eviction hearing was held, to an alley where the fatal shots were fired, killing Sheriff M. R. Carmichael and two rioters.

Mrs. Weiler said she saw some of the rioters holding sticks and clubs.

MISSISSIPPI SOLONS FAVOR RELIEF BOARD

Close Vote Marks Fight To Take Control From Governor's Group.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 10.—(AP)—By the close vote of 21 to 20, the state senate today amended its finance committee's substitute "unemployment" relief bill, to take control of the four-month emergency program from the hands of the board to be appointed by the Governor and place it in the hands of the board of elective state officers.

By an overwhelming viva voce vote, the senate defeated an amendment by Senator Frank Harper, of Hattiesburg, to make the relief setup a permanent organization.

The personnel of the proposed emergency welfare board was changed by an amendment offered by Senator John Lumpkin, of Lumberton. It places administration of the emergency relief fund of $1,000,000 in the hands of a board composed of the Governor, the state superintendent of education, the commissioner of agriculture, state health officer and the president of the Mississippi Federated Women's Clubs.

Stone Marker Unveiled on Site of Battle of Atlanta

Impressive ceremonies marked dedication of the marker which the Old Guard yesterday placed at Peachtree road and Peachtree Battle avenue to commemorate the Battle of Atlanta, fought on July 19, 1864, and to pay tribute to the soldiers who fought in the country's three great wars. Misses Laetitia Torrance Chalmers, left, and Cecilia Wright Lawrence, are seen unveiling the marker. On the speakers' platform are seen, from left to right, Quimby Melton, past national vice commander of the American Legion, who dedicated the marker in behalf of the Legion; Kenneth R. Murrell, of the Legion, who presided, and Colonel Franklin S. Chalmers, commandant of the Old Guard.

chairman, Senator John Kyle, of Sardis, provided for an appointive board of five members to be named by the Governor.

Marker on Site of Battle of 1864 Dedicated by Old Guard of Atlanta

Echoes not only of war but of peace sounded yesterday afternoon when the Old Guard placed a marker on Peachtree Battle avenue, near Peachtree road, commemorating the Battle of Atlanta on July 19, 1864, and paying honor to the soldiers who fought "valiantly and nobly" in their country's three great wars.

"The most cherished thought that permeates our hearts as we gather here this afternoon is that we are a united nation," said Major General George Van Horn Moseley, commandant of the fourth corps area, one of the principal speakers. "Two great wars have been won by sons of the men who wore the blue, fighting shoulder to shoulder with sons of the men who wore the gray."

Colonel Franklin S. Chalmers gave the call to order, followed by the Rev. H. H. Dillard's brief invocation. Quimby Melton, past national vice commander of the American Legion, gave the dedicatory address in behalf of the Legion.

"I pray with all the fervor taught me by a God-fearing and God-serving father and mother that America will not forget the lessons she should have learned in 1917 and 1918," said Mr. Melton. "There's nothing fine about war."

"God knows the American Legion does not want America to participate in another European war. We will fight for the United States, but we won't fight for Italy and we won't fight for Ethiopia."

The Legionnaire pointed out that America's entrance into the World War was "prompted by those who wished to profit." In dedicating the marker Mr. Melton said:

"Today we unveil this marker in honor of the soldiers of America and of Dixie, whose valor and bravery form the brightest pages in our nation's history."

Representatives of every civic and patriotic organization of Atlanta were on the platform. Kenneth Murrell, commandant of the fifth district of the Legion, presided.

When taps were sounded by Miss Frances Stewart, mascot of the Legion's drum and bugle corps, there was intense silence. The marker then unveiled by Misses Laetitia Torrance Chalmers and Cecilia Wright Lawrence.

The inscription reads in part: "On this historic ground, located here, Confederate soldiers, defending Atlanta, met and disputed the southward advance of federal troops along Peachtree road." There follows a tribute to the soldiers of the Spanish-American and World Wars.

The dedication was attended by all military organizations of the state. Guests were R. A. Garner, commandant of Atlanta Post No. 1 of the Legion; Charles William Bernhardt, commandant of the Old Guard; and Colonel Murrell, who presided.

ROBINSON TAKES STAND TO TESTIFY ABOUT SON

Stoll Suspect Recounts Confinement of Youth to Asylum.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Thomas H. Robinson Jr., testifying in his own defense at his trial in federal court here today on a charge of complicity in the kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, related to the jury his efforts to rehabilitate his eccentric son, Thomas H. Robinson Jr., who is hunted as the abductor of the Louisville society belle a year ago today.

The elder Robinson took the stand after his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frances A. Robinson, wife of the fugitive, told the jury she had no part in any conspiracy to kidnap Mrs. Stoll. The Robinsons, who are being tried jointly, again were denied a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

The elder Robinson testified junior's first difficulty was a divorce suit in 1927. About two years later, he said, the youth committed a jewelry robbery.

He said Robinson Jr. then was adjudged insane and committed to a state asylum. After the youth had been in the asylum 30 days, he obtained his release because he was being confined in a ward.

Robinson said he had worked for many years for the Nashville Bridge Company. His work, he said, was designing bridges, estimating costs and preparing contracts for the erection.

For many years, he testified, he used the bridge company's numerical "cipher" of representing figures by letters. The characters DLTB on the wall of the Indianapolis apartment alleged by the government to have been the hideout of Robinson Jr. when Mrs. Stoll was held captive, the address, said, meant 2735, the address of the apartment on North Meridian street.

Robinson Jr. denied junior ever told him he had rented the apartment.

SHUSHAN SAYS 'GRAFT' WAS POLITICAL FUNDS

Long Ally, However, Blocked by Court in Effort To Prove It.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The defense revealed today at the trial of Abraham Shushan for alleged income tax evasions, that it will seek to show certain funds the government charges flowed into the defendant's hands as "graft" or "kickbacks" from the New Orleans levee board contracts, actually were "political contributions" to Louisiana.

The defense, however, was blocked by Judge Julius William H. Barrett from attempting to establish through cross-examination of a government witness the Standard Dredging Company, of New Orleans, which Shushan was a close political associate of the late Huey P. Long and was active in the late senator's political campaigns.

"The evidence I seek to introduce through this witness has a direct bearing on the defendant's state of mind at that time and is contradictory of the charge he willfully failed to report the money in his income tax return," Shushan was a close political associate of the late Huey P. Long and was active in the late senator's political campaigns.

"I will show that the $10,000 this witness W. E. Puseas, secretary-treasurer of the Orleans Dredging Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Dredging Company, testified he paid to the defendant was received by Shushan and dispensed by him in the campaign."

WAGNER LABOR BOARD UPHELD BEFORE A. F. L.

Group's Head Says Authority Is Not Limited to Interstate Industry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 10.—(AP)—J. Warren Madden, chairman of the new National Labor Relations Board, fired back today at the Liberty League lawyers who claimed the Wagner labor disputes act was unconstitutional.

Neither of the two principal attacks on the measure designed to guarantee labor's right to bargain collectively held water, Madden said.

Regarding the contention the act violated the fifth amendment—providing no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law—Madden said:

"The same protest has been made against laws limiting hours of labor, forbidding night work by women, fixing times for the payment of wages, and literally dozens of other statutes regulating the conduct of individuals to promote the public welfare, and the supreme court of the United States has been obliged, again and again, to uphold the constitutionality of such laws."

Madden said the board did not intend to "abdicate" either, to "narrow" constructions, who contended the act could be applied only to those industries engaged in interstate commerce, such as pipeline companies.

The board would determine the breadth of its jurisdiction in the light of the facts of the cases before it, he said.

Madden's speech followed a rousing fight on the convention floor over the scrap between rival factions of building trades unions. After hours of heated oratory, the convention decided to postpone the showdown for a few days at least.

Back of the scrap lies a fight for control of machinery to settle jurisdictional disputes between unions on construction projects. Two unions frequently dispute the right to do a certain piece of work. Progress of the new labor department building in Washington was held up for weeks, for instance, because of a dispute over which of two unions should put the covers on the radiators.

NEGRO FOUND GUILTY OF ACCIDENT DEATH

Luther Davis, negro, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter yesterday in connection with the automobile accident which claimed the life of Kenneth Grant, white boy, on August 4.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore, in Fulton superior court, sentenced the negro to serve 12 months and J. K. Jordan, attorney for the defendant, announced that he would appeal the verdict.

The defendant, a 22-year-old negro, was charged with running over the child on Hollywood road and leaving the scene of the accident. He was captured later through the efforts of Albert Dodd, county employee, who traced the negro in an airplane.

EXOTIC FISH FANCIERS ELECT DR. T. JOHNSON

Dr. Trimble Johnson is the newly elected first vice president of the Atlanta Exotic Fish Association which meets monthly at 34 Fifth street.

Plans have been laid for an exhibition of self-raised fish at the next meeting, set for November 4.

A scavenger show featured the last meeting, at which Mrs. Samuel C. Porter took first honors with an exhibition of dojos, Miss Maggie Cressy took second with her fresh water shrimp, Vic Anderson's leopard catfish were awarded third prize. Numerous varieties of snails and catfish were displayed.

FILM CONTRACT SIGNED BY DOLORES COSTELLO

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 10.—(AP) Motion pictures—the first love of Dolores Costello—called the former film actress today after her divorce from John Barrymore.

The golden-haired Dolores, a star in her own right at the time she married Barrymore seven years ago and retired from the screen, disclosed that she signed a contract with David O. Selznick to star in plays for the new International Pictures Company.

Other week-end fatalities of accidents in the vicinity of Atlanta were Gloria Chapman, of Decatur; Miss Mansell and George Lewis, a negro who was struck down by a motorist.

Huge Potato Grown Here

A sweet potato weighing five pounds grew in the garden of Mrs. Rachel Owens, of 30 Lakewood drive, Kirkwood, who says her specialty is flowers.

Mrs. Owens, who is 67, and lives alone, has not planted potatoes in 17 years before this year, but she has many that weigh from two to four pounds, and several that exceed four pounds. She did all the work herself, and the field was plowed only for the planting.—Staff photo.

KEY WEST AND HAVANA MARK CUBA'S FREEDOM

Maine's Dead Honored as Mendieta's Aid Thanks
United States.

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Tiny Cuban and American flags fluttered together over the graves of Cuban and American hero dead here tonight as Key West looked the island republic's celebration of the start of its wars for independence.

As it does every year, this island city, southernmost of the United States and closest to Cuba's shores, commemorated with Cuba the "Grito de Yara," the battle cry raised at Yara, Oriente province, 67 years ago that launched the unsuccessful 10-year war for freedom from Spain.

Hundreds gathered this afternoon at the graves of Cuban patriots and American blue jackets who died when the battleship Maine sank in Havana harbor in 1898.

Major Uliceno Franco Granero, President Carlos Mendieta's aid, who heads Cuban representatives, said: "Cuba can never pay her debt to the United States. To this country we owe our freedom and even though we are an independent nation we still feel we are part of the United States for the two nations have much in common."

TEN THOUSAND MARCH THROUGH HAVANA STREETS

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Ten thousand soldiers, sailors and policemen paraded through the main streets of Havana today, opening the island's celebration of the 67th anniversary of the "Grito de Yara."

President Carlos Mendieta, Colonel Fulgencio Batista, chief of the armed forces, foreign diplomats, and other notables reviewed the parade from temporary stands in front of the capitol building.

Banks, stores, government offices and commercial houses were closed.

LAWRENCEVILLE RITES
FOR VICTIM OF CRASH

Funeral services for Carl Willard, the fourth auto crash fatality of last week-end, who died Wednesday night of injuries suffered Sunday, will be held at Lawrenceville. The body was removed to the mortuary of F. Q. Sammons at Lawrenceville, and they will announce funeral arrangements.

Art Wright, nationally known racing official of the AAA, was reported late yesterday as in critical condition at Grady hospital. He was hurt in a crash which took the life of Miss Hazel Mansell, of Roswell.

John Ambler, Philadelphia racing car builder, and Miss Christine Rivers, both injured in the same accident, were reported yesterday as improving at Crawford W. Long hospital.

At the same hospital, Mrs. C. W. Marable, of Brookhaven, injured Monday when she was pinned between a building and a truck, was reported late yesterday as still in fair condition.

Other week-end fatalities of accidents in the vicinity of Atlanta were Gloria Chapman, of Decatur; Miss Mansell and George Lewis, a negro who was struck down by a motorist.

Novel Invitations to Silver Tea Sent by First Methodist Guild

By Sally Forth.

A WOMAN is as old as the number of coins she puts in the dainty ditty bags mailed today by the guild of the First Methodist church as the novel invitations to tea next Wednesday. The occasion will mark the thirty-seventh birthday celebration of the guild, and will be held at the Hershman road residence of Mrs. Walter Colquitt.

Accompanying the tiny hand-made bags is the following verse which Sally reveals as self-explanatory: "We send to you a little sack, please either bring or send it back, with as many cents as years you're old: We promise the number shall never be told. Or if with joy you'd make us 'holler,' just place within an even dollar. Tea, entertainment, greetings hearty, we will give you at this birthday party." Trailing memories of weddings of bygone days will be reflected in the pages of brides to feature part of the entertainment, as will a children's fashion show and a musicale.

The guild, of which Mrs. Thomas W. Connolly is president, will entertain at a tea from 3 until 5 o'clock. Special honor guests will be founders of the guild, who are Mesdames Preston S. Arkwright, W. H. Kiser, E. P. McBurney, Robert F. Maddox, W. H. Nutting, B. A. Harris, Charles J. Haden, R. L. Palmer, Eugene R. Black, G. P. Howard, James E. Hickey, Henry W. Grady and Miss Julia Hammond.

Assisting Mrs. Connolly will be Mesdames Luther Z. Rosser, Anita Stewart Armstrong, Homer Sanford, Robert Jarrett, Ray Mitchell, W. M. Dunlap, Charles Winship, W. H. Lawson, Ben Conyers, Hughes Roberts and Joe Winship.

When Mrs. Lamar Ellis arose from the table at the Piedmont Driving Club Wednesday evening to throw her wedding bouquet, it fell into the outstretched arms of Louise Calhoun, one of the charming bridesmaids in the Hewlett-Elis wedding.

The much-coveted and unusually beautiful bouquet was made of orchids cascaded alternately with valley lilies, and was so arranged that each blossom stood out in perfection. Of course, everyone teased Louise and asked her when the indicated wedding will take place.

But when the artistically arranged three-tiered wedding cake was cut, and Louise just narrowly missed getting the ring, the uproar was greater than ever. Roberta Crew, or "Bobby" as she is better known, was triumphant in this case, and is the proud possessor of a silver ring, embellished with tiny orange blossoms, and so small that it will barely fit the tip of her little finger.

As the wedding reception broke up when Sara and Lamar made their getaway, several of the favors remained intact, but not so the horseshoe, for Caroline Crumley Roberts was sufficiently lucky to find that good omen.

When Sara and Lamar left Atlanta on their wedding trip to sail from New Orleans on a Caribbean cruise, they motored in their brand-new car, the gift of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Hewlett.

BEFORE Mrs. Howell Cobb Erwin left for Australia on Wednesday, a number of farewell parties were given in her honor. You know, of course, that she will spend the next five months in Melbourne with her son and daughter, Fred and Runa Erwin Ware. And Sally suspects that the real purpose of her visit is to see her young grandson, Fred Ware Jr., who was born a

North Side Library Conducts Memorial For Miss Williams

Mrs. D. B. Osborne entertained the North Side Library Association at her home on Club drive Wednesday at an all day meeting. Garments were completed for the Needlework Guild during the morning hours. Luncheon was served and a program given in the afternoon with the president, Mrs. Paul Yopp, presiding.

The program was conducted as a memorial service to the founder and librarian, the late Miss Ida Williams. A psalm was read and interpreted and a prayer given by Rev. A. Lee Hale, pastor Peachtree Road Methodist church. Eulogies for Miss Williams were given by members of the club and a poem dedicated to her memory was composed and read by Mrs. E. C. Clark.

Nine years ago the late Miss Williams recognized the need of library service for the children and adults of Atlanta's north side. She began the task, and out of her wide educational experience she blazed a new educational trail, finally succeeding in securing the interest of the north side public in the organization of the North Side Library Club. This club has been steadily gaining in membership and rendering efficient service to the community.

Wesley Class Installs Officers.

Quillian; librarians, Mrs. Norris Harris; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Kenner; secretary, Mrs. E. E. Greene; assistant secretary, Mrs. R. N. Britt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. J. Harrison.

The Spotlight staff includes: Editor, Mrs. J. B. McDonald; assistant editor, Mrs. Joe Morris; circulation manager, Mrs. W. W. Causey; business manager, Miss Florence Baldwin; head reporter, Mrs. A. C. Lasher.

Miss Hunnicutt Gives Tea for Miss Gresham.

Miss Ruth Hunnicutt entertained at tea, followed by a linen shower, yesterday at the Atlanta Athletic Club in compliment to Miss Junita Gresham, whose marriage to Frank Mitchell Jr. will be an interesting event of next week.

Invited were Misses Gresham, Louise MacIntyre, Joyce Smith, Anne Alston, Margaret Holcomb, Helen Lowndes, Carroll Hopkins, Elizabeth Hopkins, Ruth Curry, Edith Chapman, Josephine Clayton, Maude Thompson, Laura Smith, Emily Mitchell, Dorothy Shivers, Jane Adair, Leon Brooks, Susan Hipple, Eleanor Gray, June Spalding, Catherine Gray and Mesdames Albert Calhoun and William Rooker.

Miss Louise MacIntyre will entertain at a luncheon at her home on Polo drive today for Miss Gresham. On Saturday Miss Gresham and Mr. Mitchell will attend the Georgia-Furman game in Athens and following the game Chappell Matthews will give a dinner party.

"WHAT WOULD YOU DO WITH SUCH A NAUGHTY BOY, NURSE?"

"Don't scold him, Mrs. Hardy. He doesn't look well. Are you sure he is not constipated? Whenever a child is cross and peevish, I look at the tongue. If it is coated, or if the breath is disagreeable, I know at once what is wrong. I always give 'California Syrup of Figs.' That moves the bowels in a few hours and cleanses the system. 'Children don't understand the importance of regularity. They get absorbed in play and won't trouble. And it is only when they get thoroughly cross and miserable that you realize that they are constipated. I find it saves a world of sickness and worry to give them a regular weekly dose. I would do that if I were you. With a natural fruit laxative like 'California Syrup of Figs' you can't go wrong. 'Doctors recommend it and give it to their own children, and we nurses swear by it. Get a bottle of 'California Syrup of Figs' from any druggist and give a dose at bedtime. The child will be as happy as a lark in the morning. There are two sizes; 35¢ and 60¢, you'll find the large bottle cheaper in the long run.

"Never experiment with cheap and drastic preparations when buying children's laxatives. The safest plan is to do as I do, follow the example of the doctors and give 'California Syrup of Figs.'"

"California Syrup of Figs" NATURE'S OWN LAXATIVE

Hapeville Couple Observes Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. Robert Todd celebrated their sixty-second wedding anniversary Saturday at their home in Hapeville. Receiving with Rev. and Mrs. Todd were their daughters, Mrs. John M. Gibbs, of Social Circle, and Miss Bertha Todd, of Brenau College, Gainesville.

Mrs. Todd wore her wedding dress of 62 years ago, and a corsage of yellow roses just as she did 12 years ago in celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. Rev. Todd is a former pastor of the Mt. Zion Methodist church. Mrs. Todd is 80 years old and Rev. Todd is 83 years old. They have five children, Robert E. and Olin H. Todd, of Atlanta; Mrs. John M. Gibbs, of Social Circle; Miss Bertha M. Todd, of Gainesville, and Mrs. J. M. Williams, of San Angelo, Texas; seven grand children and one great-grand child.

Rev. and Mrs. Todd were married October 5, 1873, at the home of the bride's parents, the late Edward and Nancy Harper, in Atlanta. The site of their home is now Lakewood Park. The guests were 75 close relatives and friends, and the ceremony was pronounced by the late Rev. James Dickey. Mrs. Thomas E. Shepherd, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor, and Mrs. W. G. Harper was bridesmaid. W. H. Harper, brother of the bride, was best man, and Sam E. Denton was groomsman. They had lived near Hapeville in Clayton county during all their married lives, and have grown beautifully old together.

Miss Frances Knott Is Honor Guest.

Miss Sara Hewlett and Mrs. R. D. Hewlett entertained yesterday at their home on Oakdale road in compliment to Miss Frances Knott, whose marriage to Claude Green Smith takes place October 19. A color motif of yellow and white was used in the decorations, and gracing the center of the luncheon table were yellow snapdragons in a silver bowl. Covers were placed for Misses Knott, Letitia Smith, Margaret Knott, Margaret R. Coffee, Clifton Bud Harris, Anthony Council, Robert Latta, Richard Burnett, William Palmer and the hostesses.

In compliment to Miss Knott was the luncheon and handkerchief shower given by Mesdames Lloyd Davis and E. W. Klein at their home on Oakdale road. Pink and blue were the color scheme, and the decorations on the luncheon table held an arrangement of pink roses, surrounded by bouquets of sweetheart roses. Attached to these were pink ribbon streamers leading to cards designating the place of each guest. Covers were laid for Misses Knott, Frances Burns, Margaret Knott, Sara Knott, Letitia Smith, Margaret R. Coffee, Robert Latta, William Crawford, John Nelson and Virginia Carmichael.

Azalea Garden Club Holds Meeting.

The Azalea Garden Club held its October meeting at the home of Mrs. T. F. Hemminger, with Mrs. E. C. Houston as co-hostess. The monthly flower show produced many fine specimens and arrangements. In the center of the room were two large white ribbons and red ribbons. For artistic arrangement Mrs. J. H. Woods was blue ribbon; Mrs. W. A. Smith, red; and Mrs. J. P. Starr, white ribbon.

Due to unusual weather conditions it was decided to postpone the flower show scheduled for October at the Garden Center until next spring. Members plan to co-operate with the florists in the flower show to be held at the auditorium in November.

Winter grass seed will be planted on the Druid Hills school grounds, the club's project. Mrs. O. W. Dyer introduced the guest speaker, Stanley Hastings, whose subject was "Bulbs to Greet the Spring."

FALL GARDEN NOTES

Long, narrow beds can usually be fitted into your garden design in a pleasing way. When I say narrow, I do not mean less than five feet. This width gives you room for three rows of bushes. The outside rows 12 inches from each edge and the center row 18 inches from the outer rows. You can even put four rows, for we now often plant close and prune low. After staking off your beds you come to an important part of your work. Preparation of the soil. And in doing this drainage is your first consideration.

If drainage is poor in your garden dig your bed out 30 inches deep and put in 12 inches of rock, cinders, or shales, anything (not wood) to give roughage for the water to seep down through. Then fill in with the soil removed, discarding that dug from the bottom 12 inches. Put the top 12 inches back into the bed first, with many generous sprinkles of bone meal. Generous quantities of well rotted cow manure will also be most helpful for blossoms next spring.

Continue to fill the bed until it is not more than one inch above the level of the walk. For even though roses like drainage they also like much moisture and these beds will settle just a little lower than the walks, thus retaining moisture. During the summer we also retain moisture by using a generous blanket of peatmoss. After all of this preparation don't you think we would be foolish not to buy the best plants that we can find?

What varieties do I suggest? That would be hard to do in such a general way, so the best way to arrange it is for me to show pictures of many lovely roses, making comments about each and you can choose just the ones that you would like to have in your rose garden.

Service Star Legion Holds Meeting.

Atlanta Chapter Service Star Legion met Tuesday in the palm room of the Atlanta Woman's Club, with the president, Mrs. L. Packard Rosser, presiding. Prayer was offered by the chaplain, Mrs. L. N. ## Miss Hardy Weds Mr. Hoffmann At Morning Ceremony in Albany

ALBANY, Ga., Oct. 10.—The marriage of Miss Harriet Hardy to George F. Hoffmann, of Savannah, was beautifully solemnized this morning by the Rev. T. A. Brennan, of St. Theresa's Catholic church, at the bride's home in the Jefferson apartments.

Only members of the immediate families witnessed the ceremony, which took place before an improvised altar adorned with Montana and Killarney roses in silver vases. Cabinets in the dining room, were decorated with sprays of Montana rose. Silver candelabra were used on the altar with the roses and Montana vine. In the living room quantities of pink briarcliff roses were arranged.

Mr. Hoffmann's best man was Albert Schleuning, of Savannah. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Aileen Hardy, of this city. The bride was modestly groomed in a gray Shapereil ensemble, trimmed in sapphire blue velvet. The fitted jacket was trimmed with a tailored collar of Ombre Persian lamb. Her shoes and handbag were of gray alligator and her close fitting hat was of gray felt. The bride wore a shoulder spray of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmann left by motor on an extended wedding trip. They will be at home after November 1 at 112 Edgewood road, Savannah.

Mr. Hoffmann is the daughter of Mrs. K. Hardy, and one of Albany's most popular young women. For seven years she was secretary of the Albany Chamber of Commerce and through her contacts made an ever increasing circle of friends. She is a petite brunette and possesses a vivacious charm and sincerity of manner. In 1933 she was president of the Georgia Association of Chamber of Commerce Secretaries and proved to be one of the organization's most popular and popular executives.

Mr. Hoffmann is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hoffmann, of Savannah. He is a graduate of Georgia Tech and a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He is president of the Dixie Engraving Company, of Savannah, and the Graphic Arts Engraving Company, of Atlanta.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Dear Miss Chatfield: Please discuss the qualifications for being a doctor's wife. Is it necessary for her to be highly educated and must she be socially inclined?

INTERESTED READER.

Answer: Playing wife to any professional man taxes a woman's wit but perhaps playing wife to the doctor requires as much skill as he requires playing doctor to the patients. A college degree may not be necessary to fit a woman for this part but a master's degree in the school of living is necessary and if she hasn't it when she is married she has ample opportunity to acquire it.

From the time the doctor wakes up in the morning until he closes his eyes in slumber he is a human vessel into which are poured the fears of the neurotic, the complaints of the ailing, the groans of the suffering, the moans of the dying, the tears of the relatives, the troubles and tribulations of patients concerning their health, their wealth, their poverty, their domestic situations, their family relationships, their emotional, mental, moral, social problems. Prescribing medicine, cutting, sewing, dressing, treating are but a small part of his day's work. He is consultant, adviser, prophet, priest to men and women and children. And in almost every instance he is dealing with people who are sick in mind or body, people who are not normal when they come to him. He is called upon for sympathy as well as for skill. He is expected to be kind, patient, pitiful, appreciative and when he sends his bill—to be merciful.

If there is anything in the theory that a man likes a complete change of scene and subject when he leaves his office and comes home, the first qualification for a doctor's wife is that she have good health, or at least refrain from discussion of aches and pains should she have them. Unless he is pretty stout hearted and pretty strong minded he comes home in the evening with the idea that the whole world is sick and suffering. Good health to him is a synonym for heaven.

Perhaps discretion is the next important item the doctor's wife has in account with her husband. She can not only ruin his career by spilling his secrets but she can destroy one of the most precious privileges a man has with his wife: the privilege of confiding in her. A good wife is always a safety valve for her husband and particularly is this true with a doctor. He can't tell his patients what he is thinking. He can't blurt out on them when he is upset. He dare not let them guess his doubts and uncertainties, get wind of his fear or measure his failures. But oh how he can unburden himself when he comes home! If he is free to talk to his wife she is bound to hold her tongue.

Next, a doctor's wife has to make up her mind that his profession will be forever interfering with her social life. When she accepts invitations for herself and her husband she must always accept them with the reservation in her own mind that she may have to go alone or be left to come home alone. The patient always takes precedence over the party. The wife has to learn to adjust herself to this idea or make her husband very miserable.

Last, but not least, the doctor's wife must be friendly if she is to be a push-over for her husband. He may have such a reputation for skill that he compels the patients to come in without her help, but many a friendly malice has fattened the pig that furnished the bacon for papa to bring home. One can be friendly without being socially inclined. The socially inclined seek out people to be friendly with. There is a friendliness that is less aggressive but it is none the less winning and warm. This the doctor's

Things That Make Women Pre-Beautiful

Some Real Finds in Good Creams for Massage and Make-up

1. If you are hunting for bargains in good things, here is one that will delight you. A contour cream in a big jar for a very reasonable sum for that much good face cream. There are only a few of which you can get so much for your money.

It is a rose petal pink in color, and has a fragrance much like tea roses, but very faint. It isn't lumpy, it isn't heavy and it isn't too light. I would say it is the consistency of butter on a warm day, except that it isn't shiny and it doesn't feel greasy. I've told you all the things it is NOT. If I had to describe it in a few words I would say it is like boiled cake frosting after it "sets." You dip your fingers into it and it holds to them gently. It seems only when you put it on your warm skin.

This rose petal cream is called "all-purpose," but I still don't believe there is any such animal. I know of one cream that some women are satisfied to use for all purposes, including a foundation, but I won't use it that way. I honestly think it would be difficult to get any cream that could, try as hard as it will, be all things to all women. But this inexpensive and exquisite pink cream will not disappoint you as a cleanser and a massage cream. It's a real find. Clean with it first, then use it plentifully for massage. Of course use the inevitable tissues for cleaning off the first layers of it.

2. When you have finished this process I would advise a foundation cream made by the same manufacturer, a very reliable one. This cream is soft in texture. You need very little of it, and it holds powder perfectly. I never knew one to behave better. With me it lasts all day and my nose gives forth nary a shine. They make it in white and in pink. I've always been partial to anything that pink. You get more of this than of any other finishing cream of which I know. One jar should last several months.

NANCY PAGE

Good Homemade Bread May Be So Unusual It Is a Treat.
By FLORENCE La GANKE.

Nancy and Peter both liked homemade bread, but Nancy was a good enough economist to realize that it was not sensible for her to make all the baking. She bought most of her bread but every so often she made one batch of bread just to keep her hand in and to prove she had not lost the knack. Living in the city she used the moist, compressed or loose yeast. She never went back to the old-time potato bread nor the salt rising variety nor that made with the dry yeast.

She knew that yeast grew best when it was put in a small amount of lukewarm liquid, slightly sweet in which to start itself. Nancy used three cups of flour, bread or all-purpose flour, for every cup of liquid. The liquid was scalded, if milk; boiled, if water and then cooled to a lukewarm temperature before the foaming yeast was added. One tablespoon shortening, one of sugar and one half tablespoon salt were used for every cup of liquid. The yeast was crumbled in a cup, a little sugar and lukewarm water added. When the mixture was bubbling Nancy added it to the lukewarm liquid. Then she put in the flour and mixed well. She covered the container, set in warm place and allowed the mixture to double in bulk. Then it was kneaded, covered and set to rise. When doubled in bulk it was kneaded and shaped into loaves. These pans of bread were covered and set in a warm place until light, then put into a 400-degree oven. After 10 minutes the temperature was lowered to 350 degrees and the bread baked for 50 minutes more. After taking from the oven the loaves were removed from the pan, brushed with melted butter and placed on a cooling rack. When Nancy used butter for shortening she had a richer colored bread. When she used lard the bread was whiter.

Nancy has a leaflet on "Yeast Bread Making." Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your copy. Write her, care of The Atlanta Constitution.

Mrs. Wallace Speaks To Avondale Club.

Avondale Garden Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Ben S. Forkner. Members responded to roll call with the amount each had earned during the summer toward the club's projected permanent shelter at the main car stop in Avondale.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. W. A. Spitzer, vice president. An interesting report of the recent fifth district convention was given by Mrs. P. J. McGovern, federation president. A talk on "What to Do in the Garden in the Fall" was given by Mrs. James J. Wallace.

Mrs. Wallace was asked to judge the collection of flower arrangements brought by members, and she awarded first place to Mrs. E. S. Forkner for an antique brass bowl of lemon yellow snapdragons; second to Mrs. Forkner for a basket of tithonia, and third place to Mrs. Charles David for a vase of white rose blooms and buds. In the miniature class, Mrs. H. McCoy Van Deventer was given first place for an arrangement of purple petunias and hardy ageratum in a green pottery jar; second to Mrs. E. J. Stuewe for a sunburst rosebud, and third to Mrs. Stuewe for a small ginger jar of double gleam nasturtiums.

SISTER AND BROTHER COSTUMES

Here are cunning little costumes for brother and sister. They're so simple to make, smart and practical. Sister's dress is yellow, cotton broadcloth with brown and white checked broadcloth trim. Brother's shorts of the checked broadcloth buttons on to the yellow blouse.

For more severe weather, wool jersey is lovely to fashion these cute togs. And a scheme you'll like especially well is navy blue for both the entire costumes, save for the collars. Make them white pique and detachable so as to be readily removed for laundering.

Style No. 433 is designed for sizes 2, 4 and 6 years and includes both models in the same size. If different sizes are wanted, two patterns will have to be ordered and will cost 15c extra. Size 4 requires 5-5 1/2 yards of 35-inch material with 5-5 yard of 35-inch contrasting for girl's dress. Boy's suit requires 1 yard of 35-inch print material with 7-8 yard of 35-inch plain material.

Let the new fall and winter fashion magazine assist you in assembling your family's fall clothes. There are designs for every type and every occasion. And of course one of our perfect-fitting patterns is obtainable for every design illustrated. Don't delay! Send for your copy today! Price of book 15 cents. Price of pattern 15 cents. Wrap order a-separately.

DOTTED LINE HONEYMOON

By JOSEPH McCORD

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Larry Cutter falls in love at first sight with Jacqueline Anthony, public stenographer at the Hotel Baynard, who long to travel. Larry, who has traveled much, roughed it and struck gold, starts her by saying she can realize her ambition by marrying him. He presents a contract providing that she shall care for her always for six months and tear up the contract whenever she is dissatisfied with her bargain. Jack signs it, he gives her $10,000 in United States bonds and they are married two days later. She accounts to herself for her action by the fact that she has her mother's death she had supported until recently when she refused to further finance his experiments. He disappears. Jack doesn't see Larry for two days after the wedding. Detective Staples tells her a fellow asked to watch Larry just as she finds Vince III and requiring an operation. She warns Larry by anonymous letter. She sells a bond and is angry when Larry pays the hospital bill. They drive out to the place in the country where he was born and his father worked as an inventor. Investors in John Cutter's invention lost account of him and Larry's father died under a cloud. A guard orders them away from the barbed-wire enclosed property. Uncertain suspicious lead Jack to return the same bonds and the remaining cash.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XXIII

"But I didn't tell you that I don't care to have anybody know where I am. You know whom I mean, of course. I suppose I may trust you not to betray me. . . ."

"You can trust me better than I can trust you!" It was out before Jacqueline knew it. She bit her lip. "Meaning exactly. . . ."

"That you are not very particular about keeping your word."

"Just what has friend Vince been saying?"

"You might ask him yourself."

Larry drove in silence for a few moments. When they reached the summit of a high hill, he brought the car to a stop at the side of the road. "Quite a view from here, Jack."

"Please drive on."

"In a minute. I think you and I have something to say to each other and we're not likely to be disturbed here. I can't talk and drive at the same time. And I can't quite escape a feeling that you believe I've been keeping to your bargain."

"Do you think you have?"

"Oh, yes. Quite. After all, there was nothing on our contract to keep me from loving you. Or from saying so. I do love you, Jack. And when your father got to telling me how wonderful you are, I had to chime in. I know it even better than he does."

"I thought you would be fair," Jacqueline countered in a low voice. Her eyes were fixed on the panorama spread below the hill, where dusk was settling in the valley. Nearby a bird twittered its night song.

"I have tried to be," Larry returned steadily. "I did tell Rannie about our marriage. I had to. I have explained that he's my attorney, I have told no one else."

"Of course not. I told him that I loved you. Why not? I do."

"I can think of several reasons."

"I know," he smiled. "Look here, little Jack, I'm not sure that you are the one to tell me that I have not lived up to the letter of our official agreement."

"What do you mean by that?"

"There was a clause in it. . . . number four, if my memory serves me. You didn't like it and I appreciated how you felt. But you did."

"I . . . I don't think so," Jacqueline was fumbling blindly with the car door. She had it open now. "I'm sorry, Goodnight, Jack." The car was moving as he reached out and closed the door with a ruthless bang. "Larry. . . ."

But Larry was gone.

Larry Cutter left an elevator at the mezzanine floor of the Baynard and stood for an instant looking about him.

Almost at once, his eyes encountered a woman sitting by herself on a small settee, one arm resting on the marble balcony rail, apparently studying the busy lobby below. She was modestly attired in black. A small hat of the same shade was perched jauntily on her decidedly blonde head. Rather noticeably made up, he decided. But attractive. Generously proportioned. The type that would make men turn for a second look.

He approached her slowly, his foot making no sound in the thick-piled carpet.

"Miss Morris?"

She turned with a start, her red lips parting in a friendly smile. "It's Mr. Cutter, isn't it?"

"Yes. He took a seat at her side without waiting for an invitation. "I was writing a letter when you phoned. . . ."

"That's quite all right. I'm in no hurry."

Larry frowned a trifle, as he remarked: "I'm sorry you didn't arrange to meet me somewhere else, Miss Morris. Didn't they tell you about that?"

"No, I thought this would be all right today." She glanced about carelessly. "I wonder if it wouldn't be better for you to call me Alma. . . ."

"Very well, Alma, since you are here, we may as well talk. First of all, have you had any luck?"

"Not a bit, I'm sorry to say. I haven't overlooked any bets so far, but he's not taking any more. . . . well, he isn't taking any more."

"Have you had a chance to go through things pretty thoroughly?"

"Rather. I thought I was on the scent of the man. It was a real safe. Looked promising. It's an old-timer and I didn't have much trouble getting into it when I got a good chance."

"Papers?"

"Sure. But nothing very hot. One of them was a will. But I don't suppose you expect to get anything out of that." She showed her white teeth in a smile of amusement. "But no sign of the other thing."

"They told me out in Chicago that you could deliver the goods if any one could. That's why I've been making time, hoping you could save me the trouble of getting busy on my own." He leaned forward intently. "But I would like to know how you like that job. Do you mind telling me?"

"It was easy enough. Jerry. . . . you know who I mean. . . . he came out here first and sized up the lay of the land. Made all the necessary changes. He stumbled onto the old gentleman's weakness. . . . I'm the newest one." Miss Morris laughed as she produced a pack of cigarettes from her bag. "I can't smoke on the job," she explained. "Will you have one?"

"No thanks." Larry held out a lighted match. "I still think it was a lucky break."

"Maybe," she suggested, he needed a secretary. The idea was a new one to him, but. . . . Well, I'm good in my own line."

"Can he believe it?"

"Miss Morris has a thread of smoke into the air. Her blue eyes twinkled as she watched it."

"My dear, you should have seen my act. I don't know the first thing about shorthand. When he dictated, I put down a lot of hen tracks in my notebook and try to remember what he said. So far, I've gotten by. If he ever asks me to back and read my notes. . . . heaven help little Alma!"

Larry laughed in spite of himself. Then his face grew grave.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Farley, Ph.D.

Many people have observed, without knowing why, that their thermometer often fooled them regarding the weather. On some days they feel comfortable in their spring clothing, and on other days, with the thermometer registering exactly the same, they shiver and feel cold. The matter of humidity is as important as the temperature in determining how cold the weather seems to us. People may feel the cold test at 50 degrees below zero than at 10 above. The terribly low temperatures often reported in the papers for various regions of the earth may mean little other wonders. We know the humidity which accompanies that temperature. The people there may be warmer than we are.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

"LITTLE OLD NEW YORK"

V—End of Dutch Rule.

Not quite half a century after the first huts were built on Manhattan island by Dutch fur traders, an important event took place. A British fleet reached the harbor of New Amsterdam, and its commander sent word that the town must surrender.

No war existed at that time between Great Britain and Holland; but the British were not willing to let the Dutch have a stronghold in this part of the New World. They said that the Cabots, sailing under the English flag, had explored the coast long before the Dutch vessel, the "Half Moon," had sailed up the Hudson river.

Governor Stuyvesant did not want to give up the town; but it seemed that the British forces were stronger than those of the Dutch. The Dutch merchants did not seem to care very much whose flag waved over the town, so it was given over without a battle.

Later, during the war between Holland and Great Britain, the Dutch captured the place again, but hardly a year passed before it was returned to New York.

The Duke of York, who gave his name to New York.

The fleet which made Governor Stuyvesant give up New Amsterdam had been sent by the Duke of York. After the death of his brother, the king, this duke came to the English throne under the name of James II. He ruled only three years.

The name of the town was changed to New York, in honor of the duke. The new governor, Colonel Richard Nicolls, learned that it was the home of more than 1,400 people, living in 220 houses.

The old settlers were allowed to keep their homes and farms, and the merchants kept their shops.

Present-day New York has spread far beyond the limits of Manhattan island. It includes Staten island, part of Long Island, and a stretch of the mainland. The area is now about 15 times as great as that of Manhattan island, and the population of Greater New York is more than 7,000,000.

It has been said that New York city is the home of more Germans than there are in Bremen, more Irish than in Dublin, and more Italians than in Genoa.

The old-time Dutch left many records of themselves. There are streets which have Dutch names; and Dutch Easter and Christmas customs have spread far and wide.

Tech Off for Kentucky Today; Bulldogs Ready for Furman

Those gallant young lads from Tech's flats set out this morning on the first football adventure of 1935. They have an idea they may be going places and not merely going to Lexington, up in old Kentucky, where they meet the Kentucky team Saturday afternoon.

They have read that Bert Johnson is in the hospital with a leg injury and that Bob Davis is limping. The Jackets may be excused if they should be hoping this morning that the Kentucky injuries are nothing trivial. This is the first big hurdle for the Jackets of 1935. It isn't fair to say this game will make or break them. It merely is the first hurdle. A victory would mean much. A defeat would be merely a defeat.

There is no use counting on injuries keeping out the Kentucky stars. Football has the most magic medicine in the world. It is a liniment known as Whistle Liniment. The moment the hour nears for the whistle to blow, the cripples become very spry indeed. Unless, of course, the bones are broken. Bob Davis and Bert Johnson will be in there.

Georgia Tech's team is something of a mystery. It is quite possible that Mr. William Alexander's sophomores, the Flying Dutchman, called Konemann, and Scrapy Edwards, are just as good as Mr. Chatter Wynne's Bert Johnson and Bob Davis. They each have the same number of legs, eyes and arms, and say "ouch" when hurt.

There is, of course, this difference. The two Kentucky boys can kick that football. Coach Alexander's boys can't kick it as far. Nor do they return punts so well. And therein lies the difference which may turn the tide toward the Kentucky eleven.

At any rate, when shadows fall on Saturday we shall have an estimate of the 1935 Tech team and coaches will know what to do. The Presbyterian and Sewanee games were no more revealing than a mother Hubbard dress.

FURMAN'S BIG TRY.

Furman's football eleven comes to Georgia tomorrow believing it can win the game. Which is the proper state of mind.

It should be a football game, but the Bulldogs should win once they get past the first quarter or so.

It seemed to this reporter, after peering at the Bulldogs only a day ago, that they have more good, old-fashioned power in the backfield than in some time.

After watching this Bill Hartman boy go off tackle I began to look about for the cannon. I thought maybe Mr. Harry Mehre had purchased himself one of the circus cannons from which the human projectile is fired and was shooting Hartman from it. But I guess not. But that boy is going to be Big Bad Bill all year. He never will be referred to as Sweet William. Not Bill Hartman.

I like my fullbacks rough and tough. And I like for them to smack a line so that it cracks. I do not like prancing fullbacks or fullbacks who run like halfbacks. I like the boys who can hit that line. Hartman can.

This Georgia football team, if it ends come through and its tackles develop, may be better than we expect. It won't unless those developments come. And one must wait and see.

Furman promises to be a real test, the first one the Athens Bulldogs have had. If they take that Furman defense apart they may be put down as a team that is at least on the way. Definitely.

TEMPLE AND VANDERBILT.

The answer to the query as to what Ray Morrison has at Vanderbilt will be in your Saturday morning Constitution.

The Commodores play Temple at Philadelphia tonight and if they win or hold Temple to a close score, rivals of the Commodores may start in doing some good, old-fashioned worrying. It will mean the Commodores are tough.

Most of the experts who have seen the Commodores this season have come away with the idea the Commodores won't be so good. But Ray Morrison keeps going along, keeping a close mouth on the subject. He appears satisfied. But tonight's game will supply the answer.

OVER AT BIRMINGHAM.

There is quite a game scheduled for Birmingham on Saturday.

Tennessee's football legions, which look as if they had been dropped into a fresh road of tar-coated gravel following that last week-end encounter with the North Carolina Tarheels, steps out against Jack Meagher's Auburn eleven.

They do say the various welkins about the loveliest village of the plain have been ringing this week with the shouts of the Auburn people following the upsetting of Tulane.

Tulane was something of a mystery last season. There was one school of thought which held that Tulane was a rather mediocre outfit last year. Yet their showing against Colgate and their victory over Temple and L. S. U. indicated a great football team.

The two schools of thought still are battling this year as to just what the Auburn victory meant. Saturday's game at Birmingham will supply an answer to that. I rather lean to the idea that the old marine, Jack Meagher, has himself a team.

MAJOR NEYLAND SAILS.

Major Bob Neyland hasn't helped out the University of Tennessee football team a bit by sailing from Panama to the United States just after the Tennessee eleven took a hammering from North Carolina.

There naturally was a lot of yelping from some of the Tennessee people after that defeat. They wanted Neyland back. They forgot that in his last two years at Knoxville, Neyland's teams had lost five games and the major likely would have taken this North Carolina defeat right in stride as did his successor, Major Britton. But people forget all that.

All sorts of stories are out. One has it that Neyland can have the Wisconsin job where Dr. Spears is in trouble. But whatever it is he will add to the dizziness at Knoxville by sailing for the United States. The Tennessee officials should announce firmly that Britton is there to stay out the year. He deserves a chance without having Neyland's ghost bobbing up every day.

Neyland, they say, has been stationed at an outpost some 100 miles in the Panama jungle and is in a mood to quit the army. Under the new retirement policy he can quit and draw 33-37's of his major's pay for the rest of his life.

The fellow is a great coach. There is no denying that. But some day the colleges are going to wake up to the fact that the army man has his profession and the coach has his. Or maybe congress will pass a law having the army men stick to the job of protecting the good old U. S. A. And not coaching football.

ALEX TO USE SAME LINEUP OF PAST GAMES

Wildcats Have Edge; 2 of Wynne's Stars Reported Out.

By Jack Troy.

Thirty-two Jackets, just one player shy of three full teams, will board a train at the Terminal station at the waking hour of 7 o'clock this morning en route to Lexington, Ky., for the first big test of the season against Chet Wynne's University of Kentucky Wildcats Saturday afternoon.

There was a long practice yesterday on Grant field in track training suits. It was something of a dress rehearsal. There was dummy scrimmage, punting, passing, signal polishing and so on.

The Jackets are ready for the Kentucky game, second Southeastern conference engagement of the season but the first real test game.

Player spirit has never been better. And the squad is in excellent physical condition. There are no injuries. Not all of the 32 players will be used, perhaps, but each and every one is in shape to play.

WILDCATS INJURED. The report comes from Lexington that big Bert Johnson is in a hospital because of a leg injury suffered in the Ohio State game last week and that Bob Davis, his running mate, is still limping.

The Jackets are inclined to scout any idea that the two backfield stars will not be at full strength on Saturday, however. And they have gone ahead and made such preparations as they trust will be necessary to hold both players in check.

Tech should offer a very strong defense against the Wildcats, although the showing in opposition to Kentucky plays in practice has been nothing if not to shed tears about it.

There is a great difference between a showing in practice and the keyed-up attitude of a player under actual game stress. And so it is rather difficult to tell just what this Tech team will do.

FINE SPIRIT.

One does know that no Tech team ever had a finer spirit or stronger will to win. And that should carry the banner of the White and Gold to higher ground this season.

It is very difficult to conceive that should Tech lose this game, for instance, that it would crush their spirit similarly as if one ground out the fire of a cigarette in an ash tray. Kentucky will rule the favorite, but the current Tech team will make a real battle of it all the way. And you may lay to that.

Not even the Tech coaches know their team. They have ideas about what to expect, but they are not altogether sure. And they will not know anything really definite until the final whistle blows at 5 o'clock in the vicinity of your old Kentucky home.

Tech will start the same team that opened against Presbyterian and the same, with the exception of the injured Captain Bob (Lefty) Eubanks, that faced Sewanee last week.

EUBANKS BACK. Eubanks, of course, is back in there at right tackle. This gives the Jackets absolute strength from end to end.

The backfield will have Lawrence Hays at quarter, Fletcher Sims and Marion (Dutch) Konemann at half-backs, and Harry Appleby at full-back.

All week long the Jackets have drilled defensively for purposes of checking the mad rushes of Davis and Johnson, Kentucky's combination of touchdowns, wins, and injury reports are being taken with a shaker of salt, so to speak.

While Coach Alex will not start young Scrapy Edwards, the Sewanee victory, he expects to use him considerably. Along with Billy Street, John McKinley and others.

JACKETS READY. And so the Jackets are ready. It is reasonable to expect they will be out-kicked and outpassed. But not out-rushed. And unless Kentucky reserves are too good, it should be a real ball game.

The traveling squad follows:

Ends—Gibson, Jones, Thompson, Jones, Allen and Morgan.

Tackles—Eubanks, Lindsay, Chances, Roberts and Roney.

Guards—Wilcox, Fitzsimmons, Brittain, Nixon, Glendening and Carmack.

Centers—Preston, Collins and Hood.

Backs—Hays, Sims, Konemann, Appleby, Edwards, Boyd, McKinley, Moore, Hackett, Raine, Street and Tharpe.

Mack Tharpe has welded a strong starting line and Bobby Dodd has done a fine job with the backs.

The Jackets will stop at the Phoenix hotel.

Davis, Johnson Hurt For Tech Game.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 10.—(AP) Football fans in the Blue State are looking to the University of Kentucky-Georgia Tech game here Saturday as the answer to "just how good are the Wildcats?"

The Tech game is considered by many of the followers of the Wildcats

Jo Jo White Dinner Planned Thursday

The Inter-City Civitan Club, including the East Point, College Park and Hapeville, will honor Jojo White, stellar member of the world champion Detroit Tigers Thursday night at a dinner at East Point.

A member of the losing club, the Chicago Cubs, will be present, being Hugh Casey, relief pitcher. All professional baseball players of the city are invited and are asked to communicate with Carlos Hemperley at CA. 2141.

Then, too, members of the FERA sandlot team that won the county-wide championship will be honored. Jo Jo White will be asked to present them with the silver baseballs. Other persons desiring to attend the dinner, plate charge being $1 per each, are asked to make reservations with Mr. Hemperley.

The midwestern invasion begins December 28 in a game with Evansville, Ind. College and continues with single engagements at Lorain of Chicago and Iowa State, ending with two contests against Creighton University at Omaha, Neb.

Smith and Riley To Start Game For Crimson Tide

UNIVERSITY, Ala., Oct. 10.—(AP) Riley Smith, husky blocking quarterback, and Joe Riley, will-o-the-wisp, halfback, will start against Mississippi State here Saturday.

Coach Frank Thomas, pleased with the spirit of his charges, announced after practice today that the two backfield stars would be in the starting lineup.

The boys will show the homefolks they didn't leave all their football in Washington," Thomas said. "They will show the homefolks that they have fight in them."

The lineup announced by Thomas tonight includes all the regulars with Nisbet, a junior, at fullback.

MISS. STATE.

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Major Ralph Sasse announced today that he will take three full teams to Tuscaloosa, Ala., for the Mississippi State-Alabama game Saturday.

The team will be given the strongest support it has ever had at Tuscaloosa as 1,000 students and at least that many other local supporters plan to leave here by special train, bus and automobile Saturday morning.

Today the student body led by the maroon band, paraded to the football field and watched the Maroons go through a final drill, at which Major Sasse presented the team a mascot, an impressive looking bulldog.

AUBURN.

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 10.—(AP)—A long defensive drill with the freshmen simulating Tennessee plays in dummy scrimmage constituted the last workout at home today for the Volunteers of Alabama Poly for the Volunteer clash in Birmingham Saturday.

The squad 36 strong will leave tomorrow morning for Birmingham and will work out in secret tomorrow afternoon in Legion field.

The squad as a whole is in good shape physically, but Ralph Sivil probably will be unable to start.

PURPLES BEAT MARIST, 34 TO 6

Boys' High won its fifth straight game of the season and moved another step nearer the city prep championship with a 34-to-6 victory over Marist College Tuesday night at Ponce de Leon park. There were more than 6,000 spectators in the stands and they saw one of the best games of the year.

Marist took the Purples by surprise and scored without losing the ball from the kick-off. Three first downs, with Slater passing 20 yards to Hitt for the touchdown, gave Marist its only score.

It was the first time that the Purples have been behind this season, but from that point on it was a different story. The Purples got down to business, but it was not until the second quarter that they took the lead.

ERLICH SCORES.

Messingale returned Slater's punt 45 yards to the Marist 15-yard line on the last play of the first quarter to start the Purple rally. And on the first play of the second quarter, Captain E. Erlich scored on an off-balance plunge, after Marist had been penalized for a substitute talking before the play.

Three Purple touchdowns were made in rapid order in the second quarter. Erlich ran 54 yards for the second score. He was given some excellent interference with Messingale taking out the Marist safety man on a beautiful block on the five-yard line.

Messingale broke off-tackle for 11 yards and the third touchdown just before the half ended.

A short pass, Mims to Erlich, netted a score in the third quarter. Hanes a substitute back, ran 15 yards for the fourth and last touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

IMPROVED.

Boys' High showed an improvement over last week, particularly in the blocking. The punter and passer was given plenty of protection and the punts were covered well. Ransom downed one of Messingale's boots of 48 yards on the one-yard line.

Messingale played a fine game both offensively and defensively. He kicked four consecutive punts after touchdowns, scored once and kicked twice to place Marist deep in its own territory.

Slater and Hitt, in the backfield, and McBee and O'Kelley in the line, were outstanding for Marist.

Vandy Announces Basketball Card

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 10.—(AP) The 21-game Vanderbilt University basketball schedule announced today by Coach Josh Cody includes a mid-western tour of five games and 12 Southeastern conference tilts.

In addition to the annual home-and-home contracts with Alabama, Kentucky and Tennessee, the Commodore cagers will meet Miami University, Indiana and the Pittsburgh quintets here.

KERR EXPECTS IOWA TO BEAT COLGATE TEAM

Manhattan Has Fine Team for Battle With L. S. U. Tigers.

By Andy Kerr,

Head Football Coach, Colgate University.

(Copyright, 1935, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

HAMILTON, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Saturday finds eastern football teams taking part in important games. There are three very attractive intersectional contests on the program.

Perdue, Manhattan meets Louisiana State, Colgate journeys to the University of Iowa.

Fordham and Perdue appear to be very evenly matched. Perdue had a difficult time defeating North western last Saturday.

Manhattan has the best team since Chick Meahan has been there. In meeting Louisiana State, Manhattan takes on one of the south's best. Manhattan will make a real battle of it, but I like the chances of Louisiana State.

IOWA FAVORED.

Iowa may be considered the dark horse in the race for the Big Ten championship. This team is potentially strong and has in Crayne and Simmons two of the finest backs in the country. I am afraid that Iowa has too much manpower for Colgate, but the game should be a good exhibition of football.

The Pennsylvania team that played away in football against Princeton will have the opportunity to make amends or a defeat last year at the hands of Yale. This game appears so close that the breaks of the contest may decide it. I like the Quakers chances.

Under its new coach, Dick Harlow, Harvard made a satisfactory performance in its first game against Holy Cross is an entirely different proposition. The Holy Cross team is faster, stronger and better developed than the great aggregation of 1934. Holy Cross will win, but the score may not be as one-sided as the experts think.

LIKES SYRACUSE.

Syracuse meets Cornell in the third game of the season. Syracuse, Cornell showed a weakness on defense last week which I believe Gil Dobbins will be able to correct, but all signs point to a Syracuse victory.

Madisonia showed last Saturday that it is dangerous with Barbas in the game. Rutgers may give trouble but it looks like a Columbia victory.

New York University has a very improved team. The violent Violets have been a sort of jinx for Carnegie Tech in the past, but Carnegie is too strong defensively and my prediction is it will win by a small score.

Bobby's Team Wins Dinner Tourney

Bobby Jones' team squared accounts with Scott Hudson's team Thursday afternoon on the No. 1 Past Lake course in the annual "lovers" play dinner tourney. Jones' team won, 30 to 21, evening up a defeat early in the spring.

Although his team won, Bobby played in a losing cause. He was paired with George Marshall, his director for a series of moving pictures, and lost one point to Colonel Bob Jones and Dick Gutting.

There were 17 foursomes in the one-day tourney and some unusually good golf was played. Many of the players won their individual matches but were members of the losing team.

The dinner was served at the club soon after the tourney was over with. Colonel Jones was master of ceremonies, and trophies and prizes won during the year at the club were presented at the dinner.

Following the day's activities it was voted annually to stage another such event early next spring and follow it up with a couple more next year.

Results of the tournament with members of the Jones' team listed first follow:

Bob Jones and George Marshall won one point each. Colonel Jones and Dick Gutting, Scott Hudson Jr. and Cliff Ely won three from Travis Johnson and Arch Martin. J. E. Van Horn and J. McConner lost three to S. P. Murray and T. E. Hone. R. P. Guy and R. D. Butler won three from O. W. Miller and C. A. Williams. B. E. Shields and L. F. Cook lost three to R. A. Medford and Willie Callaway. T. J. Stewart and George Rudolph won one and lost two to R. J. Kirkpatrick and J. W. Welch. J. E. Roach and J. B. Hinton won three from D. Young and L. Young. K. A. Stephenson and J. H. Winton won two and lost one to R. K. Whittier and W. W. Lunsford. T. A. Martin and R. P. McLeary won three from Beasley Smith and H. T. Green. P. G. Lombard and J. C. Kyle won points from R. Witting and J. H. Starr. Keith Conway and S. C. Boland won one-half and lost two one-half to Robert Ingram and John Bick. M. E. Flores and J. J. Charters won three from C. R. Pyburn and C. Burdett. H. P. Bond and F. V. Bailey lost three to R. Jones and M. P. Hall. George Fogg and T. L. Reed won two and lost one to W. A. Fuller and J. F. Gordon. R. L. Hickey and J. L. Morris divided three points with A. P. McHenry and H. J. Gerlach. C. O. Long and Dr. J. C. Wright won three from R. R. Partridge and H. G. Chapman and J. J. McGee and A. G. Maxwell won one and lost two to W. C. Caze and Dewey Bowen.

Bill Terry Rejects Cardinal Offer

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Manager Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, today said he had refused an offer by the St. Louis Cardinals to trade First Baseman Jim "Rip" Collins and Outfielder Joe Medrick for Pitcher Carl Hubbell and Outfielder Mel Ott, Giant stars.

The offer, Terry said, was made by Branch Rickey, of the Cardinals, during the second game of the world series at Detroit. Terry is in Chicago as a Memphis delegate to the Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

LONGEST PUNT.

Quick-kicking against Tulane for 85 yards, Joe Bob Mitchell holds Alabama Poly's record for the longest punt this season.

Jacket Leader Returns

Captain Bob (Lefty) Eubanks, right tackle, returns to the lineup tomorrow as Georgia Tech's Engineers battle Kentucky in the first big test of the season at Lexington. Eubanks missed the Sewanee game because of a knee injury. But he is ready to lead the Gold and White into battle against the favored Kentuckians.

Williamson Rating Gives Tech a Tie With Kentucky

Georgia Tech is conceded a possible tie with Kentucky, according to the Williamson scientific rating and prediction table. Tech has a higher rating in the table than does Kentucky. So the prediction is reversed against the rating.

Georgia will win outright over Furman, according to the system, which is proving very accurate indeed. Williamson has averaged better than 90 per cent in picking winners in all sections of the country to date.

Below are the ratings and predictions of the Williamson system for all of the major football games in all sections.

Explanation: (Figure after each team taken from current Williamson football rating table. Ratings based on 100 for the "perfect team.") x-Friday afternoon; y-Friday night; z-Saturday night. In "Prediction" column: 1, means win for No. 1 team; 2, means win for No. 2 team; T, means possible tie game; R, means reversed prediction against Williamson ratings. No. 1 team plays "at home."

Dorothy Kirby Sets New Record at East Lake

POSTS 78 SCORE TO BEAT CHAMP IN SEMI-FINALS

Meets Mrs. Butler Today for Woman's Golf Title.

By Roy White.

Dorothy Kirby set a new record on the No. 2 East Lake course Thursday morning in eliminating Mrs. S. H. Lippitt, of Albany, in the semi-final round of the annual Georgia women's championship golf tournament. Miss Kirby carded a 36-42-75 and defeated Mrs. Lippitt, the defending champion, 8-7.

In the other semi-final match Mrs. Guy Butler, Atlanta's woman champion, defeated Miss Martha Daniel, of Rome, on the 19th green.

Miss Kirby meets Mrs. Butler at 9:40 o'clock this morning in the final.

Dorothy won the championship two years ago on the No. 1 East Lake course, while Mrs. Butler, a runner up last year, is seeking her first state title, to go with her several city and invitation championships.

WOMEN'S RECORD.

Dorothy's 36 for the first nine was the lowest nine-hole score ever recorded by a woman on either of the East Lake courses, and her 42 on the back nine was good enough to set a new No. 2 course record. Joyce Wethered holds the course record for No. 1 with a 74, carded in an exhibition match this summer.

In her record-setting round the young Atlantian started off with a birdie on the 430-yard par five first hole. She went one over par on the fourth when a short putt failed to drop, and played the other seven holes in perfect figures.

And with Dorothy equaling men's par on the first nine, Mrs. Lippitt had little or no chance of remaining in the running. The defending champion was seven down at the turn. Dorothy went one over par on the first three holes on the back nine and after closing out the match on the 11th Mrs. Oliver Healey finished the round so that Dorothy's score could be made official.

MRS. BUTLER WINS.
Mrs. Butler had a tough match with Miss Daniel. The Atlanta champion won the first two holes, but Miss Daniel won the third and fourth to square the match and from then on it was first one and then the other in the lead.

Mrs. Butler won the 18th hole to square the match and won on the 19th as Miss Daniel three-putted. Dorothy and Mrs. Butler will renew an old battle today. Miss Kirby having won the last meeting between the two on the 18th green last year in the Maier & Berke tournament at Piedmont park.

Dorothy's card:
Far out . . . 443-344-435-36
Kirby out . . . 443-344-435-36
Far in . . . 444-334-354-36-75
Kirby in . . . 555-344-355-42-38-78

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Dorothy Kirby beat Mrs. S. H. Lippitt, Albany, 8-7.

Mrs. Guy Butler beat Miss Martha Daniel, Rome, 10-9 holes.

CONSOLATION FLIGHT.

Mrs. Oliver Healey won from Mrs. H. B. Kibben, 10-9 holes.

Mrs. Ben Barrow beat Mrs. Jimmy Burns, 4-3.

SECOND FLIGHT.

Mrs. I. M. Sheffield Jr. beat Mrs. George Reid, 1 up, 20 holes.

Miss Mary Warren beat Mrs. P. W. Crawford, 8-7.

CONSOLATION FLIGHT.

Mrs. R. N. R. Bardwell beat Mrs. W. D. Tulin, 3-2.

Mrs. J. L. Roe won from Mrs. O. W. Miller by default.

home-coming. Alumni from all Georgia are expected back.

The hand-shaking will recall the first home-coming at the university in 1922. An Atlanta doctor, Dr. Frank K. Boland, of the class of 1897, the father of the Georgia center and captain in 1929, Joe Boland, suggested the day.

He said that alumni could see more of the university in the fall than they could during commencement week. In 1924 the day became a fixed event.

Another feature of Saturday will be the unveiling of a memorial tablet to the Georgia lettermen of 1929. They were the ones who upset Yale, 15 to 0, as Sanford stadium was dedicated formally. Most of the lettermen will see the game with Furman.

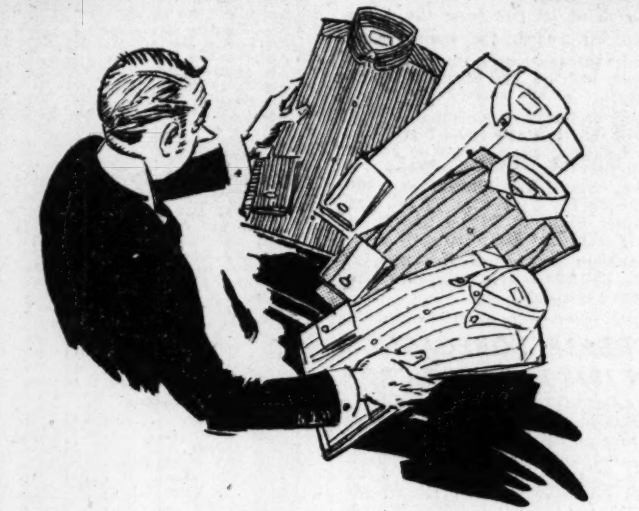

While the Bulldogs were practicing on old Sanford field this afternoon "Uncle Tom" Acker, the negro ground-keeper, was removing another hazard from the game of football. He was placing rubber yardline markers on the playing field.

The yellow on black markers will flip over if a player is thrown against them.

Wayne Bomberger defeated Hubert Burns recently at Alabama to win the all-campus tennis tournament, which was fostered by the intra-mural department. Bomberger defeated Burns, 6-4 and 7-5.

Avenues of Fashion with Esquire

Few of us will ever have the experience of being valeted by a Wodehouse "Jeeves" and so the selection of proper shirt and tie is something that must be left to our own devices. ESQUIRE verbally "lays out" a few well-selected shirt and tie combinations with suggestions as to their appropriateness. With all due modesty, we doubt if a Jeeves could do much better.

NEW KNOT

The most recent of smart collar styles is shown here. This wide-spread collar attached shirt requires a larger knot to fill the space. This combination of shirt and tie might be chosen for wear with a suit of herringbone or striped pattern, preferably of cheviot, shetland or flannel.

STARCHED IN STYLE

The wide-spread collar makes an admirable starched matching collar and the combination shown is excellent with the suitings of clear cut worsteds in diagonal, broken herringbone or sharkskin weaves.

KEEPING TABS

Tab collars combine all the comfort of unstarched collars with the pleasing neatness so much desired

COLORED TEAMS BATTLE TODAY

Atlanta's football season among the colored colleges will open this afternoon when Morehouse College meets the eleven from Benedict College, Columbia, S. C., on Ponce de Leon field at 4 o'clock.

A team of seasoned and experienced men will go into action to represent Morehouse. All but one of the men in the preliminary lineup are lettermen of last year. The tentative lineup is as follows: Young, r. e.; Haynes, l. e.; Dawson, l. t.; Dixon, r. t.; Johnson, l. e.; McFall (captain), r. e.; Marshall, c.; Myers, q. b.; McCutcheon, l. h.; Harding, r. h.; and Boswell, f. b.

The Benedict team arrived in Atlanta Thursday afternoon for 24 hours of rest and last-minute practice. The team is coached this year by two Morehouse men, Vernon C. Smith, a former Morehouse football captain and a graduate of the college in 1933, and Thelma (Dad) Crawford.

Officials for the game were announced yesterday as follows: E. J. Evers, Kendall, of the Springfield (Mass.) Y. M. C. A. College; umpire, Fowlkes, of Atlanta University; and head linesman, Howard Johnson, of Clark University.

Women Elect Mrs. Roy Burns

Mrs. Roy Burns, of Columbus, was elected president of the Georgia Women's Golf Association at the annual business meeting Thursday afternoon at East Lake.

Other new officers are Mrs. O. B. Keeler, vice president, and Mrs. Guy Butler, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Jimmy Burns is chairman of the nominating committee.

New directors of the association are Mrs. J. C. Wright, Atlanta; Mrs. Reginald Maxwell, Augusta; Mrs. Morton Bright, Albany; Mrs. H. L. Shannon, Douglas; Mrs. Albert Jones, LaGrange; Mrs. Mary Strachan, Savannah; Miss Martha Daniel, Rome; and Mrs. Ina Olsmith, Fort Benning.

Columbus was selected for the 1936 tournament and the first week in June was tentatively selected for the playing dates. Rome also issued an invitation for the 1936 tourney, but the members voted for Columbus, with Rome first on the list for 1937.

PETRELS READY FOR STETSONS

Oglethorpe gridmen will taper off with a light signal drill this afternoon in preparation for their home opening game with Brady Cowell's Stetson Hatters Saturday afternoon at Hernando field.

The Petrels are expected to enter the Stetson game in their best physical strength of the season. The Petrels Thursday concluded all heavy work for the Hatters.

Advance reports indicate that the Stetsons are bringing to Atlanta one of the best football teams the school has ever turned out. The invading eleven boasts a 200-pound line and a fast and shifty backfield.

The Petrels have played only one game this year, dropping a 27-0 affair to the College of the Ozarks last Friday night in a game which turned out to be a riot.

The game starts at 2:30.

RUNYAN LEADS AT LOUISVILLE

AUDUBON COUNTRY CLUB, LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., national P. G. A. champion, scored 67, four under par, to take the lead by one stroke over Victor Ghezzi, of Deal, N. J., after 18 holes of play in the $5,000 Louisville open golf tournament this afternoon.

Coming down the stretch in sensational style, Runyan holed a 160-yard approach shot for an eagle two on the 16th. He missed a two and a half foot putt on the final hole to miss tying the course record of 66.

Robert Surrey
Exclusive HART
SCHAFFNER & MARX Stylist

The perfect combination! Hart Schaffner & Marx leadership as tailors of fine clothes . . . plus the new and correct styles as reported by Robert Surrey, famous throughout the land for his authentic leadership in men's fashion. Exclusive in Atlanta with Zachry.

The "Studio"

A suit based on the new trend in sport clothes observed among well-dressed cinema stars. Note the new treatment of the yoke back, which permits the freedom formerly associated only with free-swing styles. Offered in long-wearing Blue Ridge Homespuns.

The "Continental"
$35

Smart double-breasted suit brought out by leading European tailors and now becoming a favorite with well-dressed men in this country. Higher waistline, buttons placed higher and wide shoulders are notable features. Finely tailored in Front Row Worsted, soft and flexible, yet developed to give maximum wear.

"Surrey Lounge"
$42.50

A single-breasted lounge suit, embodying the fine needle and soft drape that are distinguishing marks of the finest custom tailoring. The perfect suitings to bring out these custom style-points are Gordian Worsted, developed exclusively for Hart Schaffner & Marx.

Atlanta's School Savings System Praised as One of Best in Country

With about 50,000 students of the public schools of Atlanta being taught the rudiments of thrift through school savings accounts ranging from 5 cents up to $100, the Atlanta system is the best of its type in the United States and has given less trouble than any other similar organization in any other city, it was said here yesterday by J. Robert Stout, president of the Educational Thrift Service, of New York, who was here visiting the various school units.

is due to the close attention to details which has been given it by the teaching profession of the city and by the interest of the teachers in inculcating the spirit of thrift in the pupils," Stout said.

High praise also was bestowed by the executive on the officials of the Fulton National Bank, the official school depository, for the manner in which the accounts have been handled. The bank serves the school children, without remuneration in any form as a service to the city in building future citizens.

The accounts, Stout said, are handled by the students themselves under the direction of the teachers. A student is appointed to serve for a month in each class and acts as the receiving teller. He or she receives deposits from 5 cents up, enters the deposits in the record book and gives receipts. Thus, the children are taught the rudiments of banking as well as of thrift.

The school savings plan has been in operation in Atlanta for 23 years and the Fulton bank has been the depository the entire time. A half an hour each Tuesday is designated as banking time at the schools.

Mrs. Elizabeth Martin has been in charge of the school service at the Fulton bank for the last three years, serving under the supervision of G. C. Evans, the bank cashier.

The school children of Atlanta have on deposit approximately $225,000.

Mr. Evans said. The entire amount of deposits in the United States under the same system totals in the neighborhood of $40,000,000.

PRODUCTIONS PLANNED BY AVONDALE PLAYERS
Avondale Players, a new organization for residents of Avondale Estates interested in amateur theatricals, will form plans for the season at 8 o'clock Monday night in the Avondale community clubhouse.

Officers of the new organization include Mrs. Clayton L. Kolvoord, president; H. M. Van Devender, vice president; Mrs. E. L. Hornbrook, secretary; Mrs. T. R. Buel, treasurer; Mrs. Kolvoord, Mrs. Charles Levine and Mrs. J. S. Jervis form a temporary committee to select a director and a first play.

Widow Sues Railroad.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Eleanor M. Howe today filed suit for $15,000 damages against the Atlantic Coast Line Railway for the death of her husband, killed in a grade crossing accident at Green Cove Springs last April.
